"The Old North State"
FOR SALE!

The firm of HANES & BRUNER will expire by its own limitation on the 1st day of January next, and as Mr. BRUNER will not resume the publication of the Watchman the entire newspaper interest in Salisbury will be in my hands after that time.

Being satisfied with my experience in editorial life, and for other reasons, I offer for sale the Old North State, together with the type and material used in its publication previous to its Union with the Watchman. The type was purchased from the foundry in March, 1866, and is, therefore, nearly new.

To any one wishing to embark in such an enterprise an opportunity is now presented which may not offer again soon in North Carolina. Upon the return of prosperity Salisbury must necessarily be one of the most flourishing towns in the interior of the State and a single paper here in enterprising hands will certainly prove a profitable investment.

The circulation of the Old North State, in its two editions, Weekly and Tri-weekly is believed to be the largest of any paper west of Raleigh with a single exception. For particulars address the subscriber at this office.

LEWIS HANES.

November 24th, 1868.

COMING.—We were informed a day or two since, by a gentleman who was with the party for a short time, that Col. Dechert, of the Hagerstown (Md.) Mail, who visited this part of the State with a party of gentlemen a short time since, will reach this city on to-morrow or next day on his contemplated visit to the Western part of North Carolina. He will be accompanied by a number of gentlemen from Maryland and Pennsylvania who are prospecting with a view to the purchasing of land in this State and South Carolina, and we feel confident they will meet with a most cordial reception wherever they go. Those among us who have large and valuable tracts of land to dispose of, would do well to see Col. Dechert. We hope to announce the coming of many more such parties soon.

THE RALEIGH SENTINEL has been sold by Mr. Pell to the Hon. Josiah Turner, Jr., who will take charge of it on the 1st day of December. Mr. Pell has conducted the Sentinel for more than three years with much ability and success, and the fraternity will part with him with regret. We wish him, in his retirement, a degree of happiness which it was impossible for him to have enjoyed while engaged in the conflicts incident to the political arena.

We extend a cordial greeting to Mr. Turner, the incoming editor.

WHAT NEXT?—The notorious John Allen Ketchey notifies the world through the Greensboro Times that he has finally succeeded, after many years labor, in bringing to perfection the mystery of perpetual motion.

THE STAY LAW.—From the signal vote of the House of Representatives, on the proposition of Mr. Smith, of Martin, to repeal the Stay laws, in compliance with the recommendation of Gov. Holden, we conclude that said laws will be permitted to remain as they now stand. Whether the original passage of them was wise or not we do not think that they should be disturbed for the present.

MAJ. AVERY.—It will be seen by reference to the legislative proceedings, which we publish, that the Senate, on Friday, reconsidered its resolution postponing the consideration of Maj. Avery's case until the 10th of December, and finally determined the question of his eligibility against him. We think that every impartial man will be convinced, on reading the proceedings, that Maj. Avery is not banned by the Howard Amendment, and that he was excluded from his seat on partisan grounds merely. We regret to have to come to this conclusion, as we sincerely hoped that every thing like partizanship would be banished from the deliberations of this session of the General Assembly, and that it would devote itself wholly to the practical legislation demanded by the condition of the State and the wants of the people.

The EDINBURGH REVIEW for October has been received and presents, as usual, an inviting table of contents, as follows:

Mybel's History of the French Revolution, Senior on Ireland, Hindoo Fairy Legends, Kinglake's Invasion of the Crimea, Darwin on Variation of Animals and Plants, The Papacy and the French Empire, The Agr'l. Labourers of England, The Spanish Gypsy, The Expiring Parliament.

Address the Leonard Scott Publishing Company, 140 Fulton Street, New York.

GET ENNIS' ALMANAC.—Mr. James H. Ennis, the Book Merchant, has gone to heavy expense and labor to get up what is generally known as "Turner's N. C. Almanac," for the year 1869. It is now for sale at his store in this place, in Raleigh, and at many other places. We believe it is the most complete work of the kind ever offered to the N. C. public, comprising a great deal of valuable information independent of the matter usually given in Almanacs. We advise all to buy a copy. The tables it contains are worth many times the price at which it is sold. See advertisement in another column.
