

From the Chicago Times.
Gen. Grant's Attack on the Jews.
Aspects of Gen. Grant's alleged, intentional and unwarranted attack on our Jewish fellow citizens, I send you the following:
He called them Jews in utter scorn, As though it were a shame To trace their name and lineage back To a race of glorious fame.
A race of prophets, priests and kings;
A great and noble host, Whose glorious deeds can yet be traced, Though time itself were lost.
A race for whom the Red sea waves Were parted by their God, And Israel passed thro' its depths, Unharm'd and dry-shod.
A race for whom the sun stood still,
And parted Jordan's wave;
A race for whom we wonders wrought,
And Jews died to save.
Yet the blinded and senseless Grant Does Jews and racial class In the same list, which plainly show That Grant must be an ass.
Who needs not history's teachings, Who does his lessons slight,
And vilifies a noble race To glut his senseless spite; A spite which is as narrow As the mind which gave it birth, After which, in this language, Should wish to be earth.
But narrow minds like his must even Their native meanness show, And the great race he libeled has No answer to bestow.
I have to point him to the Bible, The prophet and the sage, Which show to him how great have been The Jews of every age.
E. B. HAINES.

Mr. V. yielded his rights to the cause of harmony. Mr. Pendleton, of Ohio, will go into the New York Convention with a greater number of, and more enthusiastic friends, than any other man. Everybody admits his high qualifications for the Presidential office. Independent in private fortune, he has turned his life for years past to account in studying the science of politics and government, and he stands before the country a ripe statesman, equal to the duties of the highest office of statesmanship. Added to this, his character as a man and a gentleman is lofty, unimpeachable and spotless.
If he could be elected, any even those who question the expediency of his nomination, he is all that the party could want and the country demand in a President of the United States.
But the outcry against Valandigham, ham, it is argued, would be raised in a lower key against Pendleton. The idea of this class of Democrats is that the Democratic candidate must go to the soldier vote with an unstrain-ed record, or Grant will win in such soldier States as Illinois and others in the West, which we cannot afford to lose. And what is a little singular, this class of Democrats look to the Southern influence in the Convention to settle the question of expediency and policy. The Southern stake in the result is so unspokenly great that these gentlemen believe the South in the Convention will decide the question with the maturest consideration, and under the gravest responsibilities of a sound judgment.
I submit the case for reduction to our people at home.
My own feeling about it needs no concealment. While I believe Pendleton is the trained statesman who would best fill the office, and while he is my first choice, the fact that the man, who has lately made his mark so friendly to freedom, as commander of the Fifth Military District, was the best fighting corps commander in the Federal army, would not cause me to hesitate one instant in giving him my most cordial support. So, too, of President Johnson, if occupying impeachment, and he should be eligible, and by chance the Democrats should nominate him. This is a great question, involving nothing less than the "deliverance and liberty" of ten States, and to be most carefully pondered.
From the Southern Home Journal.
AN OLD PICTURE RE-PRODUCED.
Gibbon, in his Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, after recounting the causes which led to the destruction of that mighty nation, says:
"The Senate, once the most grave, and stern, and just assembly that the world had ever seen, was now a timid, faithless and ignominious oligarchy; while—name whom so majestic and mighty!—the people—the great Roman people—was at a mob, a vile collection of Africans, Greeks, barbarians, enfranchised slaves, Syrians, liberated gladiators, made worse because their vices were not natural and their national legislators were personally corrupt and politically dishonest." It required more than a thousand years to bring the great Roman nation to the dust. Shall our nation—so recently so dear to its citizens who prided themselves justly in being Americans, so high-toned and majestic in the presence of the governments of the world, and so grand and irresistible in power—perish from the face of the earth in less than a century? The picture which the historian gives of the Roman legislature is justly applicable to ours. Where out of the membership of its ruling party can there be found men more personally corrupt, more politically dishonest? And the "barbarians" the "enfranchised slaves," the worst elements of the Roman population, are here today upon this class of the population, a class so universal in the lessons of freedom, accustomed to being governed in all the affairs of their lives, and unable from their very nature to learn the lessons of self-government, the Radical Congress are striving by all the means which their position affords to them—not hesitating to adopt the most ignominious, when necessary, to bestow the privileges of suffrage, for the purpose of placing in their hands the balance of power. And this will Congress—so-called—do that they may retain the government of this country in their own hands, although in doing it they place the enlightened white majority under the control of the ignorant and degraded negro minority.
Americans, shall this transparent design succeed? Shall civilization be governed by ignorance? Shall civilization yield to barbarism? Shall the vilest and most brutal passions rule, instead of the purest patriotism and the highest political wisdom guiding the destinies of our nation?
The issue is in your hands; and that issue is one which involves all things—enlightenment and degradation, salvation and destruction, life and death—yes, even pardon the strong language, but we feel it, and the wise will acknowledge the truth of the assertion—even heaven and hell.
Thomas Dale, convicted as principal in the murder of Laura Foster, was sentenced, last week, by Judge Mitchell, at Federal Superior Court, to be hanged on Friday, May 1st.
Mr. Wilson, an English gentleman connected with the Rock Island Manufacturing Company, has made a beautiful walking-cane of black walnut, elaborately carved, which is designed as a present for Gen. B. Lee.

Washington, April 20, P. M.—The Senate proceeded with impeachment at 11 o'clock.
The Managers are introducing documentary evidence.
Blodgett's indictment was offered, and Butler offered Blodgett's answer.
Evarts objected that Blodgett was not an officer here.
Butler proceeded to state orally what he intended to prove.
The Chief Justice ordered that it be reduced to writing, and Butler protested.
Chase persisted and Butler is now writing.
Impeachment.
WASHINGTON, April 20, P. M.—E. G.
Townsend has been appointed Agent of the Freedmen's Bureau of Virginia.
The close of impeachment is not expected before the middle of next week.
Stanbery is much better.
Impeachment CONTINUED.
The Senate refused to admit the Blodgett papers.
Butler, when appealing for Blodgett, said that he had never been able to get his case before the Senate. Justice should be done now. Blodgett was only Captain of a Rebel Militia company, and an unwilling Captain. Blodgett would swear. Blodgett was known in Augusta; he was elected by his neighbors to make a Constitution for Georgia—he was made Mayor of Augusta by Pope. Butler did not doubt, when Georgia was admitted, that Blodgett would take his seat here with the proudness of us.
Butler then offered the nominations of Sherman and Thomas to Brevet General-ships, claiming their admissibility under the 10th article.
The Senate refused—14 to 35.
Yess:—Messrs. Anthony, Cole, Fessen-den, Fowler, Grimes, Henderson, Norton, Rees, Sumner, Tipton, Trumbull, Van Winkle, Willey and Yates.
Both parties announced the evidence closed.
Chase ordered the Prosecutor to proceed with the argument. Boutwell, not being ready, asked adjournment to Tuesday.
The defense asked until Wednesday, in view of Stanbery's sickness. Boutwell, seconded the request, and, after hearing and rejecting an appeal from Logan to print his argument, the Court adjourned to Wednesday.
House.—The Senate appropriation for impeachment was considered.
Eldridge said that it was evident that ten thousand dollars would not defray the expenses of the impeachment trial, and he thought this was a mere blind. Why did not the committee come out boldly, and say that this was a mere bagatelle to operate on the public mind.
Washburne said if another appropriation was required, he would vote for it, and he believed it would be worth one hundred thousand dollars to pay the expenses.
Eldridge asked if he understood that the gentleman would give one hundred thousand dollars to make the impeachment trial a success.
Washburne had not said that, exactly, but that he meant was that if impeachment was a success, it would be worth one hundred thousand dollars, but one hundred millions of dollars to the country.
It granted security to person and property.
Eldridge said he suspected as much—that if this money was to be used to secure the success of impeachment, he would not vote a dollar for such a purpose.
Sergeant Bates in Baltimore.
Baltimore, April 20, P. M.—The Sergeant Bates festival was enthusiastic.
The ceremonies at the Washington Monument were beautiful.
Bates is lodged with presents from the ladies and citizens.
From Washington.
Washington, April 21, P. M.—Banks' bill, protecting naturalized citizens abroad, amended by allowing the President to withdraw commercial relations from offending nations, and exempting ambassadors, consuls and agents from persons whom the President may increase in retaliation, passed—99 to 5.
The pressure on uncommitted Senators is tremendous. It comes from all quarters, and the apprehensions of the President's friends are increasing.
The new Municipal officers of Alexandria qualified to-day. No negroes among them, but no known native Virginians.
North Carolina Elections.
Wilmington, April 21, P. M.—The election passed off to-day quietly. The approximate vote of the four Wards of the City, for the Constitution is 1,200, and against it 570.
The vote at Weldon was 294 for, and 37 against the Constitution.
Some negroes voted the Conservative ticket in Wilmington. The whites generally, will vote the second and third days, while the negroes make their greatest effort the first day.
Newbern, April 21, P. M.—The vote of the city, to-day, for the Constitution was 1,250; against it 200. The negro strength is polled. There was no disturbance.
At Metchen City the Republicans are only 18 ahead.
CONGRESS.
Washington, April 21, P. M.—In the House, Mr. Robinson offered a resolution, recalling the managers and abandoning the impeachment.
The Speaker declared that it was a question of privilege, but under the ruling of the House it could refuse to consider even a question of privilege. The House refused to entertain the resolutions by a strict party vote.
The Post Office Committee was directed to inquire into the expediency of the government's securing the Central telegraph lines.
An amendment to the Bankrupt law, extending the time to January 1869, for such as cannot pay fifty per cent. passed.

From Washington.
Washington, April 21, P. M.—The Secretary of the Treasury reported that the amount realized from the Confederate property abroad was $144,000, at an expense of $90,000.
The sources from which the amounts were recovered were the Shenandoah, Sumpter, Tallahassee and Confederate Agent R. P. Walker.
Mr. Stanbery is much better.
There was a full Cabinet to-day.
The President sent several routine messages to the House.
McClulloch's report states that the Archives of the Confederate Government show that many millions were received and disbursed by Colin McRae, in Confederate loans in Europe. Suits are instituted to reach any balance in his hands; at the extinction of the Confederacy.
Georgia Elections.
Augusta, April 21, P. M.—The election is progressing without serious disturbances. The blacks remain about the polls, electing for the Radical ticket.— The democratic vote was large to-day, but the Radicals will carry the county.— The military is stationed at the polls, to preserve order.
Columbus, April 21, P. M.—Everything is quiet. The Radicals are desperate and tricky. There were 798 votes polled today, mostly negroes. Many of them were for the democratic ticket.
The democrats are in high spirits.— Couriers from several of the surrounding counties bring in the most cheering news.
Markets.
New York, April 21, P. M.—Cotton shade lower. Sales of 700 bales at 31.
Gold 139 1/2.
Baltimore, April 21, P. M.—Cotton quiet and firm at 31. Flour firm and active; full prices.
Liverpool, April 21, P. M.—Cotton dull —declined 1-16. Uplands 12 1/2. Orleans 12 1/2. Sales 10,000.
Speaking of the impeachment managers, the Broad Table says: "Of the several men to whom has been entrusted the conduct of one of the most momentous events in the life of the nation, there are but two whose appearance conveys assurance that they are gentlemen."

THE TRI-WEEKLY
OLD NORTH STATE,
AND THE WEEKLY
WATCHMAN & Old North State,
FOR 1868.
THE WATCHMAN & OLD NORTH STATE having been consolidated in the hands of the undersigned, and the papers being separated publications, hereafter there will be but one paper published in Salisbury, which will be called Tri-Weekly & Weekly, under the above names. In consequence of the consolidation referred to, this paper will have the Largest Circulation
OF ANY PAPER IN
Western North Carolina, AND WILL AFFORD THE Best Advertising Medium to be met with in that part of the State.
The Editorial Department will be under the management of Mr. HANES, late Editor and Proprietor of the Old North State, and no pains will be spared to make it equal to any, if not the best paper of its class in the State.
In the politics of the paper there will be no change; it will continue to be a dignified and Conservative Journal, but it will not be devoted exclusively to politics. It will also be devoted to the material interests of the State, and to Literary and Scientific Reading, Domestic Economy, &c.
Offering such testimonials, we confidently appeal to the public for a liberal share of its patronage both by subscription and advertisements.
