SUPERIOR COURT.—The Jury in the case of the State vs. Blackwelder, indicted for the murder of his wife, in the county of Cabarrus, at a late hour last night brought in a verdict of Guilty.

This morning, the counsel for the defence moved for a new trial and a renewal de novo, which motion was overruled by the Court.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL CELEBRATION, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, came off to-day. The children, teachers and friends of the schools connected with the Methodist, Presbyterian and Lutheran Churches assembled at the Presbyterian Church at 9 o'clock, formed in procession and preceded by the famous Salisbury Brass Band, marched through the principal streets to the beautiful grove west of the city, where a rich and bountiful collation was spread, and to which ample justice was done by all present.

After dinner was over, the procession returned through the city to the Methodist church, where, after appropriate services the multitude was dismissed with the benediction by the Rev. Mr. Rumble of the Presbyterian church. The whole proceedings passed off most pleasantly.

CATAWBA MARBLE WORKS.—We have been shown, by Messrs. Steele & Snuggs, who have formed a partnership for the purpose of working the marble quarry at Jno. Shuford's, in Catawba county, some specimens of marble from said quarry, which we think are quite equal to any we have ever seen.

THE ARCTIC SODA FOUNTAIN.—Passing down street to-day, we were invited to take a glass at the Arctic Soda Fountain, and found it equal if not superior to any Soda Water we ever drank.

NEW PAPER.—We have received the first number of a new paper, called the Henderson Pioneer, edited by the Hon. A. H. Jones. It is handsomely printed, ably edited, and we wish it much success.

A Yankee Trade.—A certain farmer, who in the course of the year purchased several dollars' worth of goods and always paid for them, called at a store of a village merchant—his regular place of dealing, with two dozen brooms, which he offered for sale.

Real Estate for Sale.—By an order of the County Court of Rowan, issued at May Term, 1866, I will sell on Saturday 16th day of June next, the lot on which the late John Correll lived, known as lot No. 21, in the South Ward of the town of Salisbury.

Cyrus, you are crazy," replied John. "Why, see here," showing a fine lot of brooms, "is an article a great deal better than yours—which was true—which I am retelling at twelve and a half cents apiece," [which was not true by seven and a half cents.]

"Don't care for that," answered Cyrus; "your brooms are cheap enough, but you can't have mine for less than twenty cents, anyhow," and pretending to be more than half angry, shouldered his brooms and started for the door.

The merchant, getting nervous over the loss of a good customer, and fearing that he might go to another store and never return, said:

"See here, Cyrus, hold on awhile. If I give you twenty cents for your brooms, you will not object to take the price of them out in goods?"

"No, I don't care if I do," replied Cyrus. "Well, as you are an old customer, I will allow you twenty cents apiece for this lot. Let me see—twenty-four times twenty makes just four hundred and eighty cents. What kind of goods will you have Cyrus?"

"Well now, John, reckon it don't make any difference to you what sort of goods I take, does it?"

"O, no, not at all—not at all," said the merchant.

"Well, then, as it don't make any difference, I will take the amount in them brooms of yours, at twelve and a half cents apiece. Let me see, four dollars and eighty cents will get thirty brooms and ten cents over; don't make much difference, John, about the ten cents, but as you are a right clever fellow, I believe I'll take the change in tobacco."

When Cyrus went out of the door with his brooms and "tobacco," John was seized with a serious breaking out at the mouth, during which time he was distinctly heard to violate the third commandment several times by the bystanders, who all enjoyed the joke.
