Paris, Oct. 18 Interesting Chemical Discourry,-A singular and highly important discovery has recently been made by Mesers. Capron and Boniface, chemists; at Cheillot. By a process, which they keep secret, and to which they have given the name of " Monification," they have succeeded, after passing a number of years in experiments, in so modifying and perfect-ing the known processes of preserving bodies as to reduce them to mummies, leaving all the forms unaltered. All the elements of disorganization which show themselves in the human body so soon after death are completely do-stroyed, and not only the external boy, but all the viscera, the lungs, the heart, the liver, and even the brain, are perfectly preserved; the features also remain so perfectly uninjured, that correct portraits may be taken at my length of time after death, and, as the body is not enveloped in bandages as in the Egyptian method, the natural forms are perfectly preserved. The operation requires but a very few days, after which the dead bodies may be preserved in a room or a vault, or interred in the ordinary way, without being accessable to worms. They may also be exposed to all the variations of the air, either in a standing or sitting position, without undergoing any alteration. The inventors do not intend to make their propers public, but it may be adopted even by those who reside at a considerable distance from Paris, as a body placed in a leaden coffin or bathing tub, and completely surrounded by ice, may be cept uninjured for twenty days, and the operation may still be performed. At the last meeting of the Academie des Sciences, a human body, and also two hearts preserved in this man-ner, were exhibited, and the process appeared perfect; the discoloured state of the skin occasioned by the sear of an old wound was even fully perceptible, and, although these pre-parations had been completed several weeks, not the slightest approach to chauge of any kind was observable.

A Lawyer in trouble - The Boston Atlas, of Friday last has the following: -"By an act of the Legislature of the State, passed March 19th, 1831, all persons are exempted from imprisonnent for sums less than ten dollars. A lawyer in the town of Modway, namad Warren Lovering, had two de mands of five dollars each against a man in that town which were left with him for collection by different individnales With a view to enable him to proceed summarily in the case, he endorsed one of the notes over to the other, brought his action against the debtor for ten dollars, and threw him into jail. The debtor becoming acto effect his imprisonment, immediately commenced a suit against Lovering, and at the late session of the Court in Norfolk County, obtained a verdict of four hundred and fifty dollars dama

Fire at Key West.—Capt. Holdridge, of the ship Gen. Williams, at N. Orleans, from Key West, states that a fire broke out in the house of Capt. The loss is estimated at $50,000.

25 Dollars Reward.

The shore reward of twenty-five dollars will be given to any person who will approhend soil medium my Negro Boy TOM in jail, no that I get him again. Said Tom run away from me main time in August last. He is about 27 years of age, and five test 2 or 3 inches high, tlark completed, and free spoken. He had on when he left a blue cloth neat, and in old white wool sat, and other clothes not recollected. He has had three of his lingues on his right band out off. I purchased him from Mr. James Dures, who says he bought him of a Mr. Bishop in Halifax county, S. C. It is probable said Boy is lurge about there.

As Phithias Palasonalis or Communition of the Langs has been couplestically styled an opprobrian medicorom, and as it has for its statum all signs and series, and a large portion of the young and beautiful, it becomes the permanent duty of every homeon physician, to contribute in any way he can, towards arresting in its march this terrible disease. With an eye to this purpose, I have stremmusly recommended, and do still recognized the Liverwort, particularly Carpenter's Compound Syrup, which I consider the most valuable mode it can be exhibited, being a someoutrated perparation of the fresh plant. the most valuable mode it can be exhibited, being a concentrated preparation of the fresh plant, with valuable expectorant medicines, selected as adjuvants, and although I have never recommended it as a quelicine indiscriminately adapted to all eases, yet I am fully persuaded that it has done more aggod service than any other single remedy, so far as experiments with it have been made, or according to the extent it has acquired the public confidence; but we are too apt to appreciate highly, or invest with little consequence, things which have the external appearance of simplicity; while those which are reward in according to shore any sterious characwrapt in scoresy, or have a mysterious charac-ter, withyre, taxonate and impies as with some.
