PROPOSALS

For publishing at Chapel Hill, the Village of the University of North Carolina, A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER, TO BE CALLED THE HARBINGER.

To be pulltaked by L. C. PATRIDGE, under the special superfision of the Professor of the University.

PROSPECTUS.

The plan has been already communicated to a number of gentlensen in different parts of the state, and the publisher has been encouraged to the prosecution of it. by letters, not of approbation only, but of urgency. Some of the principal objects will be, to diffuse literary information with correct taste, to press the importance of popular and academic education, and explain their best methods; discreetly, but with as indetheir best methods; discreefly, but with a little-pendent freedom of stricture, to discuss subjects on which it is important to enlighten the public mind; to publish events and circumstatives oc-curring among ourseless, that deserve active; to exhibit science to popular forms that will solicit curiosity, and he generally melligible; to pro-mote the cause of internal improvement; and to give a apropetent portion of the political and religious intelligence of the time, with a studious exclusion of all that is of a party character.

If we have not misapprehended public senti-ment, an opinion has long existed, at least in many parts of our State, that a publication of this nature was properly to be expected from the site of its University, the express purpose of practicable knowledge, as it is already treasured p, and is constantly increasing with the pro-

It is a common complaint with the publisher of periodical works, that poneticality in remit-tance is less apt to be consulted in this than in this most other species of business. The one now proposed, will be wholly without profit to any one, except the necessary remuneration to the mechanical execution of the work. A periodical paper in all its imovements must by the very terms run against time, and every experienced and reflecting man knows the truth expressed by Doctor Johnson, that he who enters the lists with time for his notagonist, must toil with dillgenee not to find himself heaten. Every one who inverse the Harbinger with his patronage, we hope will do it with presence of mind to the importance of fidelity in his remittance. On this the establishment must depend for its support.

The publisher would not enlarge on the qua The publisher would not enlarge on the qualities of the proposed periodical, even to excite in the bosoms of his tellow chizens a disposition to give it countenance and support, lest while consulting that object, he might seem to expose himself to the charge of making vain promises, or raise expectations too high to be fulfilled. But that a paper of such a character as has purhaps been already imagined in the mind of his readers is desirable in our state, he cannot but think for

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S Compound Syrup of Liverwort. HEPATICA TRILOBA.

This plant has proved to be a safe and valua-ble medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints. Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases, are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solution; which, although sometimes coholic solution; which, although sometimes giving temporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the dis-case and reduce the strength of the patient. This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus over-eoming the disease, by promoting expectoration and gradually increasing the strength of the pa-tient, and this without being attended with any unpleasant effect; it also agrees with the stomach in all cases, and is a pleasant and agreeable medicine to take.

It has generally been administered in the form of tea or decoction; this has most frequently of tea or decoction; this has most frequently been improperly made by those unacquaisted with pharmaceutical preparations, and has brought this medicine into disrepute, preventing its application in many cases, where it would otherwise have proved highly useful & beneficial. To guard against these inconveniences, and to bring before the public a concentrated preparation of this valuable article of uniform strength, George W. Carpenter is pleased to approunce George W. Carpenter is pleased to ann the preparation of Compound Syrup of Liver-wort, which will obviate all the disadvantages above described. This preparation is as active as it can be made from the tresh plant, and the virtues considerably improved by the tonic and ex-pectorant medicines which have been selected 21 adjuvants.

From the National Intelligeneer. As Phthisis Pulmonalis or Consumption of the Lungs has been emphatically styled an opprobridicorum, and as it has for its victims all ages and sexes, and a large portion of the young and beautiful, it becomes the permanent duty of overy humane physician, to contribute in any way he can, towards arresting in its march this terrible disease. With an eye to this purpose, I have strenuously recommended, and do still recommend the Liverwort, particularly Carpenter's Compound Syrup, which I consider the most valuable mode it can be exhibited, being a concentrated prenaration of the feeth plant. the most valuable mode it can be exhibited, being a concentrated preparation of the fresh plant, with valuable expectorant medicines, selected as adjuvants, and although I have never recommended it as a medicine indiscriminately adapted to all cases, yet I am fully persuaded that it has done more signal service than any other single ramedy, so far as experiments with it have been made, of secording to the extent it has acquired the public confidence; but we are too apt to appreciate lightly, or levest with little consequence, things which have the external appearance of simplicity; while those which are enwrapt in secresy, or have a my sterious characwrapt in secresy, or have a mysterious charac-ter, affure, fascinate and inspire us with confi T. Pittsborough Academy.

The exercises of the Pittsborough Academy will be resumed on the third Monday of this month. The course of instruction pursued in this institution is such as to embrace within its range a due regard to the wants of every denor nation of pupils, being so arranged as to exclude none who are desirous of receiving introction. Parents desirous of having their children prepar-ed for the University of North Carolina, can have them qualified for entering either the Junior, Shphomore or Freshman Class. Exclusive of the Greek and Latin Classies, the French language is also taught, and the various branches of English education, including both the elementary and higher branches of the Mathematics. The terms for a session of five months is $16 50; and no deduction will be made from this sum on account of a difference in the ages or studies of

There are many circumstances which conspire to render this an eminently desirable institution-being located in the heart of a highly moral and being located in the heart or a nightly moral and intelligent society, and in a region enjoying all the advantages resulting from elevated attastion, pure water, and a salubrious atmosphere. Board can be obtained either in the family of the Prin-cipal or in private families of high respectability, on moderate terms; and parents may rest as-sured that the attention of the Principal to the manners and morals of the pupils committed to bis care, will prove unremitting in its character.
