OFFICE HOLDERS' SONG.

Tune, "Hail Columbia."

Hail Columbia's happy clime,
Once for Jackson, now for Van:
Who fought and conquered in the cause,
Who fought and conquered in the cause;
And when the storm of war is gone,
Enjoy the "spoils" your valor's won.
Let Independence be your boast,
And never think of what it cost—
Ever grateful for the prize,
So your purse is on the rise.
Firm united you must be
Rallying round "the mercury,"
As a band of brothers joined;
Loaves and fishes you shall find.

Sound, oh sound the trump of fame,
Let the great son of Kinderhook's name
Ring through the land with loud applause,
Ring through the land with loud applause;
Let every clime to magic dear
Listen with a joyful ear.
With priestly skill, with Jackson's power,
He governs in the trying hour
Of White-whig war, on guides with ease
Tecumseh's revels round the cheese.
Firm united, &c.

Behold the chief who now "commands,"
No more to serve the party stands,
A wall for pelting storm to brat,
A wall for pelting storm to beat.
But armed in purpose firm and true
He trusts the cause to Van and you.
When hope was sinking in dismay
And gloom obscured Van Buren's day
This conq'ring lord of favors free,
Swore Van should gain the victory.
Firm united, &c.

Then says the chief—"My little Van,"
You know my time draws to a span;
A well tried friend I've found in thee;
A well tried friend I've found in thee
But bowed by years, and sick with rage,
I must retire to the "Hermitage."
Of all the friends I leave behind,
Thou art the man most to my mind;
Nor did I think it was a sin
To hint the same to Parson Gwynn.
Firm united, &c.

"Then if your friendship I have won,
Finish the works that I've begun;
Nick Biddle's bank must never rise,
Nick Biddle's bank must never rise;
'Tis true I've knocked it in the head,
But still I fear it's not quite dead.
Just one word more before we part,
A thing you know I've much at heart—
Go straight to work, it's worth a crown
Put them d—d Null fiers down"
Firm united, &c.

A married couple in Maine sued mutually, a short time since, for divorce. One of the grounds on which the husband prayed for a separation was that his wife smoked—that she smoked day and night, and further that she smoked before marriage, but concealed the habit from him until after their union. The wife, on her side, put in a cross plea, that the husband chewed tobacco, and not only chewed tobacco, but ate onions. Causes of dissatisfaction so strong, added to divers others mutually alleged and proven, were deemed sufficient by the court, and the disgusted couple were allowed to separate and enjoy apart their delectable propensities.

Beef and Pork for the year 1836.

NAVY COMMISSIONER'S OFFICE,
18th July, 1835.

Sealed offers, endorsed "offers for Beef and Pork for the year 1836," will be received at this office until three o'clock, P. M. of the thirty-first of August next, for furnishing and delivering four thousand five hundred barrels of Navy Beef, and four thousand five hundred barrels of Navy Pork. Fifteen hundred barrels of the Beef, and fifteen hundred barrels of the Pork to be delivered at each of the Navy Yards, Charlestown, Massachusetts, Brooklyn, New York, and Gosport, Virginia, respectively.

The deliveries to be made and completed between the 1st day of January and the 15th day of May, 1836, and no extension of time beyond the latter period will be granted for the final completion of the respective contracts.

The Beef must be packed from well fatted cattle, weighing not less than 600 pounds nett weight. All the legs and leg rounds of the hind quarters, and the clods neck, or sticking pieces, shins, and cheeks of the fore quarters must be wholly excluded from the barrel, and the remainder of the carcass must be cut in pieces of not less than eight pounds each, and each barrel must contain 200 pounds nett weight of Beef.

The Pork must be corn fed and well fattened. All the skulls, feet, and hind legs entire, must be excluded from the barrel, and the remainder of the hog must be cut in pieces, weighing not less than six pounds each; not more than three shoulder pieces and one jowl and a half shall be allowed to a barrel, and each barrel must contain 200 pounds nett weight of Pork.

The whole quantity of the said Beef and Pork must be slaughtered between the dates of the acceptance of the respective offers and the periods of delivery; must be thoroughly salted or struck with the best quality clean, coarse, Turks Island, Isle of May, or St. Ubes salt, and no other, and after remaining a sufficient time for the salt to penetrate the meat in a most thorough manner, it is to be packed with a sufficient quantity of the same quality of salt, and five ounces of pure saltpetre, pulverized; the salt used in the striking must be carefully separated from the pieces, and the pieces must be drained or placed on inclined boards, and suffered to remain in that state for some time before the pieces are put in the barrel.

The barrels must be made of the best seasoned heart of white oak, free from sap wood, and the staves must be at least three-fourths of an inch thick, and not more than four inches wide; they must be fully and substantially hooped and nailed, and an iron hoop at least one inch in width must be put upon each chine, for additional security against leakage, by and at the expense of the respective contractors. Each barrel must be branded on its head "Navy Beef" or "Navy Pork," as the case may be, with the "Contractor's name," and the "year when packed"

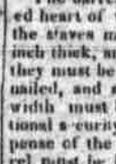
The Beef and Pork will be inspected by "sworn inspectors of salt provisions," who will be selected by the respective commanding officers; but their charges for such inspections must be paid by the respective contractors, who must likewise have the barrels put in good shipping order, to the satisfaction of the Commandants of the respective yards, after the inspections, and at their own expense.

Bidders must specify their prices separately and distinctly in separate offers for the Beef and for the Pork, and for each of the places of delivery, covering all their expenses and charges, the names and residences of the sureties offered must be specified; and sufficient and competent evidence of the willingness of the individuals named to become sureties, and of their responsibility as such, must be furnished and must accompany the respective offers.

Bonds in one-third the amount of the respective contracts will be required, and ten per centum in addition will be withheld from the amount of each payment to be made, as collateral security for the due and faithful performance of the respective contracts; which will, on no account, be paid, until the contracts are complied with in all respects.

The parts of the Beef to be excluded from the barrel, are particularly designated in the engravings to be attached to the contracts. Persons interested, who have not heretofore seen the engravings, can obtain them, on application at this office. 32 5w

$100 REWARD.



Runaway from the plantation of the subscriber in Twiggs county, on the 14th instant, two Negro fellows—named

JERRY and MOSE.

Jerry is about 23 years of age, of common size, inclined to yellow complexion, of soft tone of voice in speaking, upon examination he will be found to be ruptured on the right side—he was raised in the neighborhood of Baltimore, and has been heard to say, that he would make for that city and Philadelphia.

Mose is about 22 years of age, ordinary size, remarkably well formed, and very black complexion, he was raised in Wilkinson county, but is supposed to be under the direction of Jerry.—The above reward will be given for the apprehension of both these negroes, or for Jerry alone, as I believe Mose is entirely under his influence. Fuel and candles, at cost, and 5 per cent. commission, estimated at	20

Total, exclusive of clothes, books, and pocket money,	$218

The allowance for clothes is not permitted by the enactments to exceed 100 dollars, nor that for pocket money 40 dollars.

In addition to the above fees, there is in the School of Law, an extra fee of 20 dollars, payable by those Students who attended the Senior Class.

The FACULTY is composed of the following Professors:

1. Of Ancient Languages—DR. GESSNER HARRISON
2. Modern Languages—DR. GEORGE BLETTERMANN.
3. Mathematics—CHARLES BONNYCASTLE.
4. Natural Philosophy——————*
5. Chemistry and Materia Medica—DR. J. P. EMMET.
6. Medicine—DR. A. T. MAGILL.
7. Anatomy and Surgery—DR. A. L. WARNER.
8. Moral Philosophy—GEORGE TUCKER.
9. Law—J. A. G. DAVIS.

The joint officers of Proctor and Patron, are held by W. G. PENDLETON.

In each School there are three regular Lectures a week; besides which, there are in most of them extra lectures, suited to the several classes into which the school is divided. The subjects taught in each school, are as follows:

1. Ancient Languages. In this School are taught the Latin and Greek Languages and Literature, and the Hebrew Language.

2. Modern Languages. The French, Spanish, Italian, German and Anglo-Saxon, are the Languages taught in this school.

3. Mathematics. The subjects taught in this department are, Pure and Mixed Mathematics, and Civil Engineering.

4 Natural Philosophy. In this school all the usual branches of the subject are taught, and illustrated with the assistance of an extensive apparatus.

5 Chemistry. In the lectures to the Chemical Class, the applications of the science are noticed. An extensive laboratory is attached to the department.

[For the Medical Department, see below.]

8 Moral Philosophy. In this school are also included courses of Belles Letters and Political Economy.

9. Law. Besides Municipal Law, in all its branches, there are here taught the Law of Nations, the Science of Government, and Constitutional Law.

Private arrangements are made from session to session, by the Officers and Students of the University, for the due performance of public worship, and the attendance of a minister. A distinguished minister of the Baptist Church is expected to officiate during the next session.

To be admitted into this institution, the Student must be sixteen years of age; but the Faculty may dispense with this requisition in favor of one whose brother is a Student.

Every Student is free to attend the schools of his choice; but if under twenty-one, he shall attend at least three professors, unless he has the written authority of his parent or guardian, or the Faculty shall for good cause shown allow him, to attend less than three.

Every Student must, on matriculating, deposit with the Patron all the money, drafts, &c. in his possession; and the amount must be at least sufficient to pay his fees, rent, &c. and three months' board. All funds subsequently received by him, must be also deposited with the Patron, who has charge of his disbursements.

Students are required to wear a uniform dress prescribed by the enactments; consisting of cloth of a dark grey mixture, at a price not exceeding six dollars a yard.

The Faculty are authorised to allow any man of good moral character, above the age of twenty-three, to attend the Lectures in any of the schools of the University, and to reside out of the precints, exempt from the regulations prescribed for the government of the Students, except only those which enjoin respectful and orderly deportment.

Notes of the Bank of the United States, and of the Banks chartered by the State of Virginia, or bank drafts upon either of the Banks in the city of Richmond, can alone be received on deposite by the Patron.

* The chair of Natural Philosophy vacated by the resignation of Dr. R. M. Patterson, will be certainly filled by the commencement of the session.

Medical Department.

The Medical Lectures in this institution will commence on the 1st day of September, and terminate on the 4th of July.

John P. Emmet, M. D. Professor of Chemistry and Materia Medica.

Alfred T. Magill, M. D. Professor of Theory and practice of Medicine, Midwifery, and Medical Jurisprudence.

Augustus L. Warner, M. D. Professor of Physiology, Anatomy and Surgery.

This school possesses the great advantage of having a session of more than ten months, which enables half the usual number of Professors in Medical schools, to perform the duties of the department, by which the aggregate of Professors' fees is very much diminished. A still greater benefit resulting from the length of the session, and one which can only be appreciated by those who have been obliged elsewhere, to attend six lectures a day, is, that the studies are conducted so gradually that the Student, instead of being hurried over the ground he is to travel, with a rapidity inconsistent with profound study, is enabled to investigate thoroughly each subject as it is presented to his mind.

The school of Anatomy and Surgery is liberally supplied with subjects for dissection, and there is attached to it a large Anatomical Museum.

A course of Lectures in this Institution, is received as equivalent to a course in either the Philadelphia, Baltimore or Transylvania schools; so that a Student who has attended a full course of lectures here, is entitled to stand for graduation after one session's attendance, in either of the above named Institutions.

J. A. G. DAVIS,
Chairman of the Faculty.

ROWAND'S TONIC MIXTURE;
Or, Vegetable Febrifuge,
A specific and lasting Cure for the Fever and Ague.

This worthy remedy earnestly repels the slur of being a quack medicine, it having been the result of many years' study, experience, and labour, in the medical practice and observation of Fever and Ague. It is composed of such medicinal principles as were considered most fit to restore the harmony of action between the Stomach, Liver, and the other important functions of the system, the loss of which harmony is evidently the immediate cause of the disease. It speedily promotes a regular and healthy appetite, which is generally entirely destroyed or rendered very precarious; by which effect, vigour and strength is soon afforded to the whole system. It must be apparent to all, that a medicine possessing these peculiar virtues, is useful in a great variety of complaints. By renewing the healthy action of the digestive organs, it has proved itself of remarkable benefit in Dyspepsia, Depraved Appetite, Heart-burn, Water Brash, Flatulency, Jaundice, Night Sweats, Dysentery, Bowel Complaints, and many other affections of similar origin. But it is in the treatment of Fevers, and especially in Fever and Ague, or Intermittent Fever, that its powers have been principally tested, and with those who have seen its usefulness, it is pronounced sovereign to all remedies heretofore discovered for those diseases. It has also been used as a preventive, by many who were subject to a periodical recurrence of the Chills and Fever, and it has always warded off the apprehended attack.

The above medicine can be had, wholesale or retail, at the Drug Store of WILLIAMS, HAYWOOD & Co. Agents.

It consists, in part, of the following: Stock of cattle and hogs; two yokes of young oxen and carts; an excellent road wagon, a sulkey and new harness; two or three head of horses; four cotton gins, two of which are nearly new; a first rate set of blacksmiths' tools; my crop of corn and cotton as it stands in the field; 25,000 lbs bacon; potatoes; oats; wheat, &c.; all of my plantation utensils, of every description, which are valuable; a first rate straw cutter, on the latest and most improved plan; my household, which is too tedious to mention. It consists, however, of walnut & mahogany. There are, among the furniture, 10 or 12 tables, & as many excellent bedsteads; a side board; desks, and a first rate piano forte; 4 dozen sitting chairs, together with numerous other articles too tedious to mention. I will give a credit of six months, by receiving bond with approved security. The sale will continue from day to day, till all is disposed of.
