

'Twas thue the latest Minstrel sung.'

SONG.

Give me an eye, a swimming eye, To meet my ardent glances-A sunny eye to gaze upon When pleasure in it dances Give me an eye to mingle hears When mirth and joy have bound me; Give me an eye to mingle tears
When sorrow's clouds are round me.

Give me a cheek, a soft, soft cheek, Warm roses blushing o'er it, So bright, so pure, so angel like, Pierre sinless to adore it. Give me a cheek to press to mine With that caim, holy feeling, That fulls the soul as music does, When o'er the senses stealing.

Give me a lip, a balmy lip, Sweet smiles around it wreathing-A dewy lip, carnetion like, Of love and fondness breathing. Give me a lip to kiss when all, Or few, or none catess me-A full red lip to dream upon, A scraph lip to bless me.

Give me a hand, a snow white hand,

To tremble when I press it-A friev hand to hold in mine, A little hand to bless it. Give me a hand to kiss and breathe O'er it my soul's devotion -A land to hold and press mine too, With deep unfeigned emotion,

Give me a heart, a gentle heart, With warm affections beating -A heart to flutier with delight When lip with lip is meeting. Give me a heart to call my own, To cheer my path when dreary-A pure, a guiltless, constant heart, To lean upon when weary.

MISCELLANEOUS. CLASSIFICATION OF LAUGHTER .--There are fifty different classes of laughers. There is your smooth faced polite laugher; your laugher by rule. These beings are generally found withexpended, his lords ip is pleased to change the subject, and strike a different cord. And it is not astonishing. Who would refuse to laugh for a pension of two hundred a year? Common gratitude demands it. There is, then, your babitual laugher, men who laugh by habit, without rhyme or reason. -They are generally stout, pig faced gentlemen, who eat hearty supports, and patronize free and easys. They will meet you with a grin on their countenance, which, before you have a stentorian laugh. These men may truly be said to go through life laugherally go off in fits of apoplexy, brought of this sage, after a lapse of 83,000 bottle imp chuckles talk to him of any sue! After a tapse of 29,000,000 felicitous circumstance, he checks you years, this comet will clash the earth. with a sardonic grin that freezes your best intentions. He is a type of the perer, your laugher a la mode, your inward digester of small jokes and he eats. People, he will tell you, should overcome these vulgar propensities; they are abominable. A young man of this class is generally consumptive, his lungs have no play, he is always weak and narrow chested; he overcome with a pull of eau de rose, or dentally from the pocket handkerchief family. I find that all my pains, carand sympathise with the joys and sorrows of others; who has gone through tife superior to its follies, and has learnt to gather wisdom even from laughter. Such are the men who do honor to society, who have learnt to be temperate in prosperity, patient in adversity; and who, having gathered experience from years, are coming to drink the cup of life mingled as it is, to enjoy calmly the sweeter postion, and laugh at the bitter.

THE COMET. -Is it not a grand and work for you these six months, and got no pay!—Pray, sir, when do you the future, and foretold be event of this blazing world? Looks it now like sharing attributes with Camipotence, and "circumventing God?" And when this generation shall be slumbering in the dust, that predicted orb will again stream its "horrid hair" across our sky. When the lover who has now looked at it with his mistress shall become a patriarch among his children; when the child now lisping its early inquiries of the wandering star, shall tell the tale, in after years, to some grand-babe, throned on her knee-then the comet will come again! What changeswhat revolutions-what convulsions of States and Empires-will chance ere then! My soul expands into a sense of sublimity as I reflect on the vast world of events between. How many ties will be severed-how many hearts be broken-how many tears be shed! Vet while on earth these vicissitudes will advene and vanish in that far element above and around us, this luminous globe shall wander with its trainflashing and glowing through the fields of immensity. Thought itself-imagination in her boldest flight, sinks with wearied wing, unable to grasp the stupendous, boundless theme! Truly said the ancient ministrel: "When I survey the Beavens, the work of thy fingers - the moon and the stars which thou hast ordained-then I say, what is man, that thou art mindful of him. or the son of man, that thou visitest him?"-Knickerhorker.

A Strange Cause of Death .- A late number of the New Hampshire Palladium says that an ag d lady in Hamilton came to her death a few days since in the following singular manner. A large bat flew into the room where she was sitting, in the afternoon of the day, and alighted upon a piece of folded linen near her. She arose for the benevelent purpose of giving the bird the freedom of the out door air again, but could scarcely detach it from the cloth. She at length succeeded, when it turned upon her, and bit her hand most severely, from which wound the lady died soon, exhibiting symptoms not unlike those of hydrophobia.

The situation of the village (Jackson) in which the Academy is located, is elevated and healthy. Indeed, when we consider the length of time the school has been in operation, the large quantity of students it has uniformly numbered, and the almost uninterrupted health they have enjoyed, we are foreed to the conclusion that the situation is one of the healthiest in the eastern part of the No boy of disorderly conduct will be admitted into the institution, or if admitted, will be be suffered to remain after he is found to be incorrigible. This excellent regulation was adopted by the Trustees at the commencement of the present scholastick year; and its salutary effects have been evinced, throughout the year, by a uniformly good demeanor on the part of the stu-dents. In the face of this fact, however, (for tha truth of which I confidently appeal not only to the Trustees of the institution but to the inhabi-tants of the place and of its vicinity generally, of any respectability or standing.) a russor has been set alloat and circulated, with a zeal worthy of a good cause, injurious as well to the mora character of the place so to the standing of the institution. The assertion may be safely made that no court-house village, within the range of my acquaintance, is, at this time, more uniformly free from temptations to vice or dissination than the one in which this Seminary is situated. An able and competent assistant Teacher will be employed, whose services will be devoted to the 3rd department of studies, in which he will have the aid of an entirely new mathematical and phi losophical apparatus.

CLASSICAL INSTITUTE, Petersburg, Va.

No pains or expense have been spared to rener this Institution worthy of the confidence and patronage of the public. An edifice, of unusua myrriener, has been erected for its secommo lation, and instructors of eminent qualifications ave been provided to preside over its different departments. Its great design is to make sound and accurate scholars; and it holds out no other indurements to the public, but such as may be found in a slow, but certain course of mental and moral discipline, and in the thorough prepara-tion of its popula for any of the classes in our colleges or universities, or for any of the callings

The institution will be open for the reception of pupils, on Monday, the 29th day of November next; The expense to each pupil, including fuel, and all contingencies iscident to the school, will be $60 per annum, for the English department, including the Latin Grammer, and ninety dollars for the classical and scientific departments, psyable semi-sonually, in advance. The course of study will embrace all the various bracoltes of a Classical, Muthematical, and English education. The modern languages, and natural sciences, will receive particular area-tion. Board may be obtained in respectible aunilies for about 120 to 150 dollars per annum. It is believed that no private Seminary, of equal
