POETRY.

"And while his Harp responsive rung—
'Twas thus the latest Minstrel sung."

For the Star.

WHAT IS THE SPIRIT'S DESTINY?

I am passing away!—I am passing away!
Soon this body shall mingle with valley clay—
But the spirit—say where shall its airy form
Repose when the wild and tossing storm
Of life is o'er! Say where shall it go—
To sunlight above or to night below?

Can ye tell me, ye winds that go moaning along,
For ye caught the last note of the dying one's song—
And still waft it on—O say can ye tell
Where the lone spirit went when the frail body fell!

The winds have not told—can the wide ocean keep
The soul that must like it still wander nor sleep!
"My caverns and bed hold the wrecks of those forms
That once gladdened earth, but the spirit ne'er warms
Nor enlivens them now—alone 'neath the wave
Unremember'd they sleep, in their deep coral grave."

Ye waves of the shoreless ocean above!
Does the spirit ne'er pause like Noah's lone dove,
And pant for its rest where your soft dewy light
Is caught from the beams of the morning so bright!
"Our course is forever the bright isles among
Of the air—and we melt 'neath the rosy beam flung
From the flaming air-king: may the spirit ascend
To its home as from earth with the lightning's we blend!"

Ye altars of freedom! ye thrones of the storms!
Whose wild glens are haunted by shadowy forms
At midnight—O tell from your brows so gray,
Where the spirit shall dwell when its earth fades away!
"We have looked o'er the world from our curtains of cloud,
And our voice has swelled with the thunderbolt loud—
Or we've hushed into silence at death-shrieks that ran
Thro' the vallies below since time began!
The Deluge we felt, as the wild-tossing main
Rolled upward and onward its millions of slain:
We heard a low groan blend with each angry swell—
But we saw not the soul when the frail body fell!"

I have asked of the winds and they answer'd me not—
And the ocean groaned back that its dead were forgot—
And the storm-troubled clouds have asked if the soul
May upward ascend from the body's control!
The mountains have whispered in low, hollow gales,
Of sounds that forever arise from the vales!—
They have felt the rough surge of the enshrouding deep—
And heard the wild moan, and the angry wave sweep—
But winds, clouds, nor oceans, nor mountains can tell
Where the lone spirit went when the frail body fell!

MRS. PHILLIPS'S
Female Seminary,
AT CHAPEL HILL.

The design of this Institution, which has been in operation during the present year only, is to afford young Ladies all the advantages of a thorough, solid, useful and ornamental education.

TERMS.

The elementary branches, comprehending Reading, Writing, Spelling, Arithmetic, Geography, English Grammar, with board, $75 per session of five months, in advance. Pupils received at an early age and taught for $65. The same with History, Rhetoric, Natural, Moral and Intellectual Philosophy, Astronomy, Chemistry, Natural History, Geometry, Algebra, and Latin,.....$85 per session.
French, Drawing and Painting, 20 "
Music on the Piano, with the use of the Istrument,..... 25 "
Ditto on the Guitar,..... 10 "
Books & Stationary furnished at the store prices.

The privilege of attending the Lectures of the Professors on Natural Philosophy and Chemistry, will be granted to those who are sufficiently advanced in their studies to benefit by them.

No pains will be spared to cultivate a literary taste, establish a habit of close thinking & sound reasoning, and qualify the pupils to form an independent opinion on the various subjects submitted to their examination. They will be received into the family of the Principal and treated as daughters; the most comfortable accommodations provided for them, and their manners and deportment carefully attended to.

The retired and healthy situation of Chapel Hill, the seclusion of the young ladies from every thing which may exert an undesirable influence over them, and the parental solicitude of the teachers to make the acquisition of knowledge easy and delightful, to improve the moral, intellectual and physical natures of those committed to their charge, and render them active, intelligent and happy, and a blessing to all their connections, will, it is believed, present strong inducements to those having daughters or wards to educate to patronise the institution.

The next session will commence on the 15th of January, 1838; and as the number of pupils is limited, early application is requested.

JAMES PHILLIPS,
Prof. of Math & Nat. Philosophy.

SCHOOL.

A FEMALE SCHOOL will be opened at my house, in Northampton county, twelve miles west of Murfreesboro', N. C. the 2d Monday in January next, under the control of Miss Louisa Moore, a Lady from the North, who comes well recommended, having been educated for the purpose of teaching. She will teach all the English branches usually taught in Academies, together with French, if required.

TERMS OF TUITION.

Reading and Spelling, $8 00 per session of 5 months. Other branches $10 00.
Board can be had in my family at thirty dollars per Session of five months.

Strict attention will be paid to the comfort of the Boarders.

Lower Canada is quiet. Troops are daily reaching Quebec. Halifax will soon be filled with troops from the West Indies, now on their way.

ARCADIA ACADEMY,
Pollok County, N. C.

The first session of the above school for the next year, will begin on Monday, the 22d day of January.

The course of instruction embraces the English, Latin, and Greek Languages, Ancient and Modern Geography, Mathematicks, Philosophy, Chemistry and Rhetorick. Young Gentlemen will be prepared for admission into the Freshman or Sophomore Class of any College in the country which it may be desired they should enter. The boarding scholars are limited in number; they all live with the subscriber; and are under his sole management and instruction. The highest price for board and tuition is fifty-two dollars and a half per session, (five months,) which must be paid in advance. The situation is decidedly healthy, and remarkably free from all corrupting influences.

BENJ. SUMNER.
Arcadia, Dec. 11, 1837. 51 3w

Mount Pleasant Academy.

The Exercises of this Academy will be renewed again on the 15th of January, under the care and supervision of the Subscriber as Principal. The course of Instruction, as heretofore, will embrace all the branches usually taught in institutions of the kind. Its location in one of the most healthy and moral sections of Orange county, renders it one of the most desirable situations for the education of youth. The discipline exercised is wholly of the parental kind, mild and gentle, though strict and careful.—Great attention will be paid to the morals of the Students committed to the care of the subscriber. Those gentlemen who wish to place their sons or wards in a situation of health, and in one remote from scenes of dissipation, will find this well suited to their wishes.

Having procured the services of a competent Assistant for the ensuing year, the Subscriber has been compelled to advance the price of tuition, in a small degree in some branches. The following may be regarded as the established prices of the Institution:

1st Class. Reading, Orthography, Penmanship, Arithmetic, per Session, $5 00
2d Class. English Grammar, Geography, History, Philosophy, Logic, Astronomy, Chemistry and Rhetoric, $8 00
3d Class. The Latin and Greek Languages, Geometry, Algebra, &c. $12 50

Each Session, as formerly, will contain five months, at the expiration of which there will be a vacation of one month. Board can be had in good families, convenient to the Academy, at six dollars per month, each student furnishing his own candles. The Subscriber is prepared to accommodate eight or ten Students with board.

☞ Students having gone through a course of studies in this Institution, will be prepared for any of our Universities.

DANIEL W. KERR, Principal.

STONY HILL ACADEMY.

The exercises will commence again at this school 2nd Monday in January, and terminate about 15th June. The entire expenses, for Board, Tuition, &c. will be $50 per session.—Books and Candles, when furnished, will constitute the only extra charge. In this Institution are taught the Latin and Greek Languages, with the various branches of a Mathematical and English Education. Those who intend a course at college, will invariably use such authors as are recommended by the Faculty of our University.

Stony Hill is well situated, and has many advantages for the studious. It is retired, in a healthy country: free from the noise and bustling of town and village distraction, a sufficiency of comfortable and convenient rooms; a well selected and growing library, belonging to and under the direction of the students; a well conducted debating society, under their own regulations, from which all political and religious discussions are excluded. It also has many advantages to the satisfaction and interest of Parents: their sons are treated with kindness and mildness, at the same time they are made to behave themselves. Their health and comfort, as well as education and deportment, are attended to; no idling, contracting debts, nor vicious indulgences. Thus, whilst the studious and thoughtful find many things to interest them, and render their situation agreeable and comfortable; whilst they enjoy themselves, and are happy in the prosecution of their studies; the idle and vicious become restive, long to be free from a proper restraint, and, by action, frequently impose on their credulous and unsuspecting parents; thereby leaving the studious in the full enjoyment of their quiet, and the possession of those advantages which none but the studious care for or know how to appreciate.

Parents are requested to visit the school frequently. Address at Ransom's Bridge, N. C.

YELLOW PINE AND WHITE OAK TIMBER.

Navy Commissioners' Office,
January 4, 1838.

PROPOSALS, sealed and endorsed, will be received at this office until three o'clock P. M. on the third day of February next, for the following Yellow Pine and White Oak timber, deliverable at the Navy Yard, Gosport, Va.

No. 1. One set of yellow pine beams, for a frigate of the first class.
No. 2. Two sets of yellow pine beams, for sloops of war, first class.
No. 3. Twenty thousand cubic feet of yellow pine plank stocks.
No. 4. Twenty thousand cubic feet of yellow pine plank stocks.
No. 5. Twenty thousand cubic feet do do do
No. 6. Twenty thousand cubic feet do do do
No. 7. Twenty thousand cubic feet do do do
No. 8. Twenty thousand cubic feet white oak plank stocks.

The beam pieces and one half of the plank stocks to be delivered on or before the 30th April, 1839, and the other half of the plank stocks on or before the 30th April, 1840.

Persons offering will make their offers separately for the quantities and kind of timber embraced in any of the above numbers, and they will be considered and decided independently of each other.

Schedules of the beam pieces will be furnished on application to the Commissioners of the Navy, or to the Commandant of the Navy Yard, Gosport, Virginia.

The yellow pine beam pieces and plank stocks must be the best quality long leaf, fine grain, heart, Southern yellow pine timber. The white oak plank stocks must be of the best quality, and must have grown on lands situated near to the salt water, or within the influence of the sea air; and the white oak and yellow pine plank stocks must have been girdled or felled between the twentieth day of October and twentieth day of March next preceding the deliveries; all of which must be proved to the satisfaction of the commanding officer of the said Navy Yard, Gosport, Virginia.

All the said timber must be free from sap, heart shakes, wind shakes, and all other defects.

The plank stocks must average forty-five feet in length, and none of them must be less than thirty-five feet long; the white oak plank stocks must square not less than fourteen inches at the but, and may square one-fourth less at the top; the yellow pine plank stocks must square not less than fourteen, nor more than sixteen, inches at the but, and may square one-fifth less at the top.

Ten per centum will be withheld from the amount of each delivery made, as collateral security, in addition to the bonds given, to secure the performance of the respective contracts, which will in no event be paid until the contracts are complied with in all respects.

Ninety per centum will be paid within thirty days after the bills for the timber shall be approved and presented to the Navy Agent.

All of the said timber must be subject to inspection and measurement by the inspector and measurer of timber at the said Navy Yard, Gosport, or by such other person or persons as may be designated by the Commissioners of the Navy for the performance of that duty; and in all cases the timber must be in all respects to the acceptance and satisfaction of the commanding officer of the said Navy Yard, and approved by him.

OXFORD MALE ACADEMY.

The prominent advantages of this Institution, render it peculiarly deserving the notice of parents and guardians. It formerly ranked among the first in the State; and it has at present many additional and solid claims on the public for patronage and preference.

Oxford is surpassed by no village of the South in its healthfulness, pleasant location, good society and freedom from dissipation.

The principal, Mr. A. Hart, is a gentleman of considerable attainments in classical and scientific knowledge, acquired in England, Italy and France. He is not only well versed in the Greek and Latin classics, but familiar with modern languages and all the numerous branches of physical, mathematical, moral and intellectual science.

In training the Students to respect their teachers, their companions and themselves, strict regard will be had to inculcate virtuous principles, honorable feelings and gentlemanly conduct.—The government will be parental rather than severe; and the students' minds directed to habits of industry, accurate observation and deep enquiry.

Mr. T. Higgins, a graduate of a European College, and an excellent classical scholar, is engaged for the ensuing year to instruct the junior classes.

Classical students will be prepared to enter the Freshman or the Sophomore class, agreeably to the course of studies prescribed by the University of the State.—Terms—Classical students $15 00; English from 6 00 to 15 00 per session.

Modern Languages.

French, Spanish, } Three lessons a week, { $7 50 / $10 00

Per Session—Extra.

The tuition fees are required in advance; and the amount of half a session will be the smallest charge.

The first session of 1838 will begin on the 22d of January, and the Examination will be on Monday and Tuesday the 18th and 19th of June.

REVISED STATUTES.

The subscribers, having contracted with the Commissioners of the State for the publication of the Revised Statutes of North Carolina, have the pleasure of announcing the completion of said work.

Being appointed by the Governor agents on the part of the State for its sale, they now offer to the good citizens of North Carolina a work which, as regards quality of paper and execution, is not equalled by any law book ever published in this country. It has been pronounced by every one who has examined it, (and amongst those are numbered many of the oldest and most extensive book publishers in the United States) to be the "ne plus ultra" of typography.

Published in 2 volumes—the 1st containing 712 pages—the 2d 536. Price only nine dollars per copy—or five dollars for 1st volume, and four for the second, if sold separately. All orders for the above work, directed to them at the North Carolina Book Store, will meet with prompt attention.

PROSPECTUS
The Carolina Patriot,

A weekly newspaper, Published in the town of Greensboro', N. C., on a large imperial sheet, devoted to Agriculture, Politics, Miscellany, Morality, Foreign & domestic news.

The late "Telescope" office having undergone a partial change of hands, the present proprietors deem it expedient to present to the reading public a short synopsis of the principles upon which they intend to act, and by which they expect to be guided, in the attempt (at least) to discharge the responsible duties which they, in common with all other conductors of newspapers, owe to the community, duties rendered doubly arduous by the awful suspense which seems to pervade the moral and the political aspect of (we much fear) the "the ill-boding times," upon which we are fallen.

Their prime object, then shall be, (so far as in them lies) to present their numerous readers with such expositions of the nature and theory of the National Government as they may deem most congenial with the letter and spirit of our glorious Constitution, best calculated to strike the public mind within force—to enlist all its affections on the side of those institutions under which we have so long enjoyed the sweets of rational liberty—to direct all its energies to some certain point, and thereby to impart to it some fixedness of purpose which shall effectually prevent any further tendency towards the torpid indifference or that political scepticism which seems to sit like an incubus upon its hitherto dormant, but now suddenly excited powers, and which, if persisted in, may at no distant period, become an instrument in the hands of designing and ambitious men, wherewith to fetter those immortal faculties which the Author of our being hath made susceptible of the highest possible cultivation, and whose progressive expansion constitutes the only safe guaranty against the delusive promptings of natural or contracted prejudice,—the well-laid schemes of ambition—the blind zeal of superstition—the recklessness of infuriate party spirit,—and, of course, the only sure foundation upon which a government like ours can long withstand the rude shocks of political adversity. Indeed, there is but one step between scepticism and a total abandonment of all principle, whether in morals or in politics—nay, at a crisis in the affairs of a nation, which seems to threaten its very existence, how easy is the transition from a State of general indifference and torpid security, till then unconscious of danger, to a willing submission to the dictates of any man however contemptible, provided he have the firmness of nerve to assume the office of Despot.

While, therefore, we shall expose to public censure the faithless representative who, prostituing upon the honest prejudices of an unsuspecting people, shall aim solely at his own aggrandizement or the promotion of some ambitious aspirant to office, misleading and abusing for this unhallowed purpose, the public mind—it shall be our supreme pleasure to award the meed of praise to that public Ruler "who, exalted by the people, to the throne of government, established on the base of justice, liberty, and equal rights, shall on his brow express a Nation's majesty," and who, in his walk reflects a meekness and humility, which 'bespeak the fear of God,' and which by a certain innate force, must forever command obedience to the 'Law which is him reigns supreme,' prompting him to dispense rewards where most deserved, and to smite, with edge vindictive, now light, now heavily, according to the stature of the crime.'

Nor shall we pass unnoticed the Statesman who dares be honest, and who in the hall of legislation, 'watchful, unbribed and uncorrupt, and party only to the commonweal, in virtue's awful rage, shall plead for right, with truth so clear, with argument so strong, with action so sincere and tone 'so loud and deep" as make the cringing demagogue blush for shame, and the despot to retreat in confusion behind 'his adamantine gates.'

In regard to the principles of the past and present administration, candor and patriotism like admonish us to interpose our humble efforts to arrest the progress of executive usurpation, and to check that proneness to man-worship which has been but too prevalent for the last eight years, and which (we believe) is about to be succeeded by a spirit of independent inquiry among the people, who alone can apply the only corrective remedy against the abuses that have crept into the practice of the government.

We shall avail ourselves of the best publications in Literature, Morality, Agriculture, & Mechanic Arts and Miscellany,—to press which we shall spare no pains—being determined to render the Patriot a welcome weekly visitor to all its readers: We also invite men of letters and talent to contribute to our columns.

TERMS:—The Patriot is printed on a large Extra Imperial Sheet, of purest white, with new materials, and will be furnished at the low rate of $2,50, in advance, or $3 if not paid within three months after the receipt of the first number.
