"And while his Harp responsive rung-Twas thus the latest Minstrel sung."

NATIVE POETRY.

The following affecting effusion is copied from a late number of the Louisville City Gamette.

Digs, at the residence of his mother, in this eity, on Saturday, February 17, Ws. O. P. Txury, a most estimable young man, who has left many friends to imment his loss.

Why does my mother steel away To hide her struggling tears? Her trembling touch betrays uncheck'd The secret of her fears: My brother gazes on my face

With yearning earnest eye-And yet, there's none among them all To tell me I must die. My sisters fondly press around

My lowly couch, and bring, With eager hands, their garden gift, The first sweet buds of spring. I wish they'tl lay me where those flowers Might luce them to my bed, When other springs and summers bloom, And I am with the dead. And ennehine quivers on my cheek, Plutt'ring, and gav, and fair, As if it knew my hand too weak To shade me from its glare. How coon 'twill fall unherded or This death-dew'd glassy eye! Why do they fear to tell me not I know that I must die!

The summer winds breathe softly through My lone, still, dreary room: A lonelier and stiller one Awaits me in the tomb! But no soft breeze will whisper there, No mother hold my bead; It is a fearful thing to be A dweller with the dead!

Eve after eve, the sun prolongs His hour of parting light, And seems to make my farewell hours Too fair, too heavenly bright. I know the loveliness of earth, I love the evening sky; And yet I should not murmur, if They told me I must die.

Our Pastor oft beside me kneels, And talks to me of heaven; But, with a holier vision still My soul in dreams bath striven. I've seen a beckoning hand that call'd My faltering steps on high; I've heard a voice that trumpet-tongued Bade me prepare to die!

GULLIVERANA. - Lying is a bad practice, but there is a species of sportive white lie, which when well managed, has an 'ear kissing' in it that is quite delightful. Gulliver'stalents in this line has seldom been approached. Whether in Lilliput or Broddignag, he never forgets himself. The keeping of every thing is admirable; and if any one deems such sceptical relations any easy matter, let him try to sustain a kindred specimen, in all its parts. He must have the eye of a painter, and be well versed in the management of contrasts to succeed at all in the undertastory of a man travelling in a stage coach, who had been listening an hour or more to the marvelous tales of personal adventure, told by two inflated bucks from the city. My uncle, said he, "had three children; my father had the same number; all boys. There was some property in dispute between the families, and after a protracted quar rel, it was agreed that the question should be decided by combat between the six sons. My oldest brother fought first, and his antagonist was mortally wounded and carried off; my nest old est cousin was successful in slaying the brother next before me, and it was with great trepidation that I took my position in front of my youngest cousin. I fired, aud--. Here was a pause for a momenty and the excited cockneys eagorly inquired, "Well. what was the result?" "Why, I was killed dead on the spot!" was the reply; "my adversary's bullet pierced my heart, and I expired without a grean! My murderer became possessed of the property in dispute, which he soon dissipated and is now a mountebank conjuror. It was only yesterday that I saw him at his tricks in a little village through which we passed. He placed a ladder in the open streets, its top in the air; and when I lost sight of him, as the stage wheeled away, he had reached the uppermost round and was drawing the ladder after him!" The town bred Munchausens reserved their marvels during the remainder of the journey.

An Irish tailor made a gentleman's coat and waistcoat tuo small, and had orders to take them home and let them out. Some days after the gentleman enquiring for his garment, was told by this ninth part of an Irishman, that the coat and waistcoat happening to fit a countryman of his, he had let them out at eight-teen pence a werk.

Mr. CLAY. The recent Convention of the Whig members of the Legislature of Rhode Island, which nominated Mr. CLAY for President, authorized the fact of his nomination to be communicated to him. He sent, in answer, the following letter:

A Loco Foco paper in Tennessee numinates Mr. Polk, the present Speaker of the House of Representatives, for the Vice Presidency, presuming, it says, from what is already ascertained, that Col. Johnson will be contented with the honors he has already won in the Chair of the Senate. The principal reason given for the selection of Mr. Polk, is that .he is already known to fame as Chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means," On this, the Nashville Banner says, We have nothing to say to the nomi nation, further, than if the learned Reports presented by Col. Polk, as Chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means, entitle him to the honor of the Vice Presidency, Mr. Kendall, beyond all question, ought to be the President. Our allusion will be understood by both these Gentlemen."

THE WHIGS.

The Richmond Whig is awakening the voters of Virginia to the duties about to devolve upon them in the spring elections-if ever there was a time when freemen should fly to the reacue of freedom it is now; and the language applied in Virginia, is applicable to every part of the Union. We copy the concluding paragraph of an editorial from the Whig.

The Whigs, in reviewing this experiment and every thing connected with it-its corrupt inception-more corrupt progress and most disastrous termination—the profuse promises made by its friends and their scanty performance—the predictions of the Whigs, which have been literally verified-and the general corruption, depravity and ignorance manifested in all branches of the public service—in bringing these things to the ear of pupular intelligence and patriotism, the Whigs have a finer opportunity of successfully assailing their opponents, than was ever before enjoyed by any party. One, though not gifted wit the gab, might, with such a theme, mount the stump and be as "fluent as In addition to the strong grounds the other in the strangeness of the occurrence. We have lately been made acquainted with an instance which actually did occur, a short time since, in this city. A gentleman went to his room to retire for the night smoking a segar. He proceeded to undress himself, and, in a fit of abstraction, took his watch from his pocket, threw it where his segar should have gone, and placed the lighted segar under his head. He was not made aware of the act, until aroused by the burning pillow. Bult. Chron.

A diffident lover going to a town clerk to request him to publish the bands of matrimony, found him at work alone, in the middle of a ten acre lot, and asked him to step a side a moment, as he had something particular for his private ear.

Going the entire .- A fellow was recently met in a great haste going to wards a pill manufactory in one of our northern cities.

"Hallo, Jim, which way now so fast?" "The fact is, I have taken two boxes of fashionable pills, direction, boxes and all, without doing me any good. I'm going to swallow the agent now, to see what effect he will have."

A countryman going into a probate office where the wills are kept in huge volumes on the shelves, asked if they were all Bibles. 'No sir,' replied one in the blood, of the clerks, "they are testaments." Rabigh, Feb. 20, 1838.

Music. - A kiss is the key note in the music of love. It shows at once to what tune the heart is bearing.

Absence of mind. - The latest case has occurred in our office. One of the compositors, after finishing an article, left the manuscript at his case and hung himself on the copy hook. The mistake was not discovered till he was taken down to read the proof by copy.

DOCTOR W. W. MARSHALL'S Ointment for the Blind Piles.

The public are assured that I have had this in use for six years, during which time it has, in numerous cases, been subjected to the test of experiment, and, in many instances, on the most aggravated forms of this disease, and al-ways with perfect success—to instance of failure having ever come to my knowledge.

The component parts of this remedy are purely vegetable—warranted to contain no mineral substance whatever. No particular care as to exposure is necessary. It may be used without stercupting ordinary pursuits. It causes no pain, but has a southing effect on the diseased part, and in a short time effects a perfect cure.

It is not generally known that the Piles are ften the cause of that dreadful disease FISTULA In most instances in which I have been called o practice on this disease, I have traced it originally to the Piles; hence, those suffering from them should lose no time in sreking the most efficient remedies.
