POETRY.

"And while his Harp responsive rung—
'Twas thus the latest Minstrel sung."

TO MAY.

BY THE LATE JONATHAN LAWRENCE, JR.

Come, gentle May!
Come, with thy robe of flowers,
Come; with thy sun and sky, thy clouds and showers,
Come, and bring forth unto the eye of day,
From their imprisoning and mysterious night,
The buds of many hues, the children of the light.

Come, wondrous May!
For, at the bidding of thy magic wand,
Quick from the caverns of the breathing land,
In all their green and glorious array,
They spring, as sprung the Persian maids to hail
Thy flushing footsteps in Cashmerian vale.

Come, vocal May!
Come, with thy train, that high
On some fresh branch pour out their melody,
Or caroling thy praise, the live-long day,
Sit perched on some lone glen, on echo calling,
'Mid murmuring woods & musical waters falling.

Come, sunny May!
Come, with thy laughing beam,
What time the lazy mist melts on the stream,
Or seeks the mountain top to meet thy ray,
Ere yet the dew-drop on ithine own soft flower
Hath lost its light, or died beneath its power.

Come, holy May!
When sunk behind the cold and western hill,
The sun hath ceased to play on leaf and rill,
And twilight's footsteps hasten his decay;
Come, with thy musings, and my heart shall be
Like a pure temple consecrate to thee.

Come, beautiful May!
Like youth and loveliness—
Like her I love—oh, come in thy full dress,
The drapery of dark winter cast away;
To the bright eye and the glad heart appear,
Queen of the Spring and partress of the year!

Yet, lovely May!
Teach her whose eye shall rest upon this rhyme
To spurn the gilded mockeries of Time,
The heartless pomp that beckons to betray,
And keep as thou wilt find that heart each year,
Pure as thy dawn, and as thy sunset clear.

And let me too, sweet May!
Let thy fond votary see,
As fade thy beauties, all the vanity
Of this world's pomp; then teach that though decay,
In his short winter, bury beauty's frame,
In fairer worlds the soul shall spread his sway,
Another spring shall bloom, eternal and the same.

RELIGION.

We pity the young man who has no religion in his heart—no high and irresistable yearning after a better and holier existence—who is contented with the sensuality and grossness of earth—whose spirit never revolts at the darkness of its prison house, nor exults at the thought of its final emancipation. We pity him, for he affords no evidence of his high origin—no manifestations of that intellectual prerogative, which renders him the delegated lord of the visible creation. He can rank no higher than animal nature—the spiritual could never stoop so low. To seek for beastly excitements—to minister, with a bountiful hand, to depraved and strange appetites—are the attributes of the animal alone. To limit our hopes and aspirations to this life, and world, is like remaining forever in the place of our birth, without ever lifting the veil of the visible horizon which bent over our infancy.

There is religion is every thing around us; a calm and holy religion in the unbreathing things of nature, which man would do well to imitate. It is a meek and blessed influence, stealing in as it were, upon the heart. It comes quietly and without excitement. It has no terror nor gloom, in its approaches. It does not rouse up the passions; it is untrammelled by the creeds and unshadowed by the superstitions of men. It is from the hands of the Author, and glowing from the immediate presence of the great Spirit, which pervades and quickens it. It is written on the arched sky. It looks out from every star. It is on the sailing clouds and in the invisible wind. It is among the hills and valleys of the earth—where the shrubless mountain top pierces the thin atmosphere of eternal winter—or where the mighty forest fluctuates before the strong wind, with its dark waves of green fuliage. It is spread out like a legible language upon the broad face of the unsleeping ocean. It is the poetry of nature. It is this which lifts the spirit within us, until it is tall enough to overlook the shadows of our place of probation—which breaks, link after link, the chains which bind us to materiality, and opens to our imagination a world of spiritual beauty and holiness.

How to Govern Children.—We were more than amused with a conversation between two plain farmers of respectability the other day, who happened to meet in our office; which was in substance as follows:

"How do you govern your children so well, neighbor————? The other day when I was there, they all set round one dish—not a murmur was heard from first to last. Now my children must each have a separate dish, and they quarrel all the time they eat, and often scratch a little into the bargain, unless they are constantly watched and kept in fear."

"Why" replied the other, "we find no difficulty on that score. We begin with them in time. I never trifle with their feelings or passions. I am sparing of my commands and reproofs; but always take special care that I am strictly obeyed by every one from biggest to least. And although I have seldom been driven to the necessity of using the rod of correction, they fear it more than children that get it every day or two pettishly administered, as is. I have thought too much the practice of some parents. My patience is often tried with rude and frolicsome adventures, presuming rather too much on my forbearance; but deliberate disobedience is a thing totally unknown in my family. My children have no precise conception of what the consequence of disobedience would be; but never think of risking it. My wife aids me very much too in this matter. If at any time she thinks me too severe in my reprimands, she takes occasion in private to correct my harshness with gentle and modest insinuations that never fail to produce the desired effect on me: at the time she seems to sanction my course by a silent approval; and I do the same by her.—The consequence is, that the children never seek protection in the favor of one parent from the displeasure of the other. Family government is a thing that I have observed as minutely as I could, and tried to study it well; and after all we find our plans in many respects defective, which is a source of care and uneasiness to us both; but we have raised a large family, and many of them have left us: and we often think we have much cause to be thankful that our solicitude to govern our family aright has not been altogether unavailing."—Southern Citizen.

NEW GOODS,
VERY CHEAP!

The subscriber embraces the present opportunity of informing his customers and the public generally, that he has just returned from New York, and is now receiving and opening one of the cheapest stock of Goods ever brought to this market. He purchased his Goods altogether with Cash, which will enable him to sell unusually low. Owing to the very great demand for money in New York, one with that article has superior advantages over those who have not, even when they are perfectly solvent.

The following forms a part of his Stock:

A general Assortment of

Calico's & Muslin, Brown Linen, Domestics, Hosiery and Hats; also, an excellent selection of SHOES,

both for Ladies and Gentlemen—all of which is offered at very reduced prices

The subscriber solicits a call, and pledges himself that for cheapness and variety of style, his stock cannot be surpassed by any house in the City.

OXFORD RACES.

The Spring Races will commence over the Oxford Course on Wednesday the 16th day of May next, instead of the 1st Wednesday in June owing to the Races at Lynchburg commencing the same week; also the Warrenton Races being postponed to the 23rd of May.—Consequently this appointment will bring the Oxford Races the week previous to the Warrenton Races The first day sweepstakes for 3 year old colts and fillies—mile heats, $50 entrance; to close the first day of May—now one subscriber. 2d day, sweepstake, colts and fillies, 3 years old—mile heats, $100 entrance, half forfeit in both—one subscriber; to close the first May 3d day, two mile heats for a purse of $250; $20 entrance. 4th day mile heats, best 3 in 5, $100; entrance $10. This Race is made up by subscription.

We expect there will be from four to five entries in both the sweepstakes—there is much sport anticipated. We expect several stables here.

AUCTION SALE,
By Charles Boswell & Co.

EXTENSIVE SALE OF
CHINA, GLASS, AND EARTHEN WARE.

On Tuesday, the 22nd inst., without reserve, at 10 o'clock, we will expose, at Public Auction, the entire stock of goods, of the above description, contained in the two Stores formerly occupied by R. W. Reaney, on Sycamore Street. The stock embraces almost every article to be found in the most extensive Establishments, and perhaps offers greater inducements to purchasers, than was ever presented before in this State.

It consists of a well selected assortment of French, English and India China; Plain, Moulded and Cut Glass; Printed, Japan, Persian, Dipt, Painted and C. C. Earthenware, Stone Ware, Looking Glasses, Britania Tea and Coffee Pots, &c.

A catalogue of the goods will be exhibited on the day of Sale, and the Stock (including the fixtures) first offered entire in one bid; but if not sold in that way, the goods will be sold in lots to suit purchasers, without the least reserve. As there is but one similar Establishment in Petersburg, it affords any person disposed to engage in the business, a rare opportunity. The terms will be liberal, and Mr. R. W. R. will impart to the purchaser all possible information respecting the business.

☞ Both the Houses will be offered for Rent on the day of sale.

PROCLAMATION
By the Governor of No. Carolina.

Whereas, by an act passed at the last session of the General Assembly of this State, entitled "an act prescribing the mode of surveying and selling the Lands of this State, lately acquired by treaty with the Cherokee Indians," it is made the duty of the Governor, upon the return of the Maps and Field Books of said survey, to the Several places as prescribed by said act, to issue his Proclamation of the time and place of sale, and whereas, the said Maps and Field Books have been returned accordingly.

Now I, Edward B. Dudley, Governor of North Carolina, in obedience to said act of Assembly, do hereby issue this my Proclamation, giving notice that the sale of said land will commence at the Town of Franklin, in the county of Macon, on the first Monday in September next, and continue from day to day for three weeks and no longer, by and under the superintendance and direction, of S. F. Patterson and Charles L. Hinton, Esqrs., Commissioners appointed for that purpose, agreeable to the provisions of the said act.

SEAL. IN testimony whereof, I, Edward B. Dudley, Governor, &c., have caused the Great Seal of the State to be hereunto affixed, and signed the same, this 7th day of May, in the year of our Lord, 1838.

Valuable City Property,

FOR SALE.

Pursuant to a decree of the Supreme Court of North Carolina, I shall expose to public sale at the premises, on Friday, the 15th day of June next, that very desirable residence in the City of Raleigh, situated on the corner of Hillsboro' and Mulberry Streets, formerly occupied by Miss E. Geddy, as a Boarding House.

The lot contains three-fourths of an acre; the Dwelling House is large and commodious, with 12 rooms; all necessary out-houses, and a fine garden, and, though sufficiently retired for a private family, is very convenient to the business part of the City To residents of the lower country, desirous of securing a healthy and pleasant situation, the present affords a very favorable opportunity. Persons wishing to examine the premises before the day of sale, can do so, by applying to the Subscriber, or Mr. Thos. Loring Possession will be given on the first day of January next.

TERMS, which will be liberal, made known on day of sale.

DOCTOR W. W. MARSHALL'S Ointment for the Blind Piles.

The public are assured that I have had this remedy in use for six years, during which time it has, in numerous cases, been subjected to the test of experiment, and, in many instances, on the most aggravated forms of this disease, and always with perfect success—no instance of failure having ever come to my knowledge.

The component parts of this remedy are purely vegetable—warranted to contain no mineral substance whatever. No particular care as to exposure is necessary. It may be used without interrupting ordinary pursuits. It causes no pain, but has a soothing effect on the diseased part, and in a short time effects a perfect cure.

It is not generally known that the Piles are often the cause of that dreadful disease FISTULA. In most instances in which I have been called to practice on this disease, I have traced it originally to the Piles; hence, those suffering from them should lose no time in seeking the most efficient remedies. Price $2 00 per Box.

W W MARSHALL,
Richmond, Va.

N. B.—Numerous references can be given The certificate of the Rev William A Smith, of the Methodist E. Church, alone is submitted, with the remark, that like testimonials have been obtained from numerous other intelligent and respectable individuals; among whom are Messrs. J W Winfree, Thomas Hart, James C Crane, Archibald Thomas, Cornelius Crew, Ezekiel Daws, James Caskie, A French.

This is to certify that I have had a fair opportunity to know both the nature and effects of Dr Marshall's remedy for the Blind Piles, and think it a duty I owe to those who suffer with this distressing disease to say, that it may be confidently relied on as a safe, agreeable and efficient remedy for the form of disease for which the proprietor recommends it. It has been extensively used in the circle of my acquaintance, and a case of failure has not come to my knowledge.
