

Little Bits, Jokes, &c.

To keep water out, use pitch; to keep it in, use a pitch-er. You're a queer chicken! as the hen said when she hatched out a duck. The man who was so hemmed in by a crowd, has been troubled with a stitch in his side ever since. Motto for a rejected suitor—ha wooded, and she wouldn't, he cooed and she couldn't. Those ladies, who have a passion for tea-parties should remember that tattle begins with T. LABOR LOST:—An organ-grinder playing at the door of a deaf and dumb asylum. Nothing so adorns the face as cheerfulness. When the heart is in flower, its bloom and beauty pass to the features. A man's wife is his best lawyer, his best counsel, his best judge, his best adviser, and also the cheapest and most reasonable. "You don't seem to know how to take me," said a vulgar fellow to a gentleman he had insulted. "Yes, I do," said the gentleman, "by the nose." A facetious young lady has labelled her photographic album, containing male friends, "Book of Hims." The collection embraces several "Sams. "Mrs. S., is your customer B. a man to be trusted?" "I know of no one more so. He is to be trusted for ever—he never pays." "I wish, Mr. Speaker, to present a liquor bill," said a red nosed member of a Western Legislature. "You never present any other kind," said a political opponent. "Katy, have you laid the tablecloth and plates, yet?" "An' sure I have, mam, everything but the eggs; and isn't that Biddy's work, sure?" "Have guns got legs?" asked little Jimmy of his father, the other day. "No, my son." "How do they kick, then?" "With their breeches, my son." Not having heard from the debating societies in relation to the conundrum, "Why do hens always lay eggs in the day time?" a contemporary answers, "Because at night they are roosters." "Come, Bob, say, what did you clear by your speculation?" said a friend to his companion. "Clear?" answered Bob, with a frown, "why, I cleared my pockets." A YANKEE captain was caught in the jaws of a whale, but was finally rescued, badly wounded. On being asked what he thought while in that situation, he replied; "I thought he would make about forty barrels." Two gentlemen discussing the merits of a strict Calvinist minister and a liberalist, one remarked that the latter in his efforts, did not go to any great depth. "No," responded the other, "he does not go in that direction." Well, Tom, said a grocer to his apprentice, "you have been apprenticed now three months, and have seen the several departments of our trade. I wish to give you a choice of occupation." "Thank'ee sir." "Well, now, what part of the business do you like best?" "Shutting up, sir." "Jeems, mine lad, keep away from tee gals. Ven you sees von comin, fodge. Shust such a critter as dat young von cleaning der door step on tother side of ter street, fooled your poor tad, Jeems. If it hadn't been for her, you and yer tad, mite been in Cally-for-ney huntin in timuns, mine son." "Yesh, mine fadder. The Wilmington (Illinois) Independent, edited by Mr. Steel, says: "A printer last week proposed to go into partnership with us. His name is Doolittle. The firm name would sound very bad, either way you put it—'Steal and Do Little,' or 'Do Little and Steal.' We can't jine. One of us would soon be in the porhouse, and the other in the penitentiary." An old bachelor, who had become melancholy and poetical, wrote some verses for the village paper, in which he expressed the hope that the time would soon come when he should "rest calmly within a shroud, With a weeping willow by my side," but, to his inexpressible horror, it came out in print— "When I shall rest calmly within a shawl, With a weeping willow by my side." A young man in California, whose friends had ceased to correspond with him, woke up their interests by sending letters to business men in his native place, inquiring the price of a desirable sized farm. Several affectionate letters came from friends by return post, and two or three a day have come ever since, including one from an old (and cold) sweetheart.

All of the above is put in the drawing at the regular cash selling price, and will be disposed of by a regular mode of drawing, and in order to accomplish this, the Company will sell 73,847 tickets at $2 each. For further information read sections 10 and 11 of the By-Laws of the Company. BY-LAWS: SECTION 10. The plan of drawing shall be as follows: There shall be two wheels, one a prize wheel and one a number wheel, arranged in some public place in the city, where any one holding a ticket may be present on the day of drawing. In the number wheel there shall be as many tickets corresponding in number as there which have been sold. In the prize wheel there shall be as many tickets as there are prizes; these tickets shall be deposited in a box, and a Board of Supervisors, who shall be appointed by the Directors, after which the wheel shall be sealed up and placed in any bank in the city, the Directors may direct, until the time of drawing, when the supervisors shall bring the ticket to the drawing, break the seals, and the drawing shall be disposed of by taking a ticket from each wheel, at the same time, and the prize drawn by the ticket corresponding in number to the one taken from the number wheel at the same time. The wheel shall be so shaken after each ticket is drawn. SEC. 11. The drawing shall designate the time and place of drawing, at which time and place the supervisors shall be required to be present, and see that the drawing is conducted entirely equitably. A Board of Supervisors will be appointed, who will have exclusive control and management of the drawing. They will conduct the distribution, and see that each person is legally invested with the property he may be entitled to. A duplicate register of the tickets sold will be kept so that in the event of loss of ticket, the accident may be rectified and no mistake can occur. The drawing will take place in TUCKER HALL, in the City of Raleigh, immediately after sale of tickets—of which due notice will be given. The Company is acting under the provisions of a special charter, granted by the General Assembly of North Carolina, which empowers the Company to comply faithfully with all contracts. Copies can be had on application to the Company. All the above mentioned property will certainly be disposed of as above stated, and those drawing it will be invested with the title in fee simple. SEC. 12. No member of the Company is allowed to purchase any tickets. All accounts must be paid by mail at the owner's risk, that sent by Express, Registered Letters, Checks or Drafts, at the risk of the Company. No property will be issued unless the title is indisputable. The Treasurer has been required to give a bond of five thousand dollars for the faithful performance of his duties. He is required to deposit, daily, in the bank all moneys received, when it will remain until all the moneys are paid out, and all the property will be positively drawn and delivered to the parties drawing, or the money returned. Sections 10 and 11 of the By-Laws, office order, registered letter, or draft, at our risk, or by mail at your own, and take a chance at the $2,000 valuable prize offered. Tickets will be sent any where in the United States at the Company's risk.
