LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

Died. In this place, on the 14th of September, MARY BEZA, infant daughter of Louis C. and Emma F. Quin.

Died. At Woodscock on the 24th of August, MR. LEWIS CLARK. He was well known to our citizens, and had many friends. He is said to have died tranquilly and peacefully, leaving encouraging hopes of his salvation. He leaves a large family and many relatives to mourn his loss.

Oysters.—We have had oysters already. We cannot say that they were very fine, but they were oysters. If this delightful luxury proves as excellent this season as the last, we shall not complain.

Public Meeting in Pitt.—We are informed that, on the 24th of October, quite an interesting political meeting will be held in Greenville. The funny, caustic, indefatigable Joe Turner, the Editor of the Sentinel, is advertised to address the meeting.

Cotton.—Large wagons are continually bringing in the cotton from the neighboring farms, in order that it may be ginned, while occasionally heaped up bales are ready for shipment are carried to the wharves. The crop will fall short considerably, though we believe it will be quite large.

New Goods.—The stock of goods purchased by our merchants is rapidly coming. In expectation of a large crop of cotton, they have bought largely, and we trust and believe, that this course will eventuate in success. Whitehurst and Rosenthal, our leading dry goods men, are both here, with complete and comprehensive assortments. They will both be before the public, in our next issue, with full and correct statements of their purchases. Let the public go at once, and make their selections, taking the tide at its flood.

Fatal Assault.—On last week, a small Baltimore schooner, which had been chartered by some Greenville merchants to bring home their goods, was the arena of a most shocking occurrence. The vessel had scarcely touched the wharf, when the captain turned on his mate with a loaded gun discharging the whole contents into his body. The wounded man, whose name was Christopher Merchant, though carefully attended by Dr. Taylor, lingered only a short time before death ended his sufferings. We can learn of no reliable cause for the murder, except accident. The captain tried to escape, but was captured and put in prison, where he still remains.

A BRIDAL PAIR in a BATHROOM.—Cora Mowatt who is writing foreign letters for the San Francisco Chronicle, tells a story of a bridal pair, making the tour of Switzerland, who recently came to a crowded hotel and were informed by the landlord that there was one unoccupied room in the house, the bathroom, and that a couple of beds might be made in the two baths which it contained. The youthful couple were well pleased to secure even this shelter after a fatiguing journey, and retired to rest. An hour or two later the stillness of the night was suddenly broken by shrieks of distress issuing from the bathroom. The lady, wishing to summon a servant, had pulled what she presumed was a bell rope, when suddenly she was inundated by a shower of cold water. The gentleman, roused by her cries, and not quite comprehending the position, pulled a supposed bell rope which he felt dangling over his bath bed, to bring him a domestic, but brought instead a shower of hot water over himself.—It was quite dark and neither bride nor bridegroom could grope their way to the door. By the time succor came they were up to their knees in water.
