Reinforced UN Patrols Hunt Elusive Reds And Chinese

Planes Still Raining Death On The Reds

UN Leaders Try To Figure Reason For Lull By Reds

TOKYO, Jan. 17—(UP)—Aggressive, reinforced United Nations patrols hunted elusive Chinese and Korean Reds today on snow-covered plains all along the 130-mile Korean front.

Out of contact with the main enemy forces all across Korea, the 8th Army sought an explanation for mysterious Communist withdrawals south of Seoul and the ominous lull in Red attacks to the east. Such lulls in the past have preceded Communist offensives.

Allied air armadas joined ground patrols in keeping up pressure against the enemy. B-29 super-

Lindley To Address Rotary On Friday

Dr. D. Ray Lindley, president of Atlantic Christian College at Wilson and one of the South's best known educators and ministers, will address the Dunn Rotary Club Friday night at 8:30 o'clock.

Plans for the meeting were announced this morning by President Marvin Raynor. Dr. George Cuthrell has charge of the program and will introduce the distinguished speaker.

Dr. Lindley came to Atlantic Christian College last year from Fort Worth, Texas, where he served as Dean of Britton College of the Bible.

NATIONALLY KNOWN He has gained nation-wide reputation as an outstanding and colorful speaker, and is in great demand for special events in various sections of the country.

President Raynor said today that the Dunn club felt very fortunate in securing Dr. Lindley. He was invited several months ago, but this was the first date he could arrange to come.

Dr. Lindley has conducted city-wide evangelistic campaigns here on two different occasions and has be-

DRY SPELL—A shortage of water in Coats forced Mrs. Rachel Langdon (above) to wash her Mercury from a washtub this week. Assisting with the bucket work is her daughter, Sue Ellen. One town official explained that Coats' spring-fed reservoir has fallen somewhat, making water a bit scarce in that Harnett community. The town lacks a municipal water system and, like the rest of the nation, occasionally suffers from water shortages. (Record Staff Photo by T. M. Stewart)

Housing Bill Is Debated In Congress

Senator Ives Says Bill Would Offset Inflation Control

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17—The administration's defense housing bill would offset government attempts to control inflation, Sen. Irving M. Ives said today.

The New York Republican said the bill would provide $3,000,000,000 in new credit for privately-built housing as a defense measure while the Federal reserve board is trying to control credit in its fight against inflation.

However, Sen. John J. Sparkman, D., Ala., said the housing measure would not be any more inflationary than "food, bread, clothing or medicine."

The Senate Banking Committee resumed hearings on the bill and called Federal Security Agency and defense department spokesmen as witnesses.

ELSEWHERE IN CONGRESS ACHESON—Critics of administration foreign policy awaited Secretary of State Dean Acheson's reply to charges of a "sell-out" to Red China. Sen. Robert A. Taft, R., O., said U.S. support of the United Nations cease fire proposal in Korea was a "shocking step" toward appeasement.

MANPOWER—The Senate Preparedness Subcommittee was scheduled to hear leading military experts and educators support the defense department's demand for a draft of 18-year-olds. The subcommittee planned to question the military about the need for such (Continued On Page Six)

Former Duke Coach Dies

DURHAM, Jan. 17—(UP)—Kenneth C. (Gerry) Gerard, former head basketball coach at Duke University, died today at Duke Hospital after a long illness. He was 47.

Gerard, a nationally-known sports figure, underwent a major operation more than a year ago. He recovered and coached the Duke team last winter but recently suffered a relapse.

Doctors advised Gerard to retire and he was replaced as coach by Harold Bradley. Gerard had been hospitalized for several weeks before his death early today.

Band Days To Begin At Erwin Tomorrow

In an effort to raise funds to buy the larger and more expensive instruments for the Erwin High School band, the PTA has declared Thursday, Friday and Saturday as "Band Days" in Erwin.

Mrs. Pauline B. Ennis, president of the group, announced that the executive committee set those days at a recent meeting. The committee met with W. L. Burrage, director of the Dunn High School band, who is also training the band at Erwin. To begin the campaign, the Erwin Local of the Textile Workers Union of America has donated $100. Other organizations have been asked to help with the drive, and a booth will be set up in the business section in front of the Steinberg store for individual contributions. Members of the old Erwin band who have unused instruments they would like to donate are asked to contact Principal D. T. Stutts or Mrs. Ennis.

Progress of the drive will be reported at the next meeting of the PTA, scheduled for Jan. 23.

SLOGAN "EVERYBODY WINS" One of the features of this unique contest is the fact that there are no losers in the race, as a cash commission of 20 per cent ($1 out of every $5 collected) will be paid each week to all active participants which, in itself, is an excellent business proposition.

This is most emphatically not a "lucky drawing" nor a "something for nothing" affair. Instead it is a business proposition pure and simple.

Its object, very frankly, is to further expand our ever increasing list of subscribers in this area quickly and effectively; to advertise jointly the outstanding qualities of the new Packard line of automobiles, represented locally by McLamb Farm Machinery Co., and lastly to open the way for our friends and readers to profit in a big way through whatever spare (Continued On Page Two)

Poland-China Sale Slated

An auction sale of purebred Poland-China hogs will be held at Byrd Brothers Farm, a mile and a half south of Bunnlevel, Jan. 20.

Ten registered boars and 30 bred gilts will be offered to the highest bidders when the sales opens at 1 p. m. Russ Gilmer, of Andrews, S. C., will be the auctioneer. A barbecue dinner will be served at noon preceding the opening of the sale.

TREATED HOGS

All animals to be offered for sale have double immunization against cholera, and all have been banded, according to farm officials. The sellers prefer that bidders attend the sale, but anyone not able to do this may authorize the auctioneer to act for him in making purchases.

The farm owners plan to make this sale a yearly affair. In a pamphlet announcing the sale, they made the statement: "The past few years have seen the greatest march forward for the Poland-China breed. We believe that we have the type and quality in our herd to help further advancements."

AUDITING — State Auditor Henry L. Bridges has undertaken to rewrite the statutes covering the functions of his office to bring the law up to date and make it conform with accepted good practice in state accounting. No real revision of the statutes setting out the duties of the auditor has been made in many years. Meantime, the executive budget act had rendered some provisions of the auditor's code obsolete. Also expanding needs of a fast growing state government has added essential duties to the office which are not specifically authorized by the section covering auditing functions.

CLARIFIED — Actually, Bridges says, the revision is more in the nature of clarification than basic change. The proposed bill, which will be introduced within a few days, would restore to the auditor's office the responsibility for setting and supervising accounting systems in the several state departments and institutions. For some years this authority has been vested in the budget bureau, although the work has actually been done by the auditor.

New Colonial Store To Open January 25

Mr. A. C. Edens, vice-president of Colonial Stores, announced today that the grocery chain's all-new supermarket in Dunn will open next Thursday, January 25. "Construction is progressing at a very rapid rate, and we are applying the finishing touches now," Mr. Edens stated in an interview with a Record representative. The store is located at 112 North Wilson Avenue, about a block and a half from the Pender Store which has been operated by Colonial in Dunn for a number of years. The new store will replace Colonial's Pender Store when it opens.

Mr. Edens radiated enthusiasm about the latest addition to the Colonial organization, which operates food stores in a number of Southern states. "We are endeavoring to bring to the people of Dunn all of the latest conveniences we have developed through 51 years of operation, and this store will be a real credit to Dunn and to Colonial. It has required a lot of careful planning and hard work, and will represent our confidence in the continued growth of Dunn and Harnett County."

COMPLETELY REMODELED

The new store will be located in a completely renovated and remodeled building owned by Mrs. J. W. Thornton, and inside store space will be considerably larger than the Pender Store now serving this city.

The interior will be diffuse-lighted by fluorescent slimline tubing, giving the entire store an even, distribution of glareless light. The fixtures will be completely new and modern throughout, including new meat display cases, dairy cases, frozen food cases, eye-level canned foods shelving, and built-in produce display racks. Everything will be self-service except in the meat department.

Shopping carts and checkout lanes will be of advanced design for quick and easy shopping. Spacious aisles will allow customers to choose at leisure from a wide variety of nationally-known foods of all types. One of the outstanding features of the new store will be the produce department, occupying the entire left side of the store. "Daily deliveries of fresh produce will insure top freshness and quality at all times," Mr. Edens commented.
