

CHINESE WITHDRAW 100,000 MEN FROM KOREA

Solons Seek To Protect Interests Of Businessmen

Congressmen Oppose Drafting 18-year-olds; May Reach Compromise

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(UP)—Congress sought ways today to protect the small business man in the scramble for scarce production materials.

But there were several warnings that small businessmen will have to suffer for a while until the defense production controls program gets underway.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D., Minn., said "things will get worse before they get better" for the small businessman.

Sen. John J. Sparkman, D., Ala., said there must be "an orderly and equitable allocation of available supplies" so that small business will get its share.

Sparkman is chairman of the Senate Small Business Committee, which is looking into the problem.

Elsewhere in Congress:

Draft — Congressional opposition to drafting 18-year-olds mounted as the national military leaders pleaded for the necessary legislation.

Defense Secretary George C. Marshall promised that no 18-year-old will be sent overseas except in a "dire emergency," but Congressmen reported that their mail from back home was overwhelmingly against lowering the draft age.

A compromise appeared likely.

THAT AGAIN

Foreign affairs — Administration leaders were determined to fight any congressional attempt to limit the number of troops that President Truman can send to Europe.

Food Prices — Rep. J. A. Pavis, R.-Lib. N. Y., introduced a bill to permit the government to freeze farm prices on all foods at present levels.

Democratic and Republican farm leaders said the bill did not have "the slightest chance of passing."

Eggs — Chairman Allen J. Ellender, D., La., of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said the armed services should be required to buy government supplies of surplus eggs when farm surpluses exist.

He said the Agriculture and Defense departments should work in "much

TAXES—At least two prominent members of the North Carolina legislature are working as hard on federal taxation this week as they will work on state fiscal matters.

PROSPECTS—The North Carolinians have consistently opposed increased tobacco taxes and have also opposed a graduated schedule for cigarettes.

MAIL—Legislative mail has been light so far, because the issues have not been clarified.

It is picking up now, and the bulk of it is in marked contrast to that which flooded members two years ago.

In 1949, particularly in the early days of the session, the mail bags were loaded with requests—almost demands—for more money for public roads, more money for schools, and

Resolution Calls For 600 School Buses

Both Houses Will Hear Budget Arguments Before Closing Up For Weekend

RALEIGH, Jan. 19.—(UP)—The House Appropriations Committee planned to ask the members of the lower chamber today to approve a resolution to hurry up placing of orders for about 600 school buses although money isn't on hand yet for them.

The 10 a. m. session of the Senate and 11 a. m. meeting of the House were designed to enable members planning to go home for the weekend a chance to get started as early as possible.

WILL DEFEND CUTS

Appropriations chairmen made it clear yesterday that they planned first to defend cuts made in requested appropriations and then to hear arguments in support of the amounts cut out in order to balance the budget at $459,500,000.

Rep. Joe King of Forsyth argued that the committee should make cuts in appropriations as it waded page by page through the General Fund budget on a preliminary study.

"Unless we do," he said, "we're going to be up against it later and have to start raising taxes and then there will be hell to pay."

"I'm glad you're able to see that so soon" said House Chairman Larry Moore of Wilson.

TO ORDER BUSES

The group interrupted the budget study long enough to give a favorable report to the resolution that would allow the State to order buses on the strength of a recommended appropriation.

A spokesman for the State Board of Education explained that the defense program was making heavy drains on the auto industry.

"Manufacturers tell us that if we want to get transportation equipment we had better place orders during the first quarter of this year," he said. "After that they are unable to predict what will happen"

Lions Leader Answers Pope

H. C. Petry, Jr., president of Lions International, said last night he did not interpret a papal order directed against Rotary clubs as applying to his organization.

The Vatican order forbids Catholic priests to belong to Rotary and warns laymen to beware of the civic organizations, described as having "Masonic" connections.

"I regret very much the order, as I regard Rotary as a very wonderful world-wide organization which needs the support of all peoples," Petry said.

"I do not interpret the order as applying to Lions International."

Petry made his remarks before a mid-winter district convention of the service organization here.

Prices To Rise On Hogs In 1951

RALEIGH, Jan. 19.—Hog prices will be slightly to moderately higher in 1951 than in 1950, and farmers who do a good job of feeding and management with swine this year will make a profit, believe specialists of the State College Extension Service.

In North Carolina's Agricultural Outlook for 1951, prepared by the extension staff as an aid to farmers in planning for the year, the specialists assert that the demand for red meats of all kinds is above the normal relationship to income and is likely to remain that way as long as the nation's defense program continues.

MARKET HAS GROWN

The yearly U. S. pig crop has grown from 83 million in 1946 to about 99 million in 1950. Slaughter weights now are a few pounds heavier than last spring or last year. There is an ample supply of corn and other feed grains at a price favorable to increase pork production.

The 1951 spring pig crop may be about five per cent larger than the 1950 spring crop, with the annual production of pork five to seven per cent higher.

Tar Heel producers are advised to select breeding animals with plenty of length and grow a leaner type hog. Breeders should come from large litters of fast-growing pigs. The number of sows kept on the farm should be increased if the increase in corn and pastures justifies such action.

Corn marketed through hogs will bring a greater return than corn marketed as grain.

Practicing good sanitation will keep down parasites and increase profits, the specialists assert.

Chief of Police George Arthur Jackson reports that he and his men will begin enforcing the ordinance, Feb. 1, which is the date that North Carolina state license plates must also be displayed.

Three Die In Riots As Ike Tours Italy

ROME, Jan. 19.—(UP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower headed for the grand duchy of Luxembourg today in his tour of Atlantic Pact Nations.

More than 1,000 Italian Communists were arrested, three killed and 43 injured in anti-Eisenhower demonstrations protesting his visit here yesterday.

Communist-inspired disorders broke out in Palermo, Naples, Venice and various towns and cities of the industrial north. But Rome was fairly quiet as federal police walked the streets with machine guns.

The latest fatality was peasant Damiano Lo Greco, who was killed by a rifle blast when demonstrators clashed with police in Palermo, where five policemen were injured by a grenade tossed by the Communists.

In northern Italy, police fired on 2,000 Communist demonstrators who gathered in the city of Comacchio and shouted anti-American slogans.

In Naples, two policemen were injured while fighting Communists who tried to put up anti-Eisenhower posters.

In Venice, police broke up a Communist rally and arrested 70 persons.

Eisenhower arrived Wednesday night. The Communists immediately called flash strikes throughout the country and a one-hour general strike in Rome to protest the visit.

But the Rome walkout fizzled and most of the other strikes had little impact.

Fifty thousand Communists gathered in Rome to hear a Communist labor leader shout "Ike, go home."

But police maintained order.

UN Balks At Branding Reds Aggressors

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Jan. 19.—(UP)—The United States was having difficulty today lining up sponsors for its demand to brand Communist China and aggressor in Korea.

But U. S. sources said there was "a 90 per cent chance" that the resolution would go before the UN's main political committee when it meets at 3 p. m. EST.

They said the American delegation will press for a vote on the measure early next week despite Arab-Asian opposition.

The committee began debate yesterday on Communist China's rejection of the UN's five-point offer of peace in the Far East.

Several delegations registered reservations toward the demand by Chief U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin that the world organization brand Peking as an aggressor "if the UN is to maintain its integrity and the principle of collective security is to survive."

RALEIGH, Jan. 19.—(UP)—North Carolina whiskey sales in December topped those of December, 1949, by more than $42,000, State ABC Chairman R. W. Winston reported today.

Total sales for the month in State operated liquor stores amounted to $6,489,746, he said.

The report, he said, gave indications that the State's drive against bootlegging is making progress.

Legal sales showed marked increases in Rowan and Catawba counties, both of which are surrounded by dry counties in which bootleggers have previously been active.

Rowan ranked next to Mecklenburg in sales for the State. It totaled $607,672 in revenue. Catawba took in some $371,619.

Winston said the chairman of the Rowan ABC board attributed the increase to decreased activity by bootleggers "either because they were finding it hard to get supplies

Nationlists Say 4th Army Pulling Out

Claim Seven Soviet Divisions Now Based On Chinese Mainland

TOKYO, Jan. 19.—(UP)—Chinese Nationalist sources said today that Red China has pulled its crack 3rd Field Army of more than 100,000 men out of Korea at least temporarily for reorganization because of heavy losses.

That would leave the Chinese 4th Field Army plus the revived North Korean Army—a total of perhaps 250,000 men—facing the U. S. 8th Army in South Korea.

SOVIETS IN CHINA

Chinese Nationalist informants also reported that Russia has moved seven Soviet divisions totalling some 100,000 men into China to help protect the mainland against a Nationalist invasion. They were believed to include a paratroop division.

U. S. Army intelligence officers in Tokyo expressed interest in the Chinese Nationalist reports, but would neither confirm nor deny them.

The reported withdrawal of the Chinese 3rd Field Army overshadowed these other developments in Korea:

1.—United Nations forces burned whole villages in the Sobak Mountains of Central Korea in an effort to smoke out large numbers of Communist troops known to have slipped through their lines to the rear.

The Reds were believed assembling to strike from the rear in support of a Communist offensive aimed at Taegu in the old Pusan beachhead.

2.—Unidentified United Nations units advanced up the east coast to positions about 12 miles south-

Wage Hike To Up Coal Price

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(UP)—A virtually certain coal price hike today confronted Gov. economic stabilizers pushing preparations to order wage-orice controls.

The new soft coal agreement was signed yesterday by John L. Lewis and top industry officials. It gives the United Mine workers a 20-cent hourly wage hike and insures uninterrupted production for defense.

The producers warned bluntly that they would need a six per cent rise in the mine price of coal to pay for the increased wages.

Price Stabilizer Michael V. Disalle said cautiously that the matter would be studied "in relation to our current voluntary price freeze orders." He added he might seek a conference with coal industry representatives.

WAGE-PRICE CONTROLS

Defense mobilizer Charles W. Wilson, Disalle's boss, said the wage increase "in all probability" would lead to coal price increases.

The government is getting ready to order wage-price controls. The Economic Stabilization Agency is opening 13 regional offices between Jan. 26 and Feb. 21. Price controls probably will come then, with a wage "stabilization" order later.

A rollback of prices, possibly to
