Taft To Write Book Explaining Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON, March 27—(P)—Sen. Robert A. Taft - "Mr. Republican" - said today he is preparing to write a book enlarging his views on foreign policy.

The work, as yet unnamed, will let him spell out his foreign policy program before the 1952 Republican convention, at which he will probably be a major contender for the GOP presidential nomination.

The Ohioan, the dominant GOP voice in Congress on domestic affairs, has emerged as an important Republican spokesman on America's role in the world during the historic debate on sending U. S. troops to defend Europe. Taft opposes sending the troops unless Congress first gives permission.

Taft said he did not know how soon it will be before his book is ready for publication.

ELSEWHERE IN CONGRESS Crime - The Senate Crime Committee called in income tax officials to find out just how they propose to catch underworld leaders who are cheating the government on their tax returns.

Corruption - Sen. J. William Fulbright, D., said responsible government officials, by "moral blindness or callousness," are condoning "corruption in our midst."

BASEBALL FIXES - Fulbright also said the recent baseball fixes are a logical result of the corruption of the sport at its source by pressure from alumni to win.

PICTURE - Sketched in briefest lines possible is the composite picture of State money for the next two years: There is in prospect General Fund revenue approximating thirty-five million dollars more than was estimated by the Budget Commission last fall, which is almost if not entirely enough to balance the budget on terms of the appropriations subcommittee report.

Air Force Accepts Enlistments Again The Air Force has opened up for enlistments again, according to Sgt. Winfield Jackson, local recruiter, and those who join may be shipped the same day.

Gregory Calls Back Water Law; Move Is Asked By Erwinites

By Wade Lucas Raleigh Correspondent

RALEIGH, March 27—In a move that caught Harnett Senator Robert J. Young by surprise, Harnett Representative Carson Gregory has recalled from the enrolling office the Senate and House-passed bill to empower and authorize the Town of Dunn to purchase, lease, or otherwise acquire the water distribution and sewerage systems in Erwin.

Gregory said he recalled the bill, which only awaited ratification before becoming law, "at the request of some 50 or 75 Erwin people who want to appear before the State Utilities Commission here and find out more about what the water bill does."

The Harnett House member said he told the group, including James Glover, Mrs. V. C. Swanson, Redden New, "and some others whose names I can't recall just now," that he would hold up final action on the bill until April 3.

Meanwhile, Senator Young, who said "the bill is merely permissive and was introduced at the request of the Erwin Cotton Mills Company," declared: "I am through with the bill—it is now in the hands of Representative Gregory."

As it passed the Senate and House last week, the measure provided that in event Dunn leases, purchases, or acquires the water distribution and sewerage systems in Erwin the rates to be charged Erwin residents by the Town of Dunn, which owns the water plant that supplies both Dunn and Erwin with water, will be fixed by the State Utilities Commission.

Approval expected - The omnibus bill, which is introduced every two years, was sent to the House Education Committee, which is expected to approve the inclusion of nominees for the 100 (Continued on Page 7)

Dr. Han is studying in this country on a two-year United Nations scholarship. He plans to return to Korea in July.

Tax Unit Will Study Criminals

WASHINGTON, March 27—(P)—Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder said today that he is establishing a special fraud section in his department to wage war against "major league criminals" through their tax accounts.

Acheson Urges Republics To Stop Communism

WASHINGTON, March 27

—(P)—Secretary of State Dean Acheson asked the American Republics today to carry out swiftly a three-point program to meet the "mortal danger" of communism.

"Never before have we faced a menace of this magnitude," Acheson told a conference of foreign ministers of the 21 American republics. "It calls for action now—each must do his full share."

Acheson urged this program: 1. Curb inflation on an international scale; increase production of raw materials.

2. Prepare at the earliest possible time a coordinated defense for this hemisphere.

3. Tighten internal security against communists, but at the same time protect "basic democratic institutions."

This was the conference's first direct reference to civil liberties, which include freedom of the press.

NO MENTION OF PAPER Acheson did not mention the closing of La Prensa, the great Buenos Aires newspaper, but delegates who have followed the case of La Prensa carefully noted Acheson's words.

"We should consult as to the practical steps we may take, together and individually, to ensure the maximum protection and strengthening of our basic democratic institutions. They are the heart of what we are seeking to defend against communist undermining, and to safeguard these institutions while we prevent their abuse requires our constant vigilance."

Acheson's idea of international consultation on preserving "democratic institutions" was interesting in the light of a press conference held Friday by Argentine Foreign Minister Hipolito Jesus Paz. He said that he could tolerate no "foreign interference" in the case of La Prensa.

As Acheson spoke, it was learned that the United States has quickly circulated among the Latin delegates copies of three U. S. resolutions. A resolution on economic problems asserted that each government should be willing to improve price controls, allocate raw materials with priority for defense needs, and coordinate transport facilities.

The resolutions made it clear that the United States would offer important technical assistance to the other American republics to step up production of foodstuffs and raw materials, improve diets south of the border, combat disease and generally increase living standards.

Judge Godwin To Preside At April Civil Court Term

Judge Howard C. Godwin of Dunn will preside when the April term of Harnett Superior Court opens in Lillington next Monday.

Tax Collector Warns Delinquents

That man is here again. D. P. Ray, Jr., Harnett County tax collector, warned all property owners in the county today that delinquent lists will be published in the newspapers beginning the first week in April.

The lists will contain the names of those who have not settled up their 1950 taxes, Ray said. If payments are made during March, the collector added, two per cent should be added to the total bill. If mailed after April 1, he said, the addition should be two-and-a-half per cent.

The collector said that he will be at the First Citizens Bank and Trust Company in Dunn April 29 for the convenience of latecoming taxpayers.

SHOW IS EXTRAVAGANT

A sight to behold. Wilmington would be disinclined to be accused of copying anybody—Washington, even—when it comes to putting on a show. But it is no less extravagant. There will be a queen out of Hollywood, the $10,000 PGA Azalea Open Golf Tournament, celebrities from hither and there, a coronation ball and to top it all off the beginning of the Southeastern United States Checker Tournament.

Wilmington has two big advantages over Washington. The azaleas bloom for several weeks. The cherry blossoms come out fast, and disappear fast—and a heavy frost could kill them quick and wash out the whole show.

In North Carolina, you can go to the greenhouse and buy a dwarfed plant to fetch home. There are no cherry trees on sale in Washington.

South Korean Forces Drive Deeper Into Enemy Territory

SHADES OF '41 - It's beginning to look like old times again in the junkyards throughout the country, with tons of scrap being hauled in for conversion to war materials. Like many a man 10 years ago, Hubert Goodwin of Dunn, Rt. 5, is selling off chunks of old car bodies for eventual use by the steel industry. He was photographed today as he weighed in his haul at Moff's junkyard in Dunn. (Daily Record Photo by T. M. Stewart.)

Mill Officials, Union Men Meet

DURHAM, March 27—(P)—Erwin Mills officials left here for Washington today to meet with U. O. leaders at the first of a series of bargaining meetings before the federal mediation and conciliation service.

Emil Rieve, president of the Textile Workers Union of America, and representatives of five textile concerns were scheduled to attend the meetings. The sessions were called in an effort to avert the cotton and rayon textile workers strike set for Saturday.

Police Go To School Here

Schoolbells will clang again tonight for law enforcement officers who are attending instruction courses being given by the city in the Recorder's Courtroom of the Municipal Building.

Instructions in the 12-week school are being given at present by Judge H. Paul Strickland and Solicitor J. Shepard Bryan. Classes meet for two hours each Tuesday and Thursday, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The present course, on the laws of arrest, is being taught by Judge Strickland. The next four-week course will be taught by Solicitor Bryan and will be concerned with the laws of search and seizure. Judge Strickland said that no instructor has been selected for the third course, on rules of the road, but that another member of the bar may be asked to do the job.

STARTED AT UNIVERSITY The school is an outgrowth of a Statewide meeting of judges, solicitors, police chiefs and sheriffs held in Chapel Hill a few weeks ago by the Institute of Government, the judge added.

The purpose of the schools, some 60 of which are planned or in operation throughout North Carolina, (Continued on Page Five)

House Buckles Down To Revenue Problem

RALEIGH, March 27—(P)—The State's money-raising revenue bill went on the House calendar today and the other half of the financial picture was to be handed to the Joint Appropriations Committee in a secret session after 2 p. m.

Speculation placed the revised spending program at slightly more than $500,000,000.

The committee voted in a special meeting last night to go into executive session to receive the revised budget, provisions of which still are a closely-guarded secret. The group explained reporters could attend but no details of the spending program could be published until the full committee gave a go-ahead.

The special committee scheduled to turn over the report has worked since March 2 redrafting the original $459,500,000 budget proposal to include the most vital of requests for additions totaling nearly $81,500,000.

GETS FAVORABLE REPORT The bill that determines the State's earning power for General Fund purposes was reported favorably in the House last night by Rep. E. T. Bost, Jr., of Cabarrus, co-chairman of the Joint Finance committee.

Officials of the Revenue Department have estimated it will earn $292,753,000 for the General Fund during the coming two fiscal years.

Income of the Highway and Agriculture funds were expected to boost total state income to $450,962,000, with the excess in spending to come from the unspent General Fund balance at the end of the current fiscal year.

But Sen. J. Hampton Price, Finance Committee co-chairman, has estimated that the General Fund income will be $35,000,000 to $38,000,000 above the original estimates.

In addition, the latest revenue report for the current fiscal year indicated that the State will begin the new biennium with a credit balance more than twice as great as anticipated. That meant (Continued on Page Five)

ROK Units Take Village 3 Miles Above Frontier

TOKYO, March 27—(P)—South Korean troops struck deeper into North Korea in force today from captured Kaunpo, three miles north of the 38th Parallel.

The republican troops pushed up the east coast highway after the first mass crossing of the old communist frontier since the Allied retreat into South Korea last December.

The brief South Korean announcement of the fall of Kaunpo gave no details, but the village was believed to have been captured yesterday. There was no mention of any communist resistance.

The South Koreans were advancing along the same highway they followed all the way to Chongjin, some 250 miles north of the Parallel and only 55 miles from the Soviet Siberian frontier, last winter.

ADVANCE CAUTIOUSLY This time, however, they were expected to advance much more cautiously to protect their flank. There was no expectation they would go more than a few miles into North Korea at present.

An 8th Army spokesman scoffed at reports the South Koreans were defying the United Nations command with a headlong plunge across the Parallel. All their advances have been on orders from Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, commander of the 8th Army.

Other 8th Army forces were on or within artillery range of the old frontier between South and Communist North Korea all across the 140-mile-wide peninsula.

Front dispatches indicated the Communists were throwing up new defenses or delaying positions at key spots ranging from just south of the border in the west to north of it in the east.

The Reds apparently were planning to make their strongest stand in the west, at the road running from Seoul, capital of South Korea, to Pyongyang, capital of Red Korea.

Rear guards of the Chinese 26th Army launched a company-sized counter-attack against the advancing Allies some 11 miles north of Uijongbu on the easternmost Seoul-Pyongyang highway early today.

However, it was easily repulsed and seven prisoners were taken. The action took place about seven to eight miles south of the 38th Parallel.

First T-41 Tank Rolls Off Line

CLEVELAND, O., March 27—(P)—The first tank produced by a civilian company since World War II began rolling off the work lines here today, three months ahead of schedule.

The tank is the light T-41, and is named for the late Gen. Walton H. Walker, killed in a Jeep accident last December in Korea where he commanded the 8th Army.

The "Walker Bulldog" is the first new tank to be designed for the Army since the last war.

Described by Army Secretary Frank Pace, Jr., as a tank that will "outright, outgun, and outmaneuver anything of its class in the world," the Bulldog weighs 26 tons and has a new type high-muzzle velocity 76-MM gun.

The tank is being built by the Cadillac Division of General Motors Corp. at the World War II bomber plant at the Cleveland Airport.

Cadillac announced as top Army brass from Washington and Detroit toured the facilities that 14,000 machines, tools and miscellaneous equipment were needed to produce the tank; 300 miles of blue prints were made; 20,000 purchase orders were issued and 1400 sub-contractors produced items for the Bulldog.

The Overbys sat with Harnett Representative Carson Gregory in chairs placed back of the one Gregory occupies.

On motion of Gregory, the Overbys were given courtesies of the lobby by House Speaker Frank Taylor. Overby also was given courtesies of the floor as a former member.
