Britain Admits Sending War Goods To Chinese Communists

Corporations' Share In Tax Burden Studied

WASHINGTON, May 10—The House Ways and Means Committee started figuring out today what share of the increased tax burden shall be borne by corporations.

The tax framers yesterday recommended that an additional $3,000,000,000 be loaded on individual income taxes to bring them to the highest level of World War II.

Mr. Truman also asked that corporation taxes be boosted by $3,000,000,000 more a year and another $3,000,000,000 be raised in excise taxes and closing tax loopholes.

Mr. Truman apparently is not going to get all he wants for the defense program.

In Other Congressional Developments: Agriculture—City Congressmen were set to turn the tables on their rural associates by advocating economy on farm appropriations.

Churchill Hits Appeasement In Conduct Of War

LONDON, May 10—The government today admitted sending $357,000,000 worth of goods to Communist China since the Korean War began.

Churchill, World War II Prime Minister, told the House of Commons that Britain's continued diplomatic recognition of Communist China has become "illogical" and is making it difficult for the Western Allies to form a clear and strong policy in the Orient.

He spoke shortly after Sir Hartley Shawcross, president of the Board of Trade, revealed that Great Britain has exported $357,000,000 worth of strategic and other goods to Communist China since the Korean War started last June.

DAMAGED RELATIONS — Churchill accused the Labor Government of damaging Anglo-American relations and impeding the safety of free nations by failing to reach agreement with the United States on the Far East.

Well-informed sources said last night that both government and opposition leaders are using top-level officials of Britain to meet with the United States to smooth over relations between the two countries.

These sources said that British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison may visit Washington soon in an attempt to reach a complete agreement.

Churchill demanded an embargo on rubber shipments from British colonies to Communist China. He also criticized the government for allowing its trade with China to show an immense and significant.

HOME FROM KOREA IN TIME TO CELEBRATE — Lt. Elton G. Brooks, whose unit was the first to enter the Korean war and who won a battlefield promotion after 120 continuous days on the firing line, finally got a break.

Korean War Is No Police Action, Dunn Officer Says

Anybody who thinks the Korean war is just a "police action" ought to have a talk with Lt. Elton G. Brooks of Dunn, who has just flown home from the thick of the fighting.

After being driven back twice by the Reds and seeing them slaughter his buddies all around him—and wondering how in the world he managed to stay alive—Lt. Brooks has some pretty good first-hand knowledge.

He ought to know. And he does. The good-natured Nebraskan who married the former Ruth Anderson, local nurse, Lt. Brooks had a wonderful time last night celebrating their tenth wedding anniversary.

Today's suit, filed by Attorney Everett L. Doffermyre, was brought by Mrs. Mae Leopold of Astoria, Long Island, New York and asks for $30,000 damages.

General Was Fired To Head Off Confusion, Conflict In Command

WASHINGTON, May 10—Defense Secretary George C. Marshall said today the administration considered leaving Gen. Douglas MacArthur in charge of Japan but decided it would be "most unwise" because of possible "conflict" with the Korean War command.

Marshall told senators investigating the dismissal of MacArthur from all his Far Eastern commands that "confusion" would have resulted if the general had been continued as occupation chief while being shorn of his war responsibilities.

So all of MacArthur's jobs were handed over to Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway.

Testifying for the fourth straight day before the Senate Armed Services-Foreign Relations Committee, Marshall was asked by Sen. H. Alexander Smith, R. N. J., if consideration was given to "the inevitable adverse" effect of MacArthur's discharge upon the Japanese.

Marshall said it was "carefully considered" and he conceded that MacArthur's "prestige with the Japanese people" could "not be duplicated, certainly in a short time, by any other individual."

But "the feeling was, and decision finally was," Marshall said, "that it would be most unwise to Chinese and Korean Reds offered only sporadic rear-guard resistance to the cautious UN Army advance. Fuzhou UN commanders wondered whether the communists were in the final phase of the spring offensive that they had abandoned plans for a second blow.

An 8th Army communique reported that the Reds lost another 2,195 dead and wounded yesterday, plus 65 prisoners, bringing their casualties since the start of the offensive to well over 80,000.

The communique said only one large enemy concentration was spotted ahead of UN troops today. The force was hit from the north of Seoul and some 10 to 12 miles south of the parallel.

NEW AIR STRIKES MADE — The Far East Air Forces followed up yesterday's record 312-plane raid on the camouflaged communist air base at Sinuiju with new attacks on enemy air and rail facilities.

By mid-day, the 5th Air Force alone had flown 275 sorties. Its fighters and fighter-bombers hit railway yards at Sonchon, Chunchwa and the Communist Capital, Pyongyang, destroying or damaging one locomotive and 84 loaded boxcars.

B-29 Superfortresses at the same time dumped 100 tons of bombs on the enemy airfield at Hamhung on the northeast coast.
