PROGRESS MADE ON PEACE TALK AGENDA

Martial Law Is Clamped On Capital Of Iran

TEHRAN—(P)—The government clamped martial law on Tehran today after communist riots in which 15 persons were killed. Pro-communist organizations were ordered closed.

The riots came as W. Averell Harriman, President Truman's personal envoy, arrived here to try to start negotiations between Great Britain and Iran to solve the oil nationalization crisis.

Police reported only four persons killed in the riots. But a United Press check of hospitals showed the total to be 15 with three other persons near death. The total of injured was given as 353.

RED TROOPS ON BORDER Reports Soviet troops were concentrating on Iran's northeastern border added to the tension in the capital. Usually reliable sources said truckloads of Red troops had been moved into the Russian border town of Astara. A Soviet warship was said to be anchored in the Caspian Sea off Astara.

Helmeted troops stood guard outside the home of Premier Mohammed Mossadegh this morning when Harriman arrived to start his negotiations.

Attempt To Kill Controls Pledged

WASHINGTON—(P)—Rep. Albert W. Cole, R-Kan., said today he will attempt to kill all wage-price controls even though "the Republican House leadership favors their extension."

Cole expected his move to get "substantial support" from Democrats and Republicans although he did not "at the present time" see enough backing to ensure passage of his no-controls amendment. Cole's statement was made as the House resumed debate on the controls legislation and a leading Republican predicted wage-price controls would be extended with the support of "countless Republicans."

"DELIBERATE" CAMPAIGN Rep. Jesse P. Wolcott, R-Mich., complained that a "deliberate" campaign is underway to mislead people into thinking that a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats is "sabotaging" wage-price controls by their vote against "administration" proposals contained in the bill.

Grandchild Of Dr. Cuthrell Electrocuted

Dr. and Mrs. George Cuthrell of Dunn were called to Corinth, Mississippi during the week-end because of the death of their grandson, Robert Munger, 15-month-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Bernard Munger of Corinth.

The child, only grandson of the Cuthrells, was electrocuted Friday morning by a defective cord on a washing machine. Other details were not known here.

Dr. Munger before going to Corinth served as pastor of the Congregational Christian Church at Chapel Hill.

Dr. Cuthrell is pastor of Hood Memorial Christian Church and is also president of the Dunn Ministerial Association and president of the North Carolina Disciples of Christ.

HOME IS DYNAMITED — Photographs above show the home of W. S. 'Doc' Reid, which was dynamited by a dynamite blast Friday night, and a picture of the Crucifixion which was the only bit of furnishing in Reid's bedroom to escape untouched. Allen Newton, 48, also of Fuquay, Rt. 2, has been released under bond to face trial for the dynamiting. The blast was set off directly under the bedroom in which Reid, his son Edward, 18, and daughter Frances, 10, were sleeping. None of the family, including daughter Margaret 13, who was sleeping in an adjoining room, was injured. (Daily Record photos by T. M. Stewart.)

Threat Preceded Midnight Dynamite Blast Which Wrecked Home But Spared 4 Lives

Hearing Is Set On Rape Charge

Two teen-age boys and the mother of a 12-year-old girl one of the boys allegedly raped will face a hearing in Harnett County Recorder's court tomorrow.

William Fowler, 18, of near Dunn is charged with raping the young girl three times during a drinking spree which took him, a friend, the girl and her mother on a tour of Harnett, Bladen and Moore counties.

Arthur Wood, Jr., 18, also of near Dunn, and the girl's mother are charged as accessories to the crime.

HELD WITHOUT BOND All three defendants are being held in Harnett County Jail in Lillington without bond.

They were arrested on a warrant sworn out by Miss Frances Worrell, county child welfare case-worker, on information and belief following a talk between Miss Worrell and the girl.

According to Deputy Sheriff Ken Matthews, who talked to the boys, they were alleged to have assaulted the girl three separate times.

All four persons involved were touring the three counties in an automobile. The child, whose parents are separated, attempted to escape in Angler to see her father.

SPEND SUNDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wellbourne and little daughter Lucy Kay spent Sunday at Wrightsville Beach.

Trouble between an 18-year-old farm boy and his 48-year-old employer may have led to the dynamite blast which wrecked the six-room home of Farmer W. S. "Doc" Reid of Fuquay, Rt. 2, Friday night, but miraculously left the four occupants unharmed.

Reid said today that Allen Newton, 48, of Fuquay, Rt. 2, charged with the dynamiting, threatened a few hours before the midnight blast was set off to "get" his son, Edward Reid.

Reid, his son Edward and two daughters, Margaret, 13, and Frances, 10, escaped almost unscathed when a charge of dynamite—containing possibly 15 sticks of the explosive—was set off around 12:20 p. m. Friday under the home occupied by them on the farm of Mrs. W. A. Johnson, also of Fuquay, Rt. 2.

HOUSE WRECKED

The frame house, in which Reid and his three children had been living for about a year, was almost totally wrecked. Floors were blasted loose, the ceiling crashed in and the chimney was toppled.

The main force of the blast registered right under the bedroom in which Reid, Edward and Frances were sleeping. A dresser placed in the room disappeared completely in the shambles, said Reid.

The blast left the four Reids homeless, the father said, since the inside of the house is completely wrecked. At present the father and three children are living with his employer, Mrs. Johnson.

Town Will Get Safety Award

The Town of Dunn went through 1950 without a single fatal accident and that safety record will be properly rewarded, Mayor Ralph E. Hanna announced today.

Harvey D. Jones of Raleigh, State Director of Public Safety, will come to Dunn Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock and will present a safety award plaque commemorating the year of safe driving to city officials.

The town had an abundance of accidents on its streets during 1950, but none of them proved fatal.

Mayor Hanna extended to the public a cordial invitation to attend this ceremony.

LIBRARY CLOSED The Dunn Public Library will be closed each Wednesday afternoon through July and August.

which hung by a slender cotton thread on the wall at the head of Reid's bed.

Newton was arrested Saturday by Harnett Sheriff W. E. "Bill" Salmon and charged with the dynamiting. He was later freed under $3,000 bond.

According to Reid, his son, who expects to be called into Army service, had been living at Newton's home and had helped him with his tobacco crop. He quit, however, and came home to live.

CAME TO REID HOME

Early Friday night Newton came to the Reid home to discuss Edward's stopping work, said Reid. According to Reid, Newton seemed to believe that Edward's father had told him to quit. This Reid said he denied during the conversation with Newton.

Newton left before Edward returned from Fuquay, where he had gone to see a movie, Reid stated. Before leaving, however, the blast victim said, Newton threatened to "get" Edward.

Negro Girl Dies In Auto Wreck

Dr. J. H. Eyerly, Lee County coroner, said today that a 15-year-old Negro girl, Yvonne Pearson of Broadway, Rt. 1, died Sunday in Lee County Hospital following an automobile accident late Saturday at the Lee-Harnett County line on the Sanford Highway.

The girl was a passenger in a car driven by a Negro soldier of Fort Bragg. The car and a truck were both going toward Sanford, and the car swerved too close to the truck in attempting to pass it. It hit the truck while just inside of the Harnett County line, then traveled 340 feet, tore down the county line marker, then went 50 feet farther and struck a tree.

DRIVER UNHURT

The car was completely demolished. The driver of the car walked away unhurt. The truck driver also escaped without injury.

Two other passengers in the car were also given hospital treatment. They were Clinton Pearson, cuts and bruises, and Betty Lee, possibly fractured right shoulder severe cuts.

Patrolman R. B. Leonard today was seeking a hit-and-run driver. (Continued on Page Eight)

Fire Hoses Run Dry While Blaze Sweeps Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — (P)—Firemen ran out of water today while fighting an uncontrolled fire fed by 1,000,000 gallons of oil floating on the turbulent waters of the city's worst flood.

Twelve companies of firemen had been pumping up flood water to fight the fire that has destroyed eight business blocks of 24 buildings and 20 huge oil and gasoline tanks in four days.

But today their pumps choked with muck from the flood-dirty water mains.

FUEL TANKS EXPLODE Sixteen tanks of fuel oil blew up last night in the Kansas-Missouri state line industrial area where the fire is raging. One held 500,000 gallons of fuel oil and another 300,000 gallons. Ten 30,000-gallon tanks and four 10,000-gallon tanks also exploded.

City officials closed off 300 square blocks in the downtown Kansas

City, Mo., business area as a fire hazard.

The flood which has inundated 1,000 blocks in the twin Kansas Cities, was ebbing here at about an inch an hour today as the crest moved down the Missouri River toward St. Louis.

FLOOD CREST RETREATS

Fire Director Francis Wornall hoped that an oil slick which has been igniting and setting off new fires would soon float away.

Although the flooding Missouri River runs at Kansas City, had retreated more than four feet from its high water mark at 5 a. m. Saturday, Kansas City was nearly paralyzed by the fire, an acute shortage of drinking water and forced unemployment.

As the flood moves downstream more persons were expected to flee their homes and join the 500,000 homeless in Missouri and Kansas.

Pearsall Services Held Here Sunday

Funeral services were held here Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home for William McK. Pearsall, Sr., 60, prominent Dunn business man and member of a pioneer Dunn family.

Mr. Pearsall had been ill for several weeks and died Friday afternoon in Duke Hospital at Durham.

The services were held at the home on West Pearsall street. The Rev. Richard Rhea Gammon, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, and the Rev. Joyce V. Early, pastor of Divine Street Methodist Church, officiated. Burial was in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mr. Pearsall, owner and operator of Sash Door and Millwork Company, was a native and lifelong resident of Dunn. He was the son of the late James A. and Adna McKay Pearsall.

He attended Dunn's public schools and also graduated from Davidson College.

WAS CHURCH LEADER

For many years, Mr. Pearsall's company, furniture manufacturer, was connected with the Newberry Brothers and Owell Manufacturing concern. That was before he established his own business.

A leader in the Dunn Presbyterian Church, he had served as the elder in the church for the past 20 years and had also been a deacon and Sunday School superintendent. He was president of his Sunday School class at the time of his death and had held many other positions in the church. Mr. Pearsall was also active in the various business, civic and social activities of the town.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Bessie Ezzell Pearsall; one son, William McKay (Billy) Pearsall, Jr., of Dunn; and one brother, Robert J. Pearsall of Raleigh.

Work Begun On Poultry Plant

Within another six weeks, this big agricultural section will have a new industry.

Two Dunn business men, Charles Wade and J. Leon Godwin, announced today that construction has started on remodeling a building for a poultry processing plant.

The plant will be located in the building formerly occupied by the Safeway Suburban Bus Lines on North Clinton Avenue.

This is a big poultry-producing region and this will be Dunn's first poultry-processing plant. Establishment of the plant here is also expected to do much to encourage farmers to produce still more poultry.

WILL MEAN MUCH TO DUNN The Chamber of Commerce and various business leaders of the town are behind the project and Manager Joe McCullers pointed out today that the new industry will mean much not only to Dunn, but to Harnett, Johnston, Cumberland and Sampson counties. It will serve all of these counties.

In addition to providing farmers a year-round market for their poultry, the plant will also provide fresh chickens daily for markets, restaurants and consumers in this section.

The plant is being built strictly according to the strict rules and requirements of the State Board of Health and nothing but the most modern and most sanitary equipment is being installed. The plant will be free from odors and all other undesirable elements.

Mr. Godwin has operated the Dunn Hatchery here for years, but the two businesses will be operated separately and independently. Mr. Wade is also a well-known business man.

At the beginning, the plant will employ about a dozen people.

Communists Rush 27 New Divisions To Korean Front

8TH ARMY HQ, Korea — (P)—The Communists have rushed at least 27 divisions to the Korean front, building their battle force to an estimated 720,000 men, since cease-fire talks began, the 8th Army announced today.

United Nations troops pounded enemy lines throughout the week to keep Red troops off balance for any possible "doublecross" attack during the true negotiations. But the communist rear areas were clogged with men and supplies moving up to the battle line.

An 8th Army briefing officer said the Reds had built their offensive potential from an estimated 45 to 72 divisions since June 1. Communist divisions in Korea number about 10,000 men each.

ALLIES DUG IN

Most of the Red reinforcements were thrown into the eastern front, where U. N. soldiers dug-in today on newly won high ground after a three-day offensive which drove communist troops back more than seven miles toward their key supply and communications hub at Kumsong.

U. N. troops were ready for anything the Reds might throw at them. Patrols plunged aggressively into enemy territory to keep up the pressure aimed at knocking the Reds off balance despite their

Fourth Meeting Of Allied, Red Teams Cordial

By Earnest Hoberecht UP Staff Correspondent

Tuesday—(P)—United Nations and communist negotiators Monday made "some progress" toward agreement on a program for formal Korean war cease-fire talks and agreed to meet again today.

The Allied and Red teams talked for one hour and 50 minutes in their fourth and shortest cease-fire meeting in Kaesong in an atmosphere of considerable cordiality. "Some progress was made toward the formation of a mutually agreed upon agenda," a UN communiqué said.

AGREEMENT FULFILLED

"The Communists have fulfilled their agreement with respect to the neutrality of the conference site in that no armed personnel were observed."

The guardedly optimistic tone of Monday's communiqué increased speculation that a cease-fire agreement may not be too far distant.

But it was emphasized that agreement is still to come on the program for formal negotiation of a cease-fire. Some believe the major difficulties will be over when the program is agreed upon, others that the difficulties will only start when the firm negotiations begin.

A UN spokesman said the fifth cease-fire conference will be held at 11 a. m. Tuesday (8 p. m. Monday EST.)

The conference was opened by Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief of the UN team, who presented "further arguments in favor of the item on the agenda proposed by the United Nations command." There was no official explanation of the agenda recommendations made by the U. N.

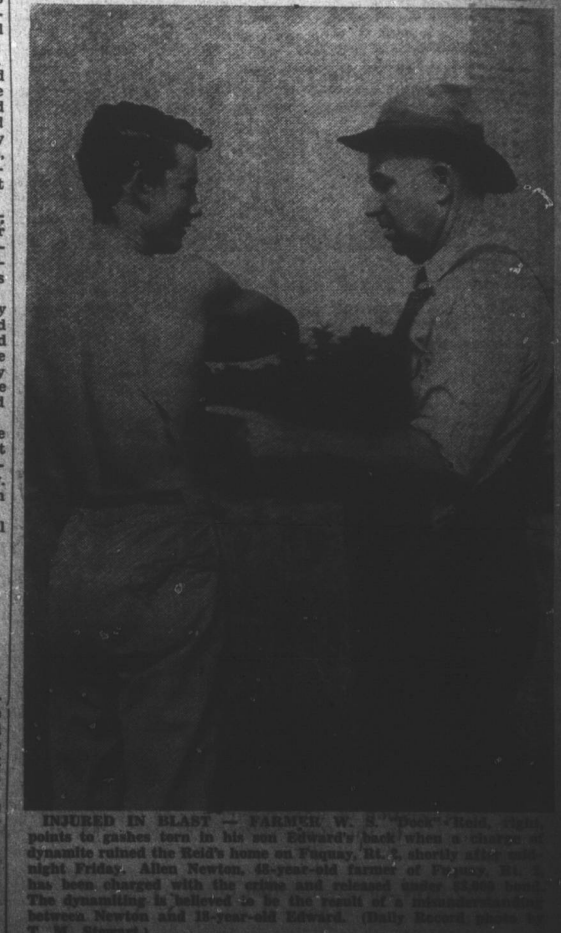

OUTLINES UN VIEWS

The communiqué said Joy spent the "best part" of the morning session outlining UN views. After 55 minutes of discussions, a Communist orderly rushed from the building and called for jeeps. The five Communist delegates stalked out quickly, scowling and drove off.

Gen. Nam Il, chief Communist negotiator, hopped into his Russian-made jeep while it was still moving. He looked angry.

The Reds had asked a two-hour recess in the meeting to discuss the UN arguments privately and when the session reconvened Nam Il took the floor to present his teams' reaction.
