DRUG SALES IN HOSPITAL WAITING ROOM EXPOSED

A DRUG SALES BUSINESS conducted in the main waiting room of New York City's Bellevue Hospital is smashed by police, who had posed as orderlies, doctors and laborers to watch the alleged $500,000 a year operation. At left, Mariano Rubino holds the leash of his dog as he covers his face when escorted by a detective. Later, at a police station, Rubino (right), a drug addict, collapses on the floor after pleading for an injection. His alleged partner, Arthur Ricardi, sits in a chair yawning. Both were held for questioning. (International)

Drive Chairmen Are Announced

RALEIGH—Names of temporary county chairmen in the "Nickels for Know-How" campaign were announced today by E. Y. Floyd chairman of the Referendum Subcommittee of the Agricultural Foundations, Inc.

The chairmen are making arrangements for county-wide meetings to be held simultaneously in all counties on the night of Sept. 7. At that time permanent county organizations will be set up and details of the campaign will be explained to farmers throughout the State.

"Nickels for Know-How" is the slogan selected for the special referendum on November 3 when farmers will vote on a proposal to contribute five cents per ton on all feeds and fertilizers they buy. If approved by a two-thirds majority, the plan will be effective for three years. Proceeds, amounting to $124,000 or more annually, will be used for promoting agricultural research, teaching and extension. The referendum will be held under authority of an enabling act passed by the 1951 General Assembly. The North Carolina State Grants, North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation, and the Agricultural Foundations, Inc., are charged with the responsibility of conducting the balloting. Names of temporary chairmen in this area are:

Harnett: Carson Gregory, Angler; Johnston: Mrs. Callie C. Hardwick, home agent, Smithfield; Sampson: C. M. Butler, Clinton, Rt. 1, and E. C. Walker, Ingot; Cumberland: Troy A. Fisher, Fayetteville, Rt. 5; and Lee: K. B. Harmon, county agent, Sanford.

North Carolina has three national forest—Pisgah and Nantahala in the mountains and Croatan on the coast. Their combined acreage is 2,201,813.

Truist and Luck are villages within 3 miles of one another on N. C. Highway 109 between Waynesville and Hot Springs, North Carolina.

Well-Raised Gilt Gives Big Litters

RALEIGH—When a gilt pig is of good stock, is given plenty of good feed, and is managed properly, chances are she will develop into a large sow capable of producing outstanding litters, believes T. L. Pinnix, Negro farmer of Reidsville, Rt. 1.

Pinnix, who lives in the Locust Hill section of Caswell County, bought a Tamworth gilt for his son Raymond about 18 months ago. Raymond, a 4-H Club and New Farmers of America member, has been carrying projects for several years. He is now a student at Caswell County Training School, enrolled in vocational agriculture.

According to E. B. T. Carraway, Negro county agent in Caswell for the State College Extension Service, Pinnix seeded a two-acre hay pasture in the fall of 1950. The pasture furnished ample grazing for Raymond's gilt and other livestock on the farm this season.

The gilt, bred to a registered boar last April farrowed a litter of 14 pigs during the latter part of August.

All of the pigs are doing nicely. Raymond has put two of them on bottle.

A lightweight concrete suitable for farm use is the goal of a research project now being conducted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in cooperation with other institutions.
