Bible Discourse Slated Sunday

A free Bible discourse for the public will be delivered at 3 p. m. Sunday in the Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's witnesses at N. McKay Ave. and Granville St. The subject, "With All Thy Getting Get Understanding," will be delivered by an ordained minister of Jehovah's witnesses, F. R. Eldridge, who has had over 30 years experience in ministering to the people from coast to coast in the United States.

This public address is part of a world-wide Bible educational campaign now being sponsored by Jehovah's witnesses to encourage more study of the Bible among persons of all beliefs. The work of the witnesses is non-denominational and is designed to assist every one in getting a clearer understanding of the Bible's true teachings.

Thursday night Eldridge spoke to a large audience on the subject, "Our Place in God's Organization," and said, "Jehovah's witnesses do not think that all other persons are 'goats.' They take the attitude that every person they call upon wants to serve God. They leave all judgment of individuals to God. Their viewpoint is this: There may be many more good-will persons yet to take a stand for the Kingdom than there are Jehovah's witnesses at present."

Jehovah's witnesses believe that these are now the "last days" and that the destructive powers of God will soon sweep through the earth to annihilate completely all forms of wickedness. The total world destruction is called the "Battle of Armageddon," and only the righteous will be saved from its fury, they assert. Eldridge will complete his series of discourses here with a talk on "Pleasing Jehovah," in which he will show what is required of each one to receive protection and safety at the "Battle of Armageddon."

F. N. McLamb extends a hearty welcome to all to hear these discourses Sunday at 3 p. m. and 4:15 p. m., and points out that Eldridge will be glad to answer questions on the Bible privately after his talks.

Allies Inflict

munist troops who gave up Bloody Ridge and the hills above the holy-contested "Punchbowl" Valley streamed northward and an Allied officer said there were reports of many Communist desertions and assassinations of Red officers.

The western front assault cost the enemy at least 400 counted dead and 23 prisoners in addition to an estimated 1,500 wounded while warplanes knocked out at least five of the Russian-built T-34 tanks aiding the Red attack.

VEHICLES DESTROYED

Despite the setbacks on the western and eastern ends of the Korean war front, the Reds were desperately jamming supply trucks and carts through a day-and-night U. N. air blockade. Thursday's non-stop air patrols destroyed or damaged a record 857 enemy vehicles, to bring their 12-day toll of enemy trucking to 5,687.

One of the war's biggest air strikes against enemy troop concentrations also came Thursday when Navy planes from the USS Boxer ripped a column of 3,000 Reds southwest of Majon-no, 15 miles due west of the Communist east coast port of Wonsan. At least 100 soldiers were killed.

In the accident in which Brown collided with a car driven by the Lillington teacher, there were no witnesses outside the parties involved. Highway Patrolman George Carroll, who made the investigation, testified he arrived several minutes after the accident occurred.

He drew a diagram on the floor of the courtroom showing where he found the cars at the intersection of Ninth and Killgrew streets. At the time Miss Edwards had been thrown from the car in which she was riding and died in an ambulance on the way to a Raleigh hospital.

NO OTHERS HURT

No others involved in the accident suffered serious injuries. Miss Fortenbacher testified she was returning to the teacherage, going west on Killgrew, and that it was not until she was hit that she saw Brown's car, which had approached on Ninth St. and was headed south.

Carroll said the right rear of the Fortenbacher car was hit, which seemed to indicate to him that the teacher's car was in the intersection first.

The officer said that when he pedaled down to the floor. But examined Brown's car the brake on testing he found the brakes were not affected. Brown, represented by A. R. Taylor and J. R. Young, did not take the stand.

OTHERS INVITED

Others invited to attend, but from whom no definite answer has yet been received, were Earl Ragan, managing editor of The Raleigh News and Observer, Bill Sharpe and Carl Goerch of Raleigh, co-owners of The State magazine.

Master of ceremonies for the Chamber of Commerce-sponsored celebration will be former Mayor L. L. Levinson. On his reception committee, which was detailed to welcome the governor and his party, will be Mayor Ed Johnson and Dr. C. W. Sanders.

Around $400 in cash prizes will be offered in the various contests, and ribbons will be awarded at a horse show to be held Saturday and Sunday at the ball park. The horse show will begin each day at 3 p. m., and over 50 entries are expected to compete.

Another new feature this year in addition to the horse show will be a wood-chopping contest, to be staged Saturday at 10 a. m. Mintz pointed out that professional woodchoppers will not be allowed to compete. Contestants may use axes of their own choice.

Choppers must register at the D and S Hardware Store in Benson by 8 a. m. Saturday.

Chamber Manager Mintz stated that "the whole idea behind Mule Day is to show that the Benson Chamber of Commerce and civic-minded citizens want to express their appreciation to farmers of the Benson trading area for their business and the good will that exists between the two groups."

"This event is a sort of harvest festival," he added, "as well as a token of appreciation for the business which we've had from the farmers during the year."

Music for various events marked on the program will be furnished by a number of bands and orchestra from towns and cities in the Benson area. Woody Hayes and his orchestra, Homer Briarhopper and the Smile-A-White Boys will provide music at the street dance tonight.
