REDS ALLEGE VIOLATIONS

Ridgway Makes Guarantees On Neutrality

TOKYO — The Communists charged the United Nations with a new violation of the Kaesong neutral zone Tuesday night, instead of accepting the offer of Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway to resume cease-fire talks.

A message radiote from the Red commander at Kaesong to the U. N. cease-fire base near Munsu in Korea alleged that four U. N. soldiers had invaded the neutral zone in the vicinity of Pan Mun Jom below Kaesong.

The Reds asked that U. N. liaison officers meet their liaison officers at Pan Mun Jom at 9 a. m. Wednesday 7 p. m. Tuesday EST, and it was announced at once that the Allied liaison men would be there.

PRESS BARRED

It was announced at the cease-fire base that no press representatives would be permitted to accompany the U. N. liaison officers to Pan Mun Jom. The order, it was said, came direct from Ridgway's headquarters.

Asked if it were possible that the Reds had captured four U. N. prisoners and accused them of being neutrality violators, U. N. spokesmen refused to comment.

The U. N. command offered Tuesday to put guarantees of Kaesong's neutrality into writing if the Reds agreed to resume negotiations.

Iran Rushes Barter Deal With Russia

TEHRAN, Iran — (UP) — Iranian officials said today they are preparing to rush through a barter deal with Russia to counteract Britain's economic crackdown on their nation.

A trade delegation already has been appointed, they said, and will leave no time in signing a pact with Moscow for scarce products cut off by Britain.

Deputy Premier Hossain Fatemi said last week-end that Russia had offered the materials. Only two days earlier, Britain cut off shipments of scarce goods to Iran in retaliation for Iran's nationalizing Britain's oil interests.

DOUBLE-BARRELED EFFORT
 The moves were regarded here as a double-barreled Communist effort to help Iran over the British economic boycott and to block Iran from reaching any oil agreement with Britain.

Authoritative sources in London, meanwhile, viewed Iran's economic flirtations with Iron Curtain nations as a final trump card to intimidate Britain into bowing on the oil dispute.

Such threats, they said, would fall flat. London sources doubted that Iran would be physically able to barter oil for Soviet goods because of the virtual impossibility of getting the oil to Russia. The Soviets have neither the tanker fleet nor overland transport required for any large scale shipments in the near future.

Mundt's Plan Is Picking Up

WASHINGTON — Sen. Karl E. Mundt's plan for an "alliance" of Republicans and Southern Democrats were picking up steam today.

The South Dakota Republican reported that 109 representatives from 17 states had chosen a special committee to "explore" means of uniting Republicans and Southern Democrats who think alike.

Mundt disclosed at a news conference late yesterday that the group met secretly for three days last weekend. He said the group will not support presidential candidates, although some of the delegates favor Sen. Robert A. Taft R-O. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

NAMES NOT DISCLOSED
 The senator told reporters he could not reveal the names of the delegates, but that they included several congressmen of each party are "interested" in the movement, but that he could not identify them because of "political realities."

Four other names were mentioned: Sen. Owen Brewster (R-Me.) were the only members of Congress at the meeting. Mundt long has led an anti-

GI Given Fortune Plans To Re-enlist

CAMP FOLK, La. — A corporal stationed at Camp Folk base hospital today claimed to be a prospective heir to $250,000 but said the inheritance will not change his plan to re-enlist.

Cpl. Marcus D. Dickson, 23, of Chattanooga, Tenn., said he was told of the possibility in a letter from his grandmother, Mrs. L. C. Dickson, also of Chattanooga.

The city bespectacled male nurse said he had been named one of 25 heirs to get equal share of the $250,000 and cattle estate of Will Hamilton, of Texas and California.

NOT DEFINITE
 "Nothing definite yet," Cpl. Dickson insisted. "I just got word I'm sitting here waiting."

In Chattanooga, Dickson said, Mrs. Oma Dickson said the only information she had was the word of an attorney who had visited Chattanooga saying he was searching for heirs, then left.

Miss Dickson said the attorney contacted no one but the grandmother, and gave her the details, but this was the only part of the letter to the corporal.

Cpl. Dickson not only has a wife and two children, but also a large family in the money any time now.

TWENTY-EIGHT YEARS IS A LONG TIME—That's what Louis Baer, left, and Carl Warren, right, were saying to each other when this picture was made this morning at the New Louis Baer Department Store in Dunn. They're preparing for the grand formal opening of the beautiful new department store on Thursday morning. Mr. Warren helped Mr. Baer unpack when the local merchant came to Dunn more than 28 years ago and has been with him ever since. Opening of the new and enlarged store will be a big event for both of them. Other news about the big Baer opening will be found throughout today's issue of The Record. (Daily Record photo by T. M. ## Louis Baer's New Store Set For Gala Opening Thursday

The New Louis Baer Department Store, doubled in size, completely remodeled, redecorated and modernized, will hold its formal opening here Thursday morning at 9 o'clock.

Louis Baer, who founded the firm here more than 28 years ago, and manager Dave Kimmel said this morning that everything is in readiness for the gala opening.

HUGE CROWDS ARE EXPECTED
 The three-day opening celebration is expected to be the biggest trade event ever staged by an individual business firm in the history of the town.

Remodeling and enlargement of the popular Dunn department store started early in April and about six months have been spent on the project. Workmen were busy today putting the finishing touches on the beautiful new shopping emporium. The expansion program began when the company took over the next door building formerly occupied by the Carolina Power & Light Co.

No effort or expense has been spared to make the opening a big success.

ORCHIDS, OTHER GIFTS
 Orchids from Hawaii are being flown in this week for the opening, and the first 200 ladies who visit the store on Thursday, Friday and Saturday morning will receive one of these beautiful orchids as a gift.

Noise Complaints Heard By Officials

A delegation of Dunn citizens appeared before the city council last night and protested that employees of Bell Bakeries are making too much noise in unloading and loading bread at the company's warehouse on Wayne Avenue in the middle of the night.

The warehouse is located in a residential area and the neighbors reported that the bread arrives during the night and is unloaded from a huge van into the warehouse and later loaded into trucks.

CAMPBELL IS SPOKESMAN
 "We just can't get any sleep because they keep so much noise," declared Walter Campbell, who acted as spokesman for those with him and for other neighbors.

Accompanying Campbell to the meeting were: Bill Bryan, R. H. Godwin and Ed Black.

Mayor Ralph E. Hanna and the councilmen instructed City Manager Oliver O. Manning to contact the Bell employees and to ask their cooperation toward the end that residents can get their sleep.

VACATION PAY DENIED
 A number of other matters came before the board.
