SITUATION IN IRAN GROWING MORE TENSE

TOBACCO STILL SELLING HIGH — Tobacco is still selling high on the Dunn market. This picture was made this morning as another big sale was in progress at Buck Curran's Big-4 Warehouse. Tom Smith can be seen to the right of pole wearing hat and holding tobacco in his hand and Buck Curran is just behind him. There were plenty of $70 and $71 piles today and several at $78. Senate Debate On Tax Bill Ready To Begin

WASHINGTON — (UP)—The Senate expected to start debating a $6,000,000,000 tax increase bill late today or tomorrow with an administration bloc trying to add another $1,000,000,000.

The bill reported the finance committee late yesterday was awaiting consideration behind a series of votes on other legislation involving air mail subsidies. The time needed for the small measure made it unlikely that the tax debate would begin before tomorrow.

Starting tomorrow, the Senate will convene daily at 10 a. m. two hours earlier than usual, until the tax bill is passed. A Saturday session also is probable this week.

Senator Hubert H. Humphrey D. Minn., member of a group which has been drafting amendments to the finance committee bill, said the bloc hoped to increase the committee version so it would yield at least $7,000,000,000 a year.

NO CHANGES EXPECTED — The outlook was dim, however, for making any substantial changes if the bill approved by the powerful finance committee.

To a large extent, the administration bloc was planning to fight for House provisions instead of the rewritten version of the finance committee. Two of these involved personal income and excess profits taxes, which would yield substantially more under the bill passed by the House.

OPS Officials Praise Dunn's Business Men

State OPS officials declared today that Dunn business firms have set a new record for compliance with price control regulations, and that Dunn may be used as a pattern elsewhere.

Praise for the Dunn business firms came from Alton G. Murchison, OPS director.

Judge Burgwyn Is Cleared Of Drunken Driving Charge

Police Court Judge T. B. Kingsbury dismissed charges of drunken driving against North Carolina Superior Judge W. R. S. Burgwyn early today after a day-and-night trial that lasted until 1:50 a. m.

HARNETT LAWYERS HELP — Two Harnett lawyers, Everett L. Deffermyre of Dunn and Neill McK. Salmon of Lillington, assisted with the defense of Judge Burgwyn.

Kingsbury acted after the prosecuting attorney, J. S. Pulley, announced that he was convinced Burgwyn was innocent of the charge. The 65-year-old Woodland, N. C., jurist was arrested here June 30 and charged with driving under the influence of intoxicants and leaving the scene of an accident after his car struck a funeral sign on a Franklin street.

Burgwyn said he was suffering a dizzy spell at the time police stopped his car and accused him of being intoxicated.

SIX DOCTORS TESTIFY — Six North Carolina doctors testified that Burgwyn suffers from vertigo, low blood pressure and anemia. Seven non-medical witnesses testified that the judge occasionally appears to be "dizzy or a bit drunk" apparently as a result of his physical condition.

Judge Threatens To Chain Gross, Give Him 100 Years

NEW YORK — (AP)—Bookmaker Harry Gross, screaming accusations at Kings County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz, went on a sit-down strike on the witness stand today.

In a stormy climax to the 20-month investigation of gambling and police protection which has rocked official New York City, the swarthy kingpin bookmaker took the stand and yelled denunciations at the red-faced judge, who formerly was the county's leading criminal attorney.

Twice within his first 45 minutes on the stand, the dapper bookie, his face drawn and twitching and his voice breaking into near sobs, walked off the stand. A bailiff grabbed him and brought him back.

"I'll chain you here with handcuffs, if you don't come back," Judge Leibowitz said.

"You'll sit in that chair for two days if necessary. I'm going to have the district attorney get to the very bottom of this whole outrageous affair."

"I warn you if you refuse to an-

Officials To Attend Baer's Big Opening

Mayor Ralph E. Hanna and other officials of the city and Chamber of Commerce will join shoppers to attend the formal opening of the New Louis Baer Department Store Thursday morning at 9 a. m.

Since the announcement of the opening was made in a special edition of The Daily Record yesterday, messages of congratulations have poured in to Mr. Kimmel, Mr. Baer and to members of their staff.

DOUBLED IN SIZE — The big department store has been doubled in size, completely remodeled, redecorated and stocked to the brim with fall merchandise for this opening.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be a big day for the ladies in particular. Not only will they get a preview at fall fashions, but the first 200 ladies to arrive on each of these days will receive a free orchid.

A huge shipment of these beautiful orchids arrived today from Hawaii and were placed in cold storage for the grand opening tomorrow. There will be a doubling in size, completely remodeled, redecorated and stocked to the brim with fall merchandise for this opening.

Boyle Accused By Former Aide

WASHINGTON — (AP)—William E. Willett, a former RFC director, said today that William M. Boyle Jr. asked him to see people about RFC business on three occasions after Boyle became chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Willett, a member of the RFC board from 1948 until it was abolished in June, said none of the contacts had any connection with the American Lithofold Corp.

He testified before the Senate's permanent investigating committee which is checking into Boyle's dealings with Lithofold.

MEMORY HAZY — Willett's memory was hazy on past RFC contacts by Boyle and the Democratic National Committee. But his daily office records showed that Boyle lined up appointments for other people on at least four occasions in 1949 and 1950. One, on Jan. 8, 1949, was before Boyle became party chairman.

Willett said he could not recall offhand any direct business contacts arranged by Boyle except these in his diary.

He added he could not remember Boyle playing any role at all in connection with the Lithofold loans.

Boyle has admitted receiving fees from Lithofold for legal work early in 1949, but has said they had nothing to do with the company's RFC loans.

ARMY UNITS PACKING TO LEAVE — Soldiers of the 443rd Quartermaster Corps are pictured here as they loaded canvas tents and coverings to be shipped back to their home station at Camp Lee, Va. Colonel Murdeck K. Goodwin, commanding officer of the unit, announced this morning that his unit will leave Dunn next Tuesday as the last to go. The 504th Service Company will leave on Friday and the 563rd and the 443rd will depart Tuesday, leaving the area without troops. There are now only 750 troops in the Dunn area. Fierce Fighting Breaks Out Along Korean Battle Front

Butler Clan Plans Event

8TH ARMY HQ, Korea, Wed.—

Heavy fighting broke out on the Western front in Korea Tuesday and a strong United Nations infantry force was thrown back twice by entrenched Chinese Communists in the Chorwon sector.

Some of the fiercest fighting of the war was now in progress along a front of about 80 miles from Chorwon in Kangson on the east coast with the U. N. forces on the attack but meeting fanatical resistance.

REDS DUG OUT — U. S. and South Korean troops dug out entrenched Reds with flamethrowers and bayonets in a new assault on the Communist "Little Siegfried Line" in eastern Korea.

The height was the third to be taken in 18 hours by hard-driving United Nations forces on the central and east-central fronts.

On the west-central front, tanked U. N. infantrymen were believed to have resumed their northward thrust toward a suspected Communist tank buildup west northwest of Chorwon.

ARMORED FORCE BUSY — The armored task force blasted its way within a half-mile of its objective Tuesday despite furious resistance and counter-attacks by Communist tanks.

Mrs. Gentleman Says Gentleman Is No Gentleman

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Mrs. Rejane Gentleman won a divorce yesterday after complaining her husband, Joseph, treated her in an ungentlemanly manner.

Mrs. Gentleman said two months after their marriage in Nanking, China, four years ago, her husband called for the United States. She said she has not seen him since. She won the divorce on grounds of desertion.

Butler Clan Plans Event

The annual family reunion of the late John Wesley and Betsy Catherine Butler will be held Sunday, September 22, at Hopewell Methodist Church near Newton Grove. The family gathering is set for 11:15 o'clock and the program will include musical selections and brief memorials to members of the family who have died during the past year. A family picnic dinner will be served at 1 o'clock.

The living children of the late Mr. and Mrs. Butler include: H. Coston Butler, J. Adam Butler, Mrs. B. Farson, and Mrs. Euphemia B. Packer, all of Clinton; Mrs. Susan Westbrook and Marcus Butler, both of Dunn; Burtus C. Butler of Selma; and the Rev. A. H. Butler of Falcon.

TWO DIE IN 15 YEARS — Mrs. Lillie B. Marshall of Raleigh, died last year on the Sunday of the 1950 reunion and George William Butler of Dunn died several months later. The only two deaths in the family of children of the Sampson county couple in more than 15 years.

James W. Butler, alumni secretary and director of sports publicity of East Carolina College, Greenville, N. C., is serving his second year as president of the Butler family reunion. John Hinton Parker of Dunn is vice-president and Dennis Butler of Dunn, route 1, is secretary-treasurer.

LONDON.—(UP)—Prime Minister Clement R. Atee announced tonight that a general election will be held Oct. 25 to choose a new parliament.

Spy Condemned, Talks Delayed In Oil Dispute

TEHRAN.—(UP) Iran condemned a Soviet spy to death today and declared a three-day postponement in the scheduled opening of trade talks with Russia.

The move came amidst other swift developments cropping out of Iran's bitter oil dispute with Britain. They included:

- 1. Finance minister Mohamed Ali Vazirani resigned and a cabinet reshuffle was anticipated shortly.
- 2. Iran asked four British communications experts to return to their jobs because no Iranians could do their work.
- 3. Opposition newspapers urged the Shah to "use his prerogative" to halt Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's drastic oil policies.
- 4. Retiring U. S. Ambassador H. F. Grady left for home by plane with a ringing denunciation of Mossadegh as a man who "cannot see beyond his nose."

REPORTS CHAOS — Grady told associates: "It is not a government of chaos. It is not a strong but rather a stubborn government. This government is getting Iran nowhere."

Only a few Iranian officials appeared at the airport for Grady's departure.

Iran had sought a conference today with Russian officials to arrange a barter deal for vital materials cut off by Britain last week.

The postponement was announced as the military court of appeals upheld a death sentence originally passed two months ago on Abdulrahman, a Soviet citizen. He was arrested last March near Gorgan on Iran's northeastern border with Russia.

HAD SECRET TRANSMITTER — The spy was carrying a transmitter in the lines of his shirt. Evidence showed a radio transmitter was concealed inside the shirt.

The court deliberated three hours, then voted four to three for the death sentence. If the Shah approves the sentence, Uzbek will face a firing squad.

It was believed the spy's mission was either for purposes of sabotage or spreading subversive propaganda. Iranian officials recently found dynamite embedded in several bridges near the frontier.

McLamb's Offer Equipment For Public Toilets

A Dunn business firm, anxious for the town to improve its facilities and accommodations for visitors, has offered to donate plumbing fixtures necessary for providing public rest rooms.

The offer was made to the town by F. N. McLamb and M. O. McLamb, two public-spirited businessmen and owners of McLamb Plumbing and Heating Company.

They expressed belief that public toilets for the town are among the city's pressing needs.

City Manager Oliver O. Manning said today that he is in complete agreement concerning the need and expressed appreciation to the McLamb brothers for their generous and public-spirited offer.

Mr. Manning said that such (Continued On Page Five)

BULLETINS

WASHINGTON.—(UP)—W Averell Harriman offered today to take another crack at mediating the explosive Anglo-Iranian oil dispute, but not on Iran's latest terms.

8TH ARMY HQ, Korea.—(UP)—Front dispatches reported a heavy Chinese Communist build-up in infantry and artillery on the west-central front today as United Nations forces beat off vicious counter attacks in the east and smashed ahead up to 1,000 yards.

RICHMOND, Va.—(UP)—The Board of Visitors of William and Mary College announced today that Chancellor Professor James W. Miller will act as temporary successor to Dr. John E. Pomfret who resigned as president of the College last week.

ROME.—(UP)—A 24-hour nationwide general strike today by about 1,500,000 civil service workers seeking higher pay halted Italy's trains and disrupted mail, telephone and telegraph service. Thousands of tourists were stranded by the strike which started at one minute after midnight 6:01 p. m. EST.

5TH AIR FORCE HQ, Korea.—(UP)—One Russian-made Communist jet fighter plane was destroyed today and five were damaged in a battle over northwest Korea with U. S. Air Force F-84 and F-84 jets.

SHE'S IN THE FAMILY — When Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Lee, new Oldsmobile sales here, need a pretty model to pose with a pretty Oldsmobile, they won't have to go far to find one. They'll only have to call for Becky, their pretty 15-year-old daughter. Becky, a popular student at Dunn High, is shown here standing in front of the beautiful new Oldsmobile. Announcement that Mr. and Mrs. Lee had purchased the new Oldsmobile was a pleasant surprise. They also operate Lee's Truck Terminal here. (Daily Record photo by T. M. Stewart).

+Markets+

TOBACCO STEADY — Sales remained heavy on North Carolina and Virginia Old Belt tobacco markets today with prices about steady at yesterday's levels on all grades.

Prices ranged generally from $30 to a practical top of $39. Heavy volume was predicted again for tomorrow and quality was expected to improve somewhat, market officials said.

Border Belt markets had blocked sales again today with prices about steady. On the Eastern Belt quality was off somewhat from yesterday's sales, but good leaf brought from $70 to 75 with sales heavy.

Opening sales yesterday on the Old Belt brought higher prices than last year for good quality tobacco but lower averages for poor grades.

Harnett Teachers Map Year's Work

Harnett County teachers today went about their duties well-informed about the whys and wherefores of the recent Army maneuvers "Exercise Southern Pine", an operation which hundreds of their people saw first-hand during the summer.

Around 40,000 troops were quartered in the woods and fields of Harnett.

Colonel John U. Davis, chief of the transportation division of the 301st Logistical Command, addressed a county-wide teachers meeting Monday night in the Lillington school and briefed the instructors on the plan of the maneuver and the lessons learned from the war games.

He was introduced by County Superintendent G. E. Griffin.

PLAN YEAR'S WORK — At the same meeting, a framework was laid for an active year of work in the Harnett County unit of the North Carolina Education Association. Miss Rachel Clifford of Dunn, county president, presided.
