WAR CLOUDS OVER IRAN

Iranian Crowds Crying For "British Blood"

(By United Press) Ominous war clouds hung low over Iran today as sparks from nationalistic fury threatened to set off the British-Iran oil tinderbox into World War III. While the British cabinet met in London to decide whether to use armed force in Iran to protect its technicians and risk starting war with Russia, angry Iranians demonstrated in Tehran crying for British blood.

The United States, meanwhile, hunted avidly for a "new" way to avert the armed clash that loomed imminent in the oil crisis. U. S. SEEKS SOLUTION Diplomatic informants said the U. S. had, in effect, accepted an appeal by British Prime Minister Clement Attlee to President Truman to mediate the latest stage of the dispute. Iran also is seeking U. S. mediation.

The principal effort to develop a new approach to the crisis was said to be under urgent consideration by Secretary of State Dean Acheson, his aides, and W. Averell Harriman, Mr. Truman's troubleshooter who failed in previous mediation efforts.

CABINET MEETS The British cabinet to decide whether to use its Middle East naval, air and ground forces to defend 33 British technicians guarding the huge Abadan oil refinery in Iran or to accept Iran's demand that the Britons leave by next Thursday morning and thus (Continued on page two)

US Spending To Hit Two Billion Weekly

WASHINGTON (UP) - Government spending is limping along at a rate of little more than $1,000,000,000 a week, but not for long. It will be closer to $2,000,000,000 before many months. Those big figures lay a solid foundation under the warnings of production officials that many things which make American living pleasant soon will be hard to get.

They are the figures, also, which are cited by conservatives in and out of Congress who believe Mr. Truman already has spent the country into grave danger. Veteran members of his own party in Congress accuse the President of refusing to cooperate toward more economical government.

Mr. Truman is not impressed by these various symptoms of uneasiness. When Congress studied last winter under the impact of the $71,500,000,000 spending budget, the President called it a "good budget." He gave Congress to do it.

Reductions achieved by Congress so far hardly dent the spending program. Instead, the spending program has been swollen by requests for supplemental appropriations for more than $10 billion, the total being put together a long time ago. For the average man, all that means right now that the government is not going to stop spending money. It may well be that some will be very angry at the price and high taxes which are just about canceled out by the big income.

Dunn Judge Defends Police During Trial In City Court

Judge H. Paul Strickland sprang to the defense of the Dunn Police Department this morning in City Court in a case involving an altercation between a Negro and a white man.

"I do not believe," His Honor told Defense Attorney D. C. Wilson, "that any officer on the Dunn Police Force would allow anyone to mistreat a prisoner in his custody." The case in point was that of Fred McKay, charged with drunkenness, disorderly conduct and resisting arrest. He was arrested at the Farmer's Cafe by Policeman Carl Williamson.

The officer testified that he went to the cafe in answer to a call from someone who said a Negro was walking on the street with an open knife and cursing. He found McKay there, and took the knife from him and placed (Continued On Page Two)

Russian Jet Pilots Become Aggressive

8TH ARMY HQ., Korea (UP) - New, faster Communist jets challenged American Sabrejets over Northwest Korea for the third straight day today, but were driven back into Manchuria with two damaged.

The 84-plane battle ran the United Nations score in three days of heavy aerial fighting to 26 Soviet-built MIG jets destroyed or damaged.

The Red pilots were becoming increasingly aggressive in their challenge to American air supremacy over the northwest corner of Korea.

An Air Force spokesman said the Communists appeared to be using a modified, faster version of their MIG-15. However, they have not begun using Russia's new MIG-19 jets yet, he said.

RED PILOTS IMPROVE Communist pilots also have improved, the spokesman said. It was believed that European supervisors - German, Russian or both - were giving the Chinese and North Korean pilots intensive training in combat tactics.

On the ground, 8th Army troops threw the Communists off another vital hill northwest of Yangju on the east-central front, but the Reds still clung to vital "Heart-break hill" a few miles away.

Fifty MIGs intercepted 34 American F-86 Sabrejets in the latest large-scale dogfight in "MIG alley" just south of the Yalu river Manchurian border shortly before noon (10 p.m. Wednesday EST).

The mass dogfight raged all the way from 10,000 up to 30,000 feet. It ended with two Communist jets damaged and the rest in flight toward their Manchurian sanctuary. All Sabrejets returned safely to base.

Tiny Village Proposed For Truce Talks

TOKYO. (UP) - Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway proposed today that the Korean armistice talks be resumed "as early as possible" at a tiny village in the middle of no-man's land.

The supreme United Nations commander intervened directly in an attempt to get the truce talks going again after U. N. and Communist liaison officers found themselves deadlocked.

Ridgway addressed his proposals to Gen. Kim Il Sung, North Korean premier and commander-in-chief, and Gen. Peng Teh-huai, Chinese commander in Korea.

"I believe this proposal provides for arrangements that can be mutually satisfactory to both our sides," Ridgway told the Red commanders.

The Communist generals have rejected one earlier Ridgway proposal to shift the talks from Kaesong. However, Ridgway on that occasion did not specify any particular alternative site.

The U. N. commander's new note specifically suggested that the truce talks be resumed "as early as possible" in the vicinity of Song-hyon, eight miles southeast of Kaesong and approximately midway between the battle lines on the Western front northwest of Seoul.

Ridgway also proposed - Both sides agree to keep armed troops away from the meeting place and "abstain from any hostile acts or exercise of authority over members of the other side" while enroute to or from or during meetings.

Church Opens Drive Sunday

Members of the Divine Street Methodist Church will launch a twelve week loyalty campaign for church and church school attendance beginning Sunday. Every home in the membership will be visited Sunday afternoon or next week by a team of laymen or lay-women of the church.

The program is titled: "See You in Church Sunday." Each member will be asked by the team to sign a covenant as follows: "I desire to renew my Loyalty to Christ and His Church and I will endeavor to attend at least one service of worship each Sunday during the next 12 weeks, unless prevented by circumstances beyond my control." Every member of the church and church school will be asked to sign such a pledge.

The "See You in Church Sunday" campaign is a part of the program of the Methodist denomination. It has been used very successfully in thousands of Methodist churches throughout the country. The objective is to revitalize the spiritual life of the church membership through worship, Christian fellowship, and prayer, and to seek to establish a Christian world where social justice, righteousness and peace will prevail.

The crusade also helps members to acquire the church attendance habit. There is nothing that helps a church more than the full, regular, and enthusiastic attendance of its members.

Next Sunday, in addition to visitation day, will be Rally and Promotion Day in the Church School. A program is being arranged by Rev. S. G. Dodson, the director of Religious Education. New members will be received at 11 a. m. and the Christian Workers Training School will begin at 7:30 p. m.

11 Killed In Season's First Violent Storm

Tornadoes and thunderstorms killed at least 11 persons in the Midwest as autumn's first cold wave swept eastward today on the heels of violent winds.
