Royal Couple Arrives In Canada

MONTREAL (U-P)—A 60-ton British Stratocruiser speeding Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip to Canada dodged an Atlantic hurricane today and made an unscheduled stop on a desolate runway at Gander, Nfld. airport.

Britain's next queen and her royal party were asleep as bearded Capt. O. P. Jones gently landed his giant four-engined plane "Canopus" on the windswept strip at 4:50 a. m. EST.

TOUR AIRPORT — But minutes after the slivery British Overseas Airways Corp. Stratocruiser taxied to a stop, the princess and her handsome husband alighted to tour the big international airport.

Jones, a veteran who has logged more than 3,000,000 air miles, said the first trans-Atlantic flight made by British royalty would continue at 8 a. m. The landing meant that the royal party arrival at Montreal, originally set for high noon, would be delayed some three hours.

It also meant that Gander would go down in history as the site of the pretty princess' first stop on her long-awaited tour of the dominion.

RESIDENTS AROUSED — Only airport officials were awake. (Continued on page two)

Lee Given Support On Rotation System

M. O. Lee, Lillington lawyer who is waging a one-man campaign to secure systematic rotation of American occupation troops in Europe today received help from an unexpected source.

A mother from Lumberton, who asked that her name be withheld, wrote: "If you can do anything to help the boys who feel so forgotten I, for one, will be a very grateful mother. Please do all you can for them, as it seems that no one else is very concerned, except the boys and their families."

Lee said the unsolicited letter reached him after local and state papers had published a brief account of observations he and his wife made on return from a vacation trip to Europe. They reported they found the morale of service men at a low ebb over failure of the Army to rotate them home.

Meantime, Lee said he had been notified by U. S. Senator Clyde R. (Continued on page two)

Boone Trail Fair Proves Big Success

The Boone Trail Fair, held at Boone Trail School Friday and Saturday was essentially a miniature edition of a full-fledged county fair. Entries covered every conceivable phase of far life.

There were pies and cakes galore, peach preserves, pickles and jellies, fruits, flowers and vegetables, dresses, crocheted bedspreads, handicrafts of all kinds and art exhibits. In the canned good display alone there were 180 entries, of which 31 won blue ribbons and 29 were winners of red ribbons. Incidentally, all the "canned goods" were really packed in glass so that they showed to best advantage their home-made goodness.

Among the handicrafts items was a gourd fiddle, nearly a hundred years old and a home-made violin that looked like the best modern professional instrument.

One section of the fair was devoted to "What grandma had in her house", a collection of early Americana which would have made any antique collectors who viewed the display green with envy.

The corresponding exhibit of grandpa's possessions included probably the oldest plow in the state as well as a complete set of ancient cooper's tools and a set of home-made carpenter's tools.

The Future Farmers of America had an ingenious two-part exhibit illustrating the age-old fable of the grasshopper and the ant.

Blue ribbon winners in the animal exhibits were: hog, Wiley Thomas; beef bull, Wiley Thomas; heifer, Lee Roy Wilson; horse, E. W. McLeod; mule, Ray Dickens. Other winners will be announced later.

Boone Trail defeated the Broadway team in a "neck to neck" six-man football game Friday afternoon. At the start it looked as though Boone Trail might win by a large margin, however, Broadway staged a comeback and the game ended with the score, Boone Trail 41, Broadway 38.

This was undoubtedly one of the best and most successful fairs held in this section and those in charge are already making plans for a bigger and better fair next year.

UN Troops In Gains Despite Red Opposition

8TH ARMY HQ, Korea (U-P)—United Nations forces punched out gains of up to nearly a mile on a 70-mile front today against mounting Communist resistance.

The 8th Army pressed its week-old "persuader" autumn offensive from above Seoul in the west to "Punchbowl valley" in the east. It already had killed, wounded or captured 12,000 Chinese and Korean Reds.

LATEST GAINS

An 8th Army communique and front dispatches reported these latest gains:

Western front—U.S. 1st Cavalry division troops smashed ahead 1,000 to 1,500 yards north-northwest of Yonchon and ran into heavy fighting with Chinese Reds.

Central front—U.S. 2nd division forces battled their way up the last Communist-held peak on "Heartbreak ridge" above Yanggu. They were only 200 yards from the summit at mid-day.

Eastern front—United Nations forces won a foothold on a dominant peak northwest of "Punchbowl valley" above Inje, but were still heavily engaged at mid-day.

The Communists were fighting desperately to prevent their armies from being chewed up by the advancing U.N. forces. The 8th Army already had cracked the Red winter defense line and was threatening to break through to key valleys leading in the west to Pyongyang, the North Korean capital, and in the east to the strategic port of Wonsan.

HURTING ENEMY

An 8th Army spokesman said the "persuader" offensive—designed to force the Reds to make peace—had begun to "hurt the enemy."

Gen. James A. Van Fleet, commander of the 8th Army, promised that the fall offensive would continue in "many phases" until the Chinese "volunteers" and the North Koreans have had enough of it.

Expert Says Russian Atoms Could Hit Major US Cities

5 Killed, 25 Hurt In Crash

GAINESVILLE, Va. (U-P)—A 23-year-old Trailways bus driver today blamed an oncoming car which crowded him for the crash of his packed bus in which five persons were killed and at least 25 injured.

The bus, with 10 to 15 persons standing in the aisles, skidded on a rain-wet highway last night near here and folded around a tree (Continued On Page Two)

EDITOR'S NOTE: Russia has exploded its second atomic bomb. What might that mean in terms of living in the United States? The United Press asked a leading civil defense expert and former high ranking naval officer whose answer is embodied in the following dispatch.)

LOS ANGELES. (U-P)—Russia probably is capable of delivering simultaneous atomic attacks by air and sea against almost every major city in the United States, Rear Adm. Robert W. Berry, Ret., said today.

He said Russia probably is capable of delivering simultaneous atomic attacks by air and sea against almost every major city in this country. Such strikes could almost completely interrupt American industry upon which our ability to fight a continuing war depends.

Berry, who made a study of civil defense needs while serving as special assistant to the late Secretary of Defense James A. Forrestal, said resumption of industrial production after an atomic attack depends on the nation's "rehabilitative powers."

These depend on civil defense preparedness which lags because of public apathy and congressional inaction.

"Congress, by its lack of action, has done much to solidify the apathy of our people toward civil defense," he said. "We need the stuff to start with. We haven't got it."

Mrs. Betty J. Phillips, attractive English woman who left her native country last year and brought her 12-year-old daughter to Raleigh to make their home, today was granted a divorce in Harnett Superior Court from her husband, R. H. Phillips, on grounds of two years separation.

Mrs. Phillips, who brought the action, testified she and her husband were married on November 9, 1935 in England and separated on May 1, 1949. Following separation, she told the court, she and her child resided in Southampton, with her mother, Mrs. Mabel Jackson, until December 1950 when she came to Raleigh.

Meeting Slated Tomorrow To Arrange Talks

TOKYO. (U-P)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway today accepted a Communist proposal to resume the suspended Korean truce talks at Pan Mun Jom, five miles south-east of Kaesong.

The supreme United Nations commander notified the Communists that he is instructing his liaison officers to meet Red representatives at 10 a. m. Wednesday 8 p. m. Tuesday EST to make the necessary arrangements.

The Red commanders yesterday had reluctantly suggested Pan Mun Jom for the conference after Ridgway refused to send his truce team back to the incident-ridden former site, Kaesong.

SMALLER CONFERENCE

Ridgway indicated, however, that he would seek a smaller conference neutral zone than that envisioned by the Communist commanders.

He suggested "a small neutral zone around the conference site, with Kaesong, Munsan and the (Continued on page two)
