ON MAY DROP ATOM BOMBS IN KOREA

Speculation Is Mounting In Pentagon

WASHINGTON. — (UP) — Congressional speculation that the Chinese Reds may be hit with atomic warfare in Korea built up today following new Pentagon talks on atomic weapons.

Use of this country's new tactical atomic weapons in Korea would depend, informed congressional sources said, on whether truce efforts collapse altogether and on whether the enemy undertakes operations that set up ripe A-bomb targets.

There was even some conjecture that—if enemy moves warranted—atomic attack might be launched against Chinese Red concentrations in Manchuria.

UNUSUAL MEETING Giving point to the congressional speculation was an unusual meeting at the Pentagon late yesterday by Defense Secretary Robert A. Lovett, Gordon Dean chairman of the Atomic Energy commission, atomic commissioners Henry D. Smyth and T. Keith Glennan, and M. W. Boyer, AEC general manager.

Asked what they discussed, all Dean would say was "atomic energy." It appeared evident, however, by what Dean has said in the recent past that the talk dealt with the nation's arsenal and on how and in what situations to use them.

Dean said in Los Angeles last Friday that the time has come when this country should consider use of atomic weapons on the battlefield to stop such "nibbling aggressions" as the Reds undertook in Korea.

UP TO TRUMAN The growing sentiment in Congress for hitting the Communists with atomic weapons was expressed today by Rep. Carl T. Durham, D., N. C., co-chairman of the House-Senate Atomic Energy committee and member of the House Armed Services committee. "I favor use of the atomic bomb in Korea as soon as the situation warrants," he told a reporter. Any final decision as to use of atomic weapons in Korea can, however, be made only by President Truman, Durham pointed out.

Fields of Angier as executor of an estate valued at about $6,000. Chief beneficiaries are Louise Wilkins, a daughter, and Glen Johnson, a grandson, to whom Wilkins left all personal property and land. The will, dated August 12, 1950, was witnessed by L. E. Johnson and Norman L. Smith.

Crops This Season Tie 1949 Harvest

WASHINGTON (U. S. farmers have produced an overall crop which tied the 1949 harvest as the second largest in history.

The Agriculture department had asked farmers to produce a record crop, and in many cases—especially cotton—the department's goals were exceeded. But freakish weather, always a question mark to the farmers, helped widen the margin between goals and actual output.

The tally of major crops, as of the harvest-time report, had cotton, oats, sorghum grains and rice production over the department's (Continued On Page Five)

Power Of Bosom Underestimated, Britisher Says

LONDON (U. S. English actresses just aren't using their "natural resources" right, a British film designer said today.

"We underestimate the power of the bosom," pert and blonde Julie Harris said on her return from Hollywood. She said it isn't true that English film stars don't have what made Jane Russell and Lana Turner household words. "The Americans don't underestimate it," she reported. "And so a pretty bosom there helps to sell everything from candy to refrigerators."

Trio's "Magic Touch" Breaks Slot Machine

LEWISTON, Idaho (U. S. Three former slot machine repairmen today credited their "magic rhythm touch" for a phenomenal killing they made on slot machines.

The three men refused to say how much they have won since beginning their operations here. Pugh said they stumbled in their method last winter in Las Vegas when they were unemployed. At first they began working the slots for college money, then went into the big time. "We're not in favor of slots," said Pugh. "We're doing this in our own conscience. We have the wrong owners on the ropes and they don't know what to do. They're going to lose in their lives." DRIVING 'EM CRAZY "You never have been such a pro on a person's face as these operators when we win the machine. We've got them completely insane." Pugh denied reports he had (Continued On Page Five)
