Herald Tribune Gives Boost To Eisenhower

NEW YORK—(UP)—The New York Herald Tribune gave the Ike for President bandwagon a mighty push today. With a 550-word editorial "The Time and The Man" splashed across three front-page columns in both its New York and Paris editions, the newspaper said it would work for the nomination of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as the Republican ticket and for his election as President.

WORKED FOR WILKIE The newspaper obviously hoped to set in motion the same kind of snowballing movement it aided in 1940 when it helped lead the grass roots campaign that brought the GOP nomination of the late Wendell L. Wilkie.

UN Offering To Swap Land With The Reds

PANMUNJOM, Korea — (UP)—United Nations truce negotiators offered today to give up 200 square miles of hard-won territory in eastern Korea if the Reds yield an equal amount of terrain in the west to bring a quick cease-fire.

U. N. officers made the offer in proposing a 2 1/2-mile-wide armistice buffer zone across Korea at a subcommittee meeting following the reopening of cease-fire talks with the Communists in Panmunjom.

ANXIOUS TO START Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, U. N. spokesman, said the Reds appeared very anxious to start the new series of truce talks with a "clean slate" and to let "by-gones be by-gones."

There is hope progress will be made," he said. This led to speculation that the Communists may drop that the buffer zone be along the 38th Parallel, pre-war frontier between North and South Korea.

The U. N.-proposed buffer zone would start about eight miles south of the 38th Parallel on the west coast, cross the parallel to the northeast and run four miles above Kaesong, four miles south of Pyongyang at the apex of the old Communist Iron Triangle, 6 1/2 miles south of Kumsong, 15 miles north of the Hwachon Reservoir, and reach the east coast about 35 miles north of the 38th Parallel.

In exchange, the 8th Army would get 200 square miles of territory in western Korea.

Poison Rum Dealer Caught In Atlanta

ATLANTA (UP)—A massive man with a three-page FBI record admitted to police today that he distributed a supply of poison whiskey that killed 31 persons here and sent more than 200 others to the hospital, some of them blinded for life.

John Richard (Fat) Hardy, a 350-pounder, was arrested by Atlanta police at Piedmont Hospital where he was recovering in an over-sized bed from a broken arm received when he went to sleep at the wheel of his convertible and had a wreck.

TO GIVE NAMES Hardy was booked on charges of involuntary manslaughter. He promised authorities he would tell them the identity of the person who manufactured the stuff made of water and alcohol used to "soup up" racing cars. He said he did not know the 96 gallons he admitted, distributing to a wholesaler here was lethal.

As a matter of fact, the beady-eyed man, whose four or five chins rolled as he talked, said he drank "some of the death-dealing fluid himself. He didn't say how much. "He's probably immune to it anyway," commented Police Sgt. Louie House who went to the hospital with Sol. Gen. Paul Webb to make the arrest on a manslaughter warrant.

Betting Odds 6 To 1 On Churchill Win

LONDON. — (UP) — Britons flocked to the polls in apparently record numbers today for a general election likely to return Winston Churchill to his old job of prime minister.

Up to 25 per cent of the nation's 34,914,912 registered voters were expected to cast their ballots for members of a new 625-seat Parliament to succeed that ruled by the Labor Party under Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee.

6 TO 1 FOR CHURCHILL Odds at London's betting houses still were an overwhelming 6 to 1 for a Churchill victory and newspaper polls also forecast a win for the 76-year-old Tory leader, but by a narrow margin.

The latest Gallup Poll published in the London News-Chronicle today said that of those who had made up their minds, 50 per cent were for the Conservatives, 46.5 per cent for Labor, 3 per cent for the Liberals, and one-half of one per cent for the Communists and others.

RESULTS FRIDAY Although the polls will close at 9 p.m. (4 p.m. EST), the outcome of Britain's second general election in 20 months probably will not be certain until late Friday (midday Friday EST).

Responsible members of both parties agree that the worst that could come from today's voting would be victory for either party by such a slim margin as Labor edged out in 1950—a six-seat majority.

It would hamstring the new government just as it has frustrated Attlee's administration. Abstentions or absences during a crucial vote could bring a cabinet's downfall.

Both sides, of course, predicted victory, but their predictions were in cautious terms. And both sides have warned that Britons can expect only continued austerity during the months to come.

DESPERATE FLIGHT Britain's plight is close to desperate. If Churchill wins, he very likely will go to Washington to seek more American aid. He also has promised to go to Moscow, if necessary, to argue with Generalissimo Josef Stalin for peace.

The "Old Warrior" wound up his election campaign with a plea to his countrymen for one more job—to win the peace.

Attlee and his Socialists, however, virtually accused Churchill of a just war.

Actually, only voters in the constituencies of the two party leaders will get a chance to vote directly for either Churchill or Attlee and their ballots can do no more than give them a seat each in Commons.

If the Conservatives get a minimum of 313 seats, Churchill will become prime minister for the first time since 1940. (Continued on page two)

Denver Judge Rules Nude Pictures Lewd

DENVER (UP)—A woman nudist, a minister, an artist, an editor and a psychiatrist gave their idea on whether pictures of people scampering around with no clothes on were "lewd or indecent."

Each had a different opinion. The five—considered by representative cross section of the city's population—were called to determine the moral standards of Denver's "man on the street."

County Judge David Brofman said that if pictures appearing in two nudist magazines shocked the average Denverite, then they were in violation of the city's ordinance against "pornographic" material.

PRESS FREEDOM ISSUE The minister, the Rev. Duldoph W. Gilbert of the First Unitarian Church, said that "freedom of the press was the main issue" in the case.

The psychiatrist, Dr. Robert R. Cohen, said that nude pictures did not shock him. (Continued on page two)
