GOOD FOOD WITHOUT SALT...
To order a salt-free diet is easy—to expect a patient to live on it for an indefinite period of time is more than a reasonable person can expect. The patient needs and deserves help, reports Dr. Solomon Silver in his foreword to Good Food Without Salt—($3.00) by Margaret Vaughn, first published by Thomas Y. Crowell Company.

In Good Food Without Salt Miss Vaughn dictates the help needed—by both doctor and patient. Designed to offer palatable menus for what otherwise has proven a dull, drab regimen, each recipe shows how ingenuity and patience can transform a saltless meal into an epicurean delight. Each recipe in Good Food Without Salt, has been laboratory tested by Doris Rabinowitz, a graduate intern in dietetics from Walter Reed Hospital and member of the milligrams of sodium per portion, is indicated, and all menus may be prepared without resorting to complicated tables. From the housewife's standpoint there are no hazards involved since the menus are sufficiently palatable to please every member of the family. Typical of these is: Veal Chops with Herbs:

- 49,550 mg. Na per serving (Na content of chives included)
- 225 calories
- 8 veal chops, 3-4 inch thick
- 3 tablespoons unsalted butter
- Pepper
- 1-2 cup white wine
- 1-2 cup water
- 2 teaspoons chopped chives

APPLE KUCHEN
Apples can serve as the basis for any number of delicious desserts. This new recipe for a spicy dish called apple kuchen is worthy of adding to your collection. Give your family fair warning to save room for dessert when you serve apple kuchen, because it is unusually rich and satisfying.

- Apple Kuchen
- 1 cup milk, scalded
  - 1/2 cup sugar
  - 1/2 cup margarine
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - 1/2 cup lukewarm water
  - 2 packages or cakes yeast
  - 2 eggs
  - 4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
  - 3 apples, sliced
  - 1/2 cup sugar
  - 1 teaspoon cinnamon
  - 1 egg yolk
  - 3 tablespoons cream or top milk

Mix the sugar, margarine, and salt in the hot milk. Cool to a luke warm temperature. Dissolve the yeast in the lukewarm water. (Follow directions on package for dry yeast.) Combine the milk and yeast mixture and stir in the well-beaten eggs. Add and stir in the flour using enough to make a stiff batter. This recipe will make two 8-inch square pans. Pour into greased pans. Cover with a clean towel. Place in a warm place and let rise until doubled in bulk. Arrange the peeled sliced apples over the top. Mix the sugar and cinnamon. Sprinkle over the apples. Mix the egg yolk and cream together and drizzle around the apples. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400° F.) for 25 to 30 minutes.
