Fowler-Tart Ceremony Performed Saturday

In a formal candlelight ceremony, on Saturday evening, October 27 at eight o'clock in the Hood Memorial Christian Church, Miss Mary Elizabeth Tart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lee Tart, was united in marriage to Russell Fowler, Jr., son of Mrs. Russell Fowler and the late Mr. Fowler of Baltimore, Maryland and Courtland, Alabama. Dr. George F. Cuthrell and the Reverend Richard Phea Gammon performed the double ring ceremony.

The vows were said before a background of palm trees and woodwardia fern. Tall standards containing white Betsy Ross mums and regal lilies were arranged before each of the arched candelabras. On either side of the pulpit extending to the walls of the church were diagonal candelabras and single candlesticks which were used to enhance the beauty of the scene. Aisle candelabras marked the pews with nosegays of lilies and white pompons tied with satin ribbon.

The nuptial music was presented by Miss Charlotte Bunch, organist, of Tarboro, and Mrs. Jack Gates of Roxboro, soloist. Mrs. Gates sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," "O, Promise Me," and "The Lord's Prayer." Miss Bunch's program included "Traumer" by Schumann, "Liebestraum" by Liszt, "Serenade" by Schubert, "Clair de Lune" by Debussy, and "To An Evening Star" by Wagner.

The ushers were Mr. Clarence Lee Tart, Jr., brother of the bride, Mr. Del Waddell of Tuscaloosa, Ala., Mr. E. B. Smith, of Greensboro, Mrs. Vaughn Hutaff, Mr. Joseph H. Cree, and Mr. Ray M. McArtan, of Dunn. Mr. Daniel Gilchrist of Courtland, Ala., brother-in-law of the groom, was best man.

The bridal party entered the church to the strains of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin by Wagner, and Mendelssohn's wedding march was used as the recessional. During the ceremony Miss Bunch played "Perfect Love."

Mrs. Daniel Gilchrist of Courtland, Ala., sister of the groom, was matron of honor. Miss Grace Herring of Durham was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Pope, Miss Louise Wade, Mrs. Vaughn Hutaff, of Dunn, and Miss Polly Keith of Atlanta, Ga. Their dresses designed by Pandora were of candlelight satin combined with white silk faille. They had their own shoulder capelet with French illusion at the yoke. The dresses were gathered from the waistline to the hips to form a regular pointed effect where the satin cord extended all around. The skirts were full, forming a slight chapel train. The gloves were long white kid. They wore short veils and carried cascade bouquets of sunset roses tied with jeweled ribbon.

The bride, given in marriage by her father Clarence Lee Tart, was lovely in her formal period wedding gown designed by Pandora.

EDDIE WARREN DIES
Eddie Warren, Angier Route 2, 65, died in a Durham Hospital about 8:00 p. m. yesterday following several years of illness. Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at Mount Zion Church. Bur-

The yoke was of French illusion edged with French seed pearls, the pearls forming a pointed medallion that extended down the center of the bodice. The sleeves were full length with calla lily points. Her dress was fastened down the back by small acorn shaped covered buttons. The full skirt was gathered from the waistline forming a shell shaped train. From the hipline to the end of the train were rows of cascaded pearls to match those on the yoke. She wore her mother's full length wedding veil of French illusion edged with all silk French Rosepoint lace, which was arranged in Madonna fashion draped over a wedding band of imported orange blossoms. She carried a cascade bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids, valley lilies, centered with white orchids.

The bride's mother wore a gown of petal blue chantilly lace over taffeta with a rhinestone bodice and full draped skirt which formed a chapel train. She wore long white gloves and a white orchid with a gold throat. Mrs. Fowler, mother of the groom, wore a lavender lace gown with sequin trim. She wore long white gloves and a white orchid with a purple throat.

The bride was graduated from the Dunn High School and from the Woman's College of U. N. C. in Greensboro the class of '51. Mr. Fowler attended McDonogh Military Academy, McDonough, Maryland and the University of Maryland. He is at present employed by the U. S. Government with headquarters in Rocky Mount.

After the ceremony a formal reception was held at the home of the bride.

During the evening, the bride and groom left for a wedding trip to points unannounced, and upon their return will make their home in Rocky Mount. For traveling the bride wore a raven blue gabardine suit with matching velvet collar and cuffs embroidered in pearls. Her hat by Caspar Davis was raven blue trimmed with white ostrich. She wore matching accessories with white gloves. On her arm she carried a sable scarf where white orchids were pinned.

RECEPTION
Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Tart, grandparents of the bride, greeted the guests and introduced them to Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Cree of Dunn and Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Davis of Norfolk, Va., who arrived at the dining room door. Mrs. Marvin Wade, Sr. introduced them to the receiving line composed of the wedding party. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pope and Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Bennett directed the guests from the music room to the bar where Mr. and Mrs. Shelton Burr and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Butler invited the guests to register in the bride's book which was presided over by Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Stanfield and Mr. and Mrs. Otis Warren. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Westbrook and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cromartie, Jr. were at the door to the gift room. Receiving will be in the church cemetery, but the arrangements are as yet incomplete.

Richard J. Cahney, inventor of the Galling machine gun, was a physician by profession.

In the gift room was Mrs. J. W. McArtan, Mr. and Mrs. Vance Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Wade, Jr. received in the sun room where other gifts were. Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Young and Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Corbett showed the guests from the hall to the dining room doors where Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Lattimer and Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Warren invited them to the dining room.

The table was covered with a beautiful natural linen cloth of imported Brussels lace and embroidered. The flowers used in the center of the table were regal lilies and valley lilies flanked on either side by low five branched silver candelabra holding white lighted tapers and esopettes filled with valley lilies. A three tier wedding cake on a silver tray graced one end of the table where Mrs. William J. Thompson and Mrs. Henry Sandlin cut the cake after the bride and groom had cut the traditional slices with a silver saber having belonged to the late Lt. Tighman L. Wade, cousin of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Rutaff and Mr. and Mrs. T. Brown Williams served punch from a handsome silver punch bowl. Serving mints and nuts were Misses Caro Davis, Allene Warren, Annette Ezell, Katherine Butt and Martha Ann Butler.

The goodbyes were said by Mrs. Nathan Johnson, Sr.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Russell Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gilchrist, and Mr. and Mrs. David Martin of Courtland, Ala., Mr. Del Waddell of Tuscaloosa, Ala., Mr. and Mrs. William Pearce of Birmingham, Ala., Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Beaman, and Miss Agnes Birch of Norfolk, Va., Mr. and Mrs. E. Martin of Ahoskie, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mears of Fair Bluff.

OLDE TOWNE ARTS CLUB HEARS TALK BY CAMPBELL TEACHER

Members of the Olde Towne Arts Club were delightfully entertained at a luncheon Friday at the home of Mrs. William Newsome on East Cumberland St. Mrs. Newsome was assisted by Mrs. Willie Moff, club president.

All appointments for the party were in keeping with the Halloween season. Jack-o-lanterns and black cats were used about the room to give an airy effect and each small table was centered with a lighted Jack-o-lantern. Halloween place-cards and favors designated the place of the guests. Yellow mums and pom poms were used with autumn leaves and wheat in effective arrangements.

The delicious luncheon menu consisted of tomato juice cocktail, cheese wafers, creamed turkey on waffles, stuffed squash, pickles, Halloween salad, rolls, coffee, homemade ice cream and cake squares.

Following the meal, Mrs. Newsome introduced Miss Gladys Strickland of Buies Creek, who, in turn, presented Miss Moses Herbert to the club members and guests. Miss Herbert, the new Spanish teacher at Campbell College, spent the summer touring in Mexico. She delighted club members with the account of her trip. With the use of a map of Mexico, she pointed out the route her party followed, and gave her audience a deeper insight into the lives of the Mexican people. At the close of her interesting talk, she showed the club members some of the lovely Mexican jewelry, and other articles which she had purchased in Mexico. The hostesses remembered Miss Herbert and Miss Strickland with corsages of gold pom poms tied with bronze ribbon.

A short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Moff following the program. Members attending the luncheon were Mrs. Nathan Cahney, Mrs. Mack Watson, Mrs. Hoover Adams, Mrs. L. P. Stephens, Mrs. Billy Pope, Mrs. John Ciccone, Mrs. Curtis Emitt, Mrs. Emmett Aldredge, Mrs. J. N. Stephenson, Mrs. Howard E. Lee, Mrs. Moff and Mrs. Newsome. Guests included Miss Strickland, Miss Herbert, Mrs. J. E. Crockett, and Mrs. A. D. Harris, both of Warrenton. Mrs. Crockett is the mother of Mrs. Newsome, and Mrs. Harris is her sister.
