BILLY WELLONS

Take a good look at this picture. It is MOST UNUSUAL! Do you see that tongue between Billy Wellons' lips? That is one of the most amazing sights Mrs. Marks has seen lately, because, you see, that tongue "ain't" ever still over here.

That is really an exaggeration, folks, because Billy is as cute and sweet a little boy as we have, but he does like to talk, and it is one of the jokes between Billy and Mrs. Marks. That is one reason she is kidding him about it in this write-up.

Billy is wide-awake, and as smart as can be. He came over here last year, and is learning to read now. He is one of our best first graders, too. In fact whatever he does, he does well. You can tell by the way he is working at this color picture that he means business.

Billy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Wellons, and he lives on Cumberland Street. His daddy recently won a brand new Buick in a contest, and if Billy Jr. keeps on going like he has started over here, he will win lots of contests and prizes when he grows up, too. Wouldn't surprise Mr. and Mrs. Marks much if he doesn't win a prize or contest somewhere for singing. He sure does have a pretty voice, with lots of power and quality in it.

Welborns Fete Grand Slam Club At Buffet Supper

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Welborn delightfully entertained members of the Grand Slam Club at a buffet supper and cards last night at their home in Carr Heights.

The Welborns, home carried over a beautiful Christmas motif throughout the room. On the organ in the living room an angel scene was used. A Christmas tree with all the trimmings made a lovely background for the enjoyable evening. In the dining room a centerpiece of tall burning white tapers encircled with snowballs on a red linen cloth struck a gay note and the buffet held an arrangement of Santa Claus with his sleigh and reindeer and red candles. An antique spinning wheel was gayly trimmed with greenery and Christmas balls intermingled in the spaces.

Upon arrival the members were served fruit juice cocktails with cherries and then enjoyed a delicious supper of baked ham, pickled peaches, parsley potato balls, butter beans with pimento, star-shaped tomato aspic, pickles, olives, celery, hot biscuits, coffee and snowballs topped with tiny lighted red candles.

High scorer for the men went to Paul Walker who received candy

Mrs. Gerald Mann was recipient of said. "Don't try to interpret the high score for the ladies and re-message in your favor."

Members enjoying the affair were Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Mann and Mr. and Mrs. Norwood Stephenson.

Communies Won't

"We did not say we observed the convention as a whole," he said.
