COATS School News BY RUTH DENNING The students of Coats High School are looking forward to a very Merry Christmas. Though the spirit of Christmas is now here with us, our Christmas holidays have not really begun. School lets out December 19, at 1:00 and starts back December 21. The observance of Christmas is being celebrated in various ways by our student body. A White Christmas has been planned for needy families and various parties are being given for the students.

CLASS RINGS ARRIVE Wednesday, December 12 was a red letter day for the seniors. The class rings, those long awaited little bands with ruby stones arrived. The rings were given out after much excitement.

PARTIES PLANNED The F.H.A. girls and F.F.A. boys have separate parties planned for Tuesday, December 18. The parties will take place at school. The singing of Christmas carols, the playing of games and the serving of refreshments will be enjoyed by all.

THE SENIOR CLASS is planning to have their party the night of December 19. The party will be held in the Coats Community Building and is to be given by the class sponsors, Mrs. Gladys Phillips and Miss Gerry Cobb.

PARTIES SLATED All classrooms are to have Christmas parties at school, December 19. The students, both elementary and high school are busy planning for this day.

THE REPORT cards went out Tuesday, December 11. They were a disappointment to some, while others they showed favorable results of effort put forth in studies. The following is the High School Honor Roll: 12th Grade, Edna Avery, Ruth Denning, Sue Langdon, Dorothy J. Barnes, Jean Hawley, Peggy Semer, Becky Upchurch.

Our Future Citizens Profiles of the small fry at Mark's Kindergarten

Get you know this young fellow? He is Brent Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hoover Adams, and he lives on S. Layton Ave. and his daddy is the editor of this paper you are reading right now. Today is Brent's birthday. He is five years old.

Brent likes trains, as you can see by this picture. This train is the very first thing he goes for every morning when he gets to school. But he always remembers to hang up his new red jacket and cap first, before he settles down to play. Brent isn't selfish with the train, even though he likes it so much. If you look closely you can see the hand of a playmate, with whom he is sharing his favorite toy.

Brent has a quick mind, and a good sense of humor, but he first has to think that whatever he laughs at is worth the effort. When that happens, he gives out one of the heartiest and most contagious laughs you ever heard. He is one of our "thinkers", and although he hasn't told us what he would like to be when he grows up, we are expecting him to make a success of whatever he chooses.

And incidentally, his daddy didn't write this story - Mrs. Marks did!

Judge Shows Perry Pleading Guilty

Perry pleaded guilty to the 70 mile speed, and Judge Strickland continued prayer for judgment for six months on payment of costs, but warned Perry that another speed conviction over 55 in 12 months would cost him his license.

McGrath May

It was learned on unimpeachable authority that the President had conducted an independent investigation of Caudle without McGrath's knowledge.

This source said Mr. Truman referred to this investigation when he told reporters that he had been on 'to Caudle and was ready to fire him before Caudle popped up as the key figure in the tax scandal inquiry by a House Ways and Means subcommittee.

A high official and intimate of the President said Mr. Truman learned through independent channels of Caudle's activities while heading the Justice Department's tax division.
