Court Session Opened Today

Harnett County Superior Court, faced with a large calendar and only a one-week criminal term in which to dispose of it, got underway with considerable speed this morning. Judge W. C. Harris of Raleigh, after ascertaining that all of the members of the Grand Jury were present, released them to their deliberations without further preliminaries. After they had retired, he turned his attention to the petit jury. Three of the 35 members present were excused and the remaining 32 were retained. After Solicitor Jack Hooks had called the roll of cases a jury to hear the first case, that of Mann Fann, charged with assault with a deadly weapon was called up for trial. Fann is charged with assaulting Jasper Bryant with a single barrel shotgun, as the aftermath of an argument over a car accident. The case reached Superior Court on appeal from Harnett Recorder's Court. At press time evidence in this case was being heard. Egg prices have averaged at or above parity in only two of the last 20 years. The nation's 1951 peanut crop is estimated to be about one-fifth smaller than average.

Board To Talk Water Problem

The problem of reducing the consumption of water in Erwin to a normal amount will be one of those set for discussion at the meeting of the Town Board tonight. Water consumption in Erwin to a nearly three times as much per family as is in Dunn according to figures of the Water Department here, and the excessive consumption has created a definite problem. Final disposition will also be made at the meeting tonight of the cases of eight or ten business firms who have not renewed their privilege licenses for this year. Other items on the agenda for tonight's meeting will include: final acceptance or rejection of the bid submitted by the Woman's Club of Dunn for the property to be used in building the Dunn Community Building. Alfred Surles and Mrs. M. C. Butler are to appear before the board to request a special parking privilege. Mrs. Butler claims she cannot park at her home and, since she is a cripple, cannot walk to park when people block up the area in front of her home.

Ten AA Groups Aer Represented

Ten groups of Alcoholics Anonymous from the Eastern Carolina section were represented at the meeting of the Sand Hills Inter Group at the Dunn Presbyterian Church last night. Mrs. R. R. Gammon, wife of the pastor of the host church, was the guest speaker. Using as her topic, "What I admire about AA" she told the group that one fundamental point which evoked her admiration was that the members made no apologies for admitting that they were alcoholics. Other points which she admired were their faith, and their unselfishness, which inclined the members toward going out of their way to help other alcoholics to rehabilitate themselves. She pointed out, however, that there might be danger in letting their success go to their heads, and urged them to continue their work in a spirit of humbleness. "My admiration for your organization," she said, "is sincere and comes from the heart." She said that the organization had often succeeded where the church and doctors had failed. The 90 members present were served a dinner consisting of fresh baked ham, raisin sauce, butter beans, Manhattan salad, carrots, curls, celery hearts, lemon tarts, hot biscuits and coffee by a group headed by Mrs. H. C. Whitenton. Aiding in serving the meal were Mrs. Beulah Graham, Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. Guyton Smith, Mrs. Hugh Black, Mrs. Eunice Tart, Mrs. W. W. Register, Mrs. Roland Goff and Mrs. Harvey Strickland.

Driver Jailed

(Continued from page one) driving and careless and reckless driving as the result of an accident at a Dunn intersection at 8:30 Friday night. John Smith of Benson, Route 1, traveling east on Divine Street, ignored the stop sign at the intersection and sped on through across Clinton Avenue. He was driving a 1951 Henry J. Charles H. Strickland, going north on Clinton Avenue, in a 1951 DeSoto, came into the intersection and was unable to avoid the Smith car. His automobile struck the Smith car on the right front. Damage to the Smith car was estimated at about $150. The Strickland car was damaged to the extent of about $500, and had to be towed away. Smith was locked up in the Dunn City Jail charged with careless and reckless driving, driving under the influence and damage to property.

Barber Shops

(Continued from page one) per cent increase on shaves and a 15 per cent increase on haircuts. One barber, Adolphus (Polky-dol) Williams, declared that the price is still too low and pointed out that the price in other towns was increased several years ago. He pointed out that the price of barber supplies has increased several times, to say nothing of the cost of living. Barbers take a half-holiday every Wednesday. One Dunn barber shop, that operated by Jack Spell at Johnson's Restaurant, insisted in keeping prices down, however. At Jack's, which is one of the busiest shops in town, you can still get a haircut for 60 cents and a shave for 40 cents. Until October, barber shop prices came under the OPS, but late in October barbers were successful in getting exempt. Reaction to the hike was varied today. The comment most heard was: "I'll just let mine grow twice as long." Others said they felt the barbers were justified. O. M. Leslie has suggested that Dunn Masons let their beards grow in observance of the 100th anniversary of the Dunn lodge. The idea is expected to get stronger support now.

To encourage a greater recognition of the moral and spiritual needs of our community by both white and colored population, and set our goal to get all our people working in the churches of their choice. 11. To have all our people working in a combined effort to make our community unprofitable for those who would promote vice and crime. 12. Secure definite ordinances for the enforcement of the sanitary problems of our town and help reduce the present cost of picking up and removing trash and refuse. 13. Reduce the city's bonded indebtedness where possible considering the improved services needed by our town and community. 14. To keep the people informed of the problems of our town and enlist the cooperation of all people in meeting these problems. 15. To take every opportunity for improving own knowledge of the work and responsibilities of City Manager through study, through counsel, and through experience. Some of the features of his plan are partly complete. Manning pointed out in conclusion. With the help of all the citizens, he asserted,

Samia Says

(Continued from page one) 14 COSTUMES Samia brushed out her red hair, then began unpacking the 14 filmy, spangled costumes she wore to char a King and such international celebrities as the Aga Khan and Egypt's King Farouk. "Go ahead and take the call," she told her husband, "I tell you I have a feeling everything will be all right." Samia thawed before some 30 reporters and photographers who greeted the couple here. "I'm hopelessly in love with him," she said, wrapping an arm around King, "but he's a big wolf, if you want to know the truth."

Only Few

(Continued from page one) cll, trespass, damage to personal property and assault, $16.00; Martha McNeill, assault with a deadly weapon, $4.40; Fred Clark, assault, $39.85. In the McNeill case the costs were scaled down to $15.00 because McNeill had no money and he was given time to pay the amount. In the Clark case, the defendant paid about $200, leaving the comparatively small balance. Except in the instances where the defendant has left the state, these amounts will probably be paid, and when the whereabouts of the remainder of his plan can be easily worked out, and Dunn made a better town in which to live.
