Olive Announces For Governor

Former Judge Is Third To Enter Contest

LEXINGTON — Hubert B. Olive announced today he will run for governor in the spring primary.

The 66-year-old Lexington attorney and former Superior Court judge said he is running "in accordance with the custom of rotation between East and West that has served our party well since Aycock."

Former U. S. Sen. William Umstead of Durham, Attorney Ernest Gardner of Shelby, and real-estate agent Manley R. Runaway of Charlotte already have announced for the May 31 primary.

"North Carolina has made magnificent progress for more than 50 years," Olive said. "This progress must be continued in the realization that the leaders who are elected are placed in office to render service to all the people of the state."

"I offer myself as a candidate for governor in the firm belief that the people of North Carolina demand a leader attentive to the will and needs of all the people with a deaf ear to those who seek special privileges."

Appointed as a Superior Court judge by Gov. Clyde Hoxey in 1937.

Woman Says She Killed Husband At His Request

BELLEVILLE, O. — Richland County authorities said today they would withhold charges until they checked several angles of a young mother's story that she executed her husband at his request.

Shirley E. J. Long said Mrs. Daily E. Lakey, 21, confessed yesterday she fired one blast from a 12 gauge shotgun into the head of her husband, Woodrow, 29, because he threatened to kill her, their nine-month-old son and "everyone who ever hurt me" unless she shut him.

Long said Mrs. Lakey told him that her husband "meant business."

BECAME HYSTERICAL — She became "near hysterical" as she sobbed out the story of how Lakey, a foundry worker, had beaten her.

Carlyle Asserts That He's Never Stopped Running

By RECORD BUREAU

WASHINGTON — Rep. F. Carlyle gave a new twist to political announcements today.

Asked by a reporter when he planned to announce he would be a candidate for re-nomination as the May primary, the Lambertton lawmaker replied, "I have never withdrawn the announcement I made before my first race; I'm still running."

There have been reports that Carlyle would have opposition, possibly from several sources, but the Congressman didn't seem concerned by the prospect.

"In this day and time," he said, "if you wait until election year to begin running, it's generally too late. As for myself, I've been running all along, just like I told you."

Leaders Assert Vatican Fight Will Continue

WASHINGTON — Protestant leaders and key senators served notice on President Truman today that they will continue to fight appointment of an ambassador to the Vatican, no matter whom he nominates in place of Gen. Mark W. Clark.

The White House announced last night that Clark's name had been withdrawn at his request. But press secretary Joseph Short emphasized that Mr. Truman "plans to submit another nomination at a later date."

DOUBLE CONFIRMATION — Clark, who will remain as commander of the Army ground forces, told reporters he bowed out of the diplomatic assignment because it had become "such a controversial issue" that he doubted the Senate would confirm him.

Protestant church groups have been raising vigorous protests ever since Mr. Truman moved last fall to make Clark the first full-fledged U. S. ambassador to the Roman Catholic state.

Clark's nomination was submitted on the last day of the 1951 session, and no action was taken. Mr. Truman had said previously he would re-submit the nomination this year.

Protestant leaders were not mollified by the White House disclosure that some other nominee will be substituted for Clark.

NOTHING PERSONAL — Episcopal Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill, president of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A., said the council's opposition to the appointment "has had no personal relationship with Gen. Clark."

We are opposed to the appointment of an ambassador on sincere principle, and will continue to be (Continued On Page Seven)

Lee's Florist Changes Hands

Since January 1st Lee's Florist has been under new ownership and new management. On that date, Mrs. E. F. Strickland of Dunn and Mrs. J. W. Berry of Falcon took over the active supervision of this leading floral establishment.

Both of the new owners have had a wide experience in floral design. Mrs. Berry has completed two courses at the Harper School of Floral design in Atlanta, Georgia.

Mrs. Strickland came to Dunn from Duplin County shortly after her husband was released from the service. Mrs. Berry is a native of (Continued On Page Three)

Dunn Merchants Will Hold Meet

In addition to the regular bulletins mailed to members of the Dunn Chamber of Commerce this week, the bulletins are also being mailed to other merchants, not affiliated with the Chamber, to call attention to a special merchants' meeting to be held Thursday.

The meeting was called by James Snipes, head of the Retail Merchants' Association. (Continued On Page Three)

BULLETINS

BOISE, Ida. — A state prison guard using a rock for a club battled for his life and won against an ex-convict who threatened to shoot him in revenge for the guard's aid in executing two young convicts, police said today.

Zeppo Marx Joins Movie Capitol's Battling Set

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. — Zeppo Marx, youngest of the four Marx brothers, and movie producer Alex Gottlieb joined British film star James Mason today as newcomers to the ranks of Hollywood's slugging set.

Marx and Gottlieb were initiated yesterday on a street corner outside an all-night drug store. They traded punches in a brief fight broken up by police.

WIFE KNOCKED DOWN — Mrs. Polly Gottlieb, sister of Broadway showman Billy Rose, was "knocked or slipped" to the sidewalk when she attempted to intervene in the mixup, police said.

Neither Marx, nor the producer was injured and no arrests were made. Both men and their wives accompanied police to headquarters, however, to make out a report on the fight.

Marx told officers the battle was the climax of bad feelings between him and Gottlieb over a gambling debt.

Sen. Smith Praises Dunn To The Senate

WASHINGTON — United States Senator Willis Smith took the floor of the Senate today to congratulate the citizens of Dunn upon their town's unique record of 100 per cent compliance with the OPS and called the attention of the nation to this achievement.

Senator Smith had inserted in The Record, along with his remarks, an Associated Press clipping from The Washington Post, which gave details of Dunn's compliance record.

The State's popular Junior Senator pointed out that "Regardless of what may or may not be thought about all of the activities of the OPS, I think it is something worthwhile when the citizens of a community strive to cooperate and receive such a citation as the City of Dunn has received."

TEXT OF REMARKS — Following is the text of Senator Smith's statement to the Senate:

Mr. President: I ask unanimous consent to have printed in The Record a news item published in The Washington Post yesterday, it being an Associated Press dispatch from Dunn, North Carolina.

In this item is told the story of 100 per cent cooperation with the Office of Price Stabilization and the approval of Dunn as the office of Price Stabilization's Model Town of the Nation.

SOMETHING WORTHWHILE — Regardless of what may or may not be thought about all of the activities of the OPS, nevertheless I think it is something worth while when the citizens of a community strive to cooperate and receive such a citation as the City of Dunn in North Carolina has received. I am sure that the people of North Carolina join with me in extending our congratulations and solicitations upon this recognition.

Reds' Charge Of Lying Almost Breaks Up Peace Negotiations

PANMUNJOM, Korea — The Communists almost broke up the Korean armistice negotiations today with a charge that the United Nations Command was lying.

"As a representative of the U. N. Command, I shall not sit here and listen to unfounded charges that the U. N. Command is making a deceitful proposal and lying," Rear Adm. R. E. Libby angrily told the Reds.

DEMANDS APOLOGY — He denied the Communist charge demanded an apology and finally proposed a recess until tomorrow.

"You cannot intimidate us," retorted North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho. But he agreed to the recess.

The exchange took place in the subcommittee debating an exchange of war prisoners after Libby had contended that the U. N. voluntary repatriation plan contained advantages for both sides.

Farmers In Harnett Seed More Pastures

For a farmer seeing a believing, Kyle Harrington, P.M.A. secretary said today, in praising the "June in January look" noticed this month on many a green Harnett County farm.

"During 1950," Harrington said, "2,000 acres of permanent pastures were seeded in the county. An exact report for 1951 is now being drawn but not yet finished. However, I feel sure there was at least a 30 per cent increase."

"What happened," Harrington added, "is that in the two years that have elapsed since this report, quite a few farmers have seen that green grass growing in a neighbor's pasture, and they have (Continued On Page Three)
