Graham Says Capitol Most Sinful

WASHINGTON (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham, after one week's crusading among congressmen and government workers, today labeled Washington the most sinful city he ever visited.

The Billy Graham revival team moved into town Jan. 13 for a four-week campaign intended to awaken the spiritual conscience of national leaders and capital dwellers.

The energetic 33-year-old revivalist already has drawn a cumulative total of 60,000 persons for his nightly hellfire and brimstone lectures at the National Guard Armory, Washington's biggest auditorium.

But Graham said his work here has barely begun.

"Washington needs a spiritual awakening more than any city I've ever been to," the minister said. "I've only begun to see what takes place here—drinking parties . . . the way influence is bought . . . disregard for morals in the realm of sex."

DISGUSTED AND NAUSEATED

Graham said he is "disgusted and nauseated" by what he has seen and what he has been told.

"It is unbelievable," he said. "I'm certain the true story of Washington's corruption is not known."

Graham is throwing his full energies into battling the corruption and accomplishing a moral revival in the "crucial" Washington campaign. He has curtailed his customary four-to-six hours a day of study to meet a rigorous schedule of around-the-town meetings.

He makes almost daily trips to Capitol Hill. He is addressing meetings of government workers, ministers' groups, businessmen's luncheons. He is accepting numerous invitations from congressmen, embassies and professional groups.

Sen. Robert S. Kerr, Willis Smith, Tom Connally, Clyde R. Hoey and Edward J. Thye and Reps. Percy Priest, Walter H. Judd and O. K. Armstrong are among the legislators who have turned out for the armory sessions. Reps. Winifred H. Lucas and Dwight L. Rogers usher regularly.

House - To - House Polio Drive At County Seat

Residents of Lillington are going to have an opportunity to give—and give generously and conveniently—to the March of Dimes on Thursday night.

On the night of January 24 from 7 to 9 p.m., a house-to-house canvass will be made by teams of high school boys under the direction of team captains Marion Pheasant, Allen Walker and Earl Johnson.

Rev. T. W. Williams, county polio drive chairman, and Selwyn O'Quinn, who is in charge of the Lillington solicitation, today urged all Lillington families to be at home when the boys call.

"We do not think it is necessary for the boys to explain the purpose of the visit other than to say they are with the March of Dimes," said O'Quinn. "We know the boys will be welcome. We want every member of a family to have their donation ready and share in this fine fight on infantile paralysis."

All of the money collected will be turned over to O'Quinn immediately after 9 p.m.

Joe Tally Enters Race For Congress

J. O. (Joe) Tally, Jr., 31-year-old Mayor of Fayetteville, today announced his candidacy for the House of Representatives in the Seventh District and thus became the first opponent for Congressman F. Eitel Carlyle in the May 31st Democratic Primary.

For several weeks, the young political and civic leader has been touring the district and early this afternoon he made his announcement official with a two-page statement of his political beliefs and program.

Attacking what he described as a "do-nothing representation in Congress," Mayor Tally declared that, "The kind of leadership the next Congress give us may decide our destiny. This may be the most critical time in the life of our nation."

Mayor Tally's announcement statement called for adequate legislation to meet the threat of Communism, superiority of top weapons, "bold and inspired use of the spiritual and physical strength of America."

HITS WASTE, CENTRAL POWER

He struck out against "timid negotiations with Kremlin stooges," the waste of billions of American dollars in indiscriminate plans of aid to foreign countries, a cut in government spending, a reduction instead of an increase in Federal controls, and declared that "The threat to our free enterprise from the growing centralization of power" (Continued On Page Three)

Air Raid Siren To Start Drive

When you hear the air raid siren Thursday night at seven o'clock don't take alarm and run for the air raid shelter. The blast of the siren will not signal a major air raid, but, instead, a minor raid on you pocketbook.

The siren will be blown at that time to signal the start of the "Mothers March on Polio." Block by block, in all sections of Dunn, women of the community who have volunteered, will be making a canvass for the March of Dimes.

The hour from seven until eight o'clock Thursday night was set apart for this purpose by a proclamation by Mayor Ralph Hanna. At its meeting Monday night, the town board certified this proclamation and gave their permission for the blowing of the siren, once at the start of the hour and again at its conclusion. March of Dimes chairman, Bill Biggs, made the request. At a meeting last Friday night (Continued On Page Three)

KeFauver Will Make Announcement Now

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Estes KeFauver was ready to declare his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination today despite signs that he faces an uphill fight in one of the early tests of Democratic sentiment.

His announcement was promised at a news conference this afternoon. The Tennessee Democrat was preparing to enter the race although a formidable combination was forming to stop him from winning convention delegates by default before President Truman's 1952 intentions are disclosed.

KeFauver, who won national fame as chairman of the televised Senate crime investigation, has been entered in the Illinois presidential preference primary April 8.

CHALLENGED BY MCMAHON
He has been challenged by Sen. Brian McMahon D-Conn., who will be backed by the regular party organization in Illinois.

KeFauver has not been popular among organization Democrats in Illinois since the pre-election crime hearings there were considered an important factor in 1950 Democratic defeat. Former Senate Democrat, Louis G. Scott, W. L. Lauer was (Continued On Page Three)

Olive And Scott Join Up Forces

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Kerr Scott's endorsement of Hubert E. Olive indicated today that the Democratic primary race for governor might see the same grouping of political forces that marked the Frank P. Graham-Willis Smith senatorial campaign.

Scott went down in bitter defeat with Graham. Scott said he considered Olive's platform "pretty much" a continuation of his own "go forward" program and that they were in complete agreement on it.

Candidate William B. Umstead was expected to get the support of the conservative group that lost when Scott defeated Charles Johnson in the race for governor, but won in the Smith-Graham campaign. Olive emerged from the governor's office in high good humor after an hour and a half conference yesterday but politely reserved for Scott the announcement of his support.

"It will be for him," Scott said bluntly. "If the people think I've done a fair job, I don't believe it's out of line for me to say Olive will do an excellent job."

He has the positive approach needed to keep things moving in North Carolina. He has a good background of experience from the positions he has held in the state.

WONT TAKE STUMP

The Governor repeated that he doesn't plan to do any campaign

speaking, but he said if anyone wanted to ask "how I stand, I can tell them that I can tell them why."

Scott indicated that he would expect, but not demand, that his appointees to state offices follow his lead.

"I do feel they've been given an opportunity to develop one of the greatest programs the state has ever had and since they were appointed they shouldn't lightly disregard it."

"There should be a certain amount of loyalty in anything," he said.

Asked about those who might have pledged support to someone else before Olive announced, Scott said, "those who jumped too soon ought to check with me on it they owe me at least that much."

Moscow Orders Are Blamed For The Delay

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — The United Nations moved today—apparently in vain—to break the Korean armistice deadlock and charged that the Communists were stalling on orders from Moscow.

The U. N. command took these steps in an attempt to end the impasse in truce negotiations:

1. Hinted that the Allies might be willing to compromise on their demand for an outright ban on airfield construction during an armistice.

2. Sought to clear the stormy air by admitting an "inadvertent" bombing of the security area surrounding the Communist truce camp at Kaesong Jan. 17 and the probability that U. N. planes also unintentionally attacked a Communist truce delegation convoy Jan. 18.

3. Decided to try a change of faces in the subcommittee on truce supervision. Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison Jr., deputy commander of the 8th Army, was named a truce delegate to succeed Maj. Gen. Claude B. Ferenbaugh, who has been reassigned to the Logistical Command at Camp Rucker, Ala.

CONCILIATORY MOOD

However the Communists showed a conciliatory mood only in a meeting of staff officers. The Reds agreed to mark their prisoner of war camps during daylight, but not at night, and promised they would provide a map pinpointing the location of all 11 camps.

Both steps were designed to prevent inadvertent Allied air attacks on the camps where 11,559 U. N. war prisoners, including 3,198 Americans are confined. The Communists claimed 20 Allied soldiers killed in an air raid on the Kaesong camp last week.

The Communists refused to yield an inch in their opposition in armistice subcommittees to any restriction on their right to build airfields during a truce and the right of war prisoners to reject repatriation.

Pastor Says France Best Mission Field

BY LOUIS DEARBORN
Record Staff Writer

France was described as the greatest mission field in the world last night by Rev. Millard C. Dunn, Durham Methodist minister, at a special meeting of the Erwin Lions Club, held in the Parish House of St. Stephens Episcopal Church.

Rev. Mr. Dunn, guest speaker, was describing his trip through European countries. He had gone to London to attend the ecumenical conference and the trip was sponsored by the church. The conference has been set for every five years and the next will be held in Bombay, India.

Ever since childhood, the speaker said, he had wanted to visit England and the shrines of Methodism, and he felt that this trip was the answer to his prayers.

The ship America, on which he left the United States, had everything on board that would be found in a modern city, he declared. "They even had a newspaper," he commented, turning to a reporter. Ship to shore telephone, kept the travellers in touch with home.

DiSalle To Run For Senate Seat In Ohio

WASHINGTON (AP) — Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle announced today he will run for the Democratic nomination to the U. S. Senate from Ohio.

DiSalle said he would quit his present post, but didn't know when. He announced his decision after a 30 minute talk with President Truman at the White House.

His decision also was announced after he telephoned and talked with his wife Myrtle at Toledo, O.

DiSalle admitted with a grin that she didn't want him to do it, but that she agreed to go along with whatever he wanted to do.

WOULD OPPOSE BRICKS

Should DiSalle, former mayor of Toledo, win the Democratic nomination he would oppose Sen. John W. Bricker (R-O) who is virtually certain to win the Republican nomination.

DiSalle said it "might be some time" before a successor is named. (Continued On Page Three)
