

BULLETINS

Discussion of the fifth and last agenda item in a new and definite attempt to end the war soon.

WASHINGTON (P) — Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey said today the proposed universal military training program "must be started now" to build up a vast reservoir of citizen soldiers.

MEMPHIS (P) — Southeastern representatives of the AFL teamsters union and truck line officials today sought to prevent a threatened walkout of truck drivers in 10 Southern states. M. W. Miller, chairman of the union's Southern committee, said it appeared "inevitable" that the drivers would strike at midnight tonight.

WASHINGTON (P) — The House, wary of setting a precedent, may drop contempt of Congress proceedings against William Power Maloney, the talkative attorney of "mystery man" Henry W. Grunewald.

PORTSMOUTH, O (P) — President Truman flew today over flooded sections of four states where the Ohio River has claimed 10 lives and caused millions of dollars of damage.

8TH ARMY HQ, Korea (P) — Allied jet fighters sweeping over North Korea near the Manchurian border sparred lightly today with 50 Communist MIG-15s, but no losses were inflicted.

WASHINGTON (P) — President Truman today denounced Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy as a pathological character assassin. The President offered that evaluation of the Wisconsin Senator after being asked to comment on recent attacks by McCarthy against David Lloyd, an administrative assistant to the President, and Philleo Nash, a White House adviser.

WASHINGTON (P) — A House subcommittee today accused the West Point Alumni Foundation of mis-using the Military Academy's name in a "cheap and tawdry solicitation" of advertising. The Foundation has no official or legal connection with the Academy, but its stockholders and directors are West Point graduates—all retired or resigned.

LONDON (P) — Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip kissed their two children good-bye again and left today on their second tour abroad in four months. The royal couple boarded a plane for Kenya, British colony in East Africa, to start a five-month tour that will take them to Ceylon, Australia and New Zealand.

WASHINGTON (P) — The government has removed price controls from "non-edible food," targets for "artificial shooting," dinosaur skeletons, and sundials. Price officials, under questioning, cited wax apples as an example of non-edible food. They defined artificial shooting as target shooting at clay pigeons.

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (P) — Political attention will be focused on this historic old Virginia capital tomorrow when Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, a Dixie and Truman leader, addresses the Virginia General Assembly here.

PANAMA, Panama (P) — The city returned to normal today following a day and night of student rioting over the government's refusal to extend the school term.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (P) — Robert Hopkins Wiley, veteran Hearst newspapers editor, died at a hospital here yesterday at the age of 65.

NEW YORK (P) — The National Council of Churches of Christ in the United States opposed permanent universal training today because it "is not in accord with our heritage as a free nation."

SEATTLE, Wash. (P) — Police and sheriff's deputies have confiscated three slot machines in a raid on the clubrooms of Alcoholic Anonymous, police reported today.

TOPEKA, Kan. (P) — Two men on the FBI's most wanted criminals list have been indicted in the robbery of the Johnson County National Bank at Olathe, Kan., last Nov. 23. George A. Heroux and Gerhard A. Puff were charged with the $60,000 robbery.

Democratic chairman, but that his "conduct was not such that it would dispel the appearance of wrongdoing."

Gabrielson was criticized for representing Carthage Hydrocol, Inc., which he heads, before the RFO after becoming GOP chairman.

LACK CANDOR
Both men were accused of lacking "candor" in the public statements which they issued in defense of their actions.

The report said that "when all of Boyle's actions as disclosed by this investigation are considered, it is evident that he failed to follow that course of conduct which the public rightfully expects of the chairman or other officials of a major political party."

As for the St. Louis printing firm, the committee said, "The government should be guarded in any further business with American Lithofold or any other company which engages in similar corrupting practices."

The report said Lithofold paid tax present or former federal employees money as sales commissions and distributed valuable gifts to at least six others.

ator than any other two matters combined. Only three Tar Heels have favored the proposal, so far, among the Senator's correspondents.

Approximately two out of every three Tar Heels — judging from the mail received — oppose UMT. And everybody who has written on the subject has called for a clean-up of Washington.

Stassen

fused in policy and blundering in program.

High production, full employment.

Stassen holds that from achievement of the foregoing basic objectives would flow other desirable results. For example, he said his sound money, profit-sharing and full employment plans were especially important to farmers because:

"In return for producing a bountiful supply of food, they should have an excellent income, received without governmental control of their lands, or their crops, or their marketing."

"This would be my administration's policy and it can be carried out without great difficulty along with the program for a modern gold standard and full employment with profit sharing."

"That seems to boil down to the idea that with sound money and the widest distribution of profits plus full employment, farmers would enjoy without government subsidy a sound and steady market for their produce."

Stassen would put a 10 per cent limit on tax rates on lower income brackets and a 50 per cent limit on higher bracket incomes. A graduated tax on this basis would approximate a 50 per cent reduction.

He would provide favorable tax law treatment to all business and industry to encourage voluntary profit-sharing with employees. He calls his plan an "economic system of people's capitalism."

HITS ADMINISTRATION

Stassen's speeches have scorched the administration on charges of corruption, waste and inefficiency. His first major speech on foreign affairs still is to come. But he has said:

"The dynamic policy I advocate rejects the negative and soft internationalist-containment policy which the administration has followed. It also rejects the timid, semi-isolationist, defensive policy which some others advocate."

"It is my view that the foreign policy of our country should have these clear-cut, outspoken objectives:

"To help all peoples make progress towards better living and become our friends.

"To defeat communism without a world war.

"To turn all nations away from socialism toward economic freedom.

"To strengthen the United Nations and re-write the Charter."

Stassen favors strict fair employment practices legislation. He goes along in general with the Taft-Hartley Act and opposes the administration's compulsory medical insurance plan. In June, 1950, Stassen cited, as pillars to support the people's freedom:

Ownership and management of basic industries, including specifically steel and oil and chemicals and real stores, by citizens and not by government; large resources of capital for investment; farmers in control of the land they farm; teachers free of any central governmental domination and people "constantly experiencing incentives to produce and accomplish and penalties if they loaf and waste."

is a money-saving feature. With narrower corner pillars, picture windows all around and a rear window that's 48 per cent larger, the new Ford offers "all-direction" vision that adds to enjoyment and safety.

Ford's new Coachcraft Bodies are longer, stronger and distinctive in their modern beauty. New hull-tight construction seals out dust, weather and noise. And Ford has more color and upholstery combinations than any other car in its field.

Other fine new features include such modern design and engineering features as new Flight-Style Control Panel, new Power-Pivot Clutch and Brake Pedals, new Center-Fill Fueling, and new counter-balanced hood and deck lid.

LONGER WHEEL BASE
The new '52 Ford has longer wheelbase, wider front tread and greater length. It's big outside and big inside, with spacious seating for six and the largest luggage locker of them all. It's a big family car that's a pleasure to own.

According to publicity releases, Ford has made greater strides forward for '52 than any other car in its class.

Citizens who visited the showrooms of Auto Sales and Service, and a cordial invitation is extended to all—will have a double treat because the 1952 Mercury is also on display there.

cial primary in Missouri. He said no.

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS
Other political developments: 1. The Georgia legislature completed action on a bill intended to withhold the state's electoral vote from Mrs. Truman or any other Democratic nominee deemed unsatisfactory by state party leaders.

2. Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle, candidate for the Ohio Democratic senatorial nomination, said the Truman administration does not think Eisenhower would be "a tough opponent."

3. Gov. Forrest Smith of Missouri announced he will not be a candidate for the Senate, but informed sources indicated that the announcement was not intended to clear the way for Mr. Truman to enter the Senate race in his home state.

Fitchett's Oil

E. C. Blackman, another engineer, demonstrated with the use of film strips, the results of metal to metal friction and demonstrated the effectiveness of the use of proper lubricants to offset this wear.

This is the first meeting of this type to be held in this section and Carl Fitchett, Jr., manager of the host oil company, promised the group present that more would be held in the future.

"We had very little time to prepare for this meeting, "he pointed out, "and at future meetings of this kind we will be able to get in touch with more people to whom this information will be valuable."

The meeting opened at 6:30 in the Dunn High School Cafeteria. It had been originally scheduled for the Dunn Armory, but the meeting place was changed because of a basketball game at the Armory. Barbecued pork and chicken, by Griffin of Goldsboro was served to the guests.

State Briefs

CHARLOTTE (P) — Republican state convention officials announced today that the date for the conclave here has been changed from March 15 to March 18 because the Armory would not be available until then.

gress amended the Selective Service Act of 1948 and renamed it "The Universal Military Training and Service Act."

A commission was set up by the Congress to develop a specific program of Universal Military Training.

And that's where the catch is: Getting such a "specific program" which will be acceptable to the Congress. That seems destined to be an extremely difficult, if not impossible, task.

Senator Smith is admittedly "cool" to the idea of Universal Military Training. He objects to the risk of the United States becoming what he calls a "militaristic nation".

But, he says, "we cannot run the risk of unpreparedness in case of aggression." And it's not fair, he said, to call on the men who fought in World War II to serve again, while other younger men are escaping the responsibility.

How Senator Smith will vote will depend on the proposals made by the commission set up to study UMT and make recommendations. Smith made it clear that "they'd better be good."
