The pupils of the Primary grades and the parents and friends of Mrs. T. J. Burlington's second grade at the Coats School, enjoyed a most delightful Chapel Program on Tuesday morning at 10:00 a. m. The theme was a doll show. There was a gorgeous array of beautiful dolls on the stage. One could hardly decide which were dolls and which were children. The girls wore lovely pastel colors of organdy dresses. The boys wore Cowboy outfits. The children showed by their performance that they had been well trained by their teacher Mrs. Burlington. The stage was decorated with potted plants, basket balloons, and streamers. A number of parents came to the program.

It is the policy of the school for each teacher to give one regular assembly program during the school year. This may be simple or elaborate. These programs take the place of Commencement exercises for the Elementary grades.

All the programs have shown the high type of training which the children are getting in the way of Dramatization, and Public School Missions.

Miss Lucille Allen and Mrs. Mildred Creech attended the Family Reunion of their sisters home near Benson Sunday.

Members of the faculty of Coats School who attended the first performance of the Ice Vespers at the Memorial Auditorium in Raleigh on the evening of January 24th were: Misses Phyllis Creech, Elyse Westbrook, Clyde Bryan and Mrs. Nell Williams. The girls' costumes have been beauty and grace that makes the two shows quite different.

The Lillington Cub Scouts were presented "Wolf" badges at ceremonies held Wednesday night at the Community Center. They were Robert Ward Winston, son of Mrs. Robert Winston and Andrew Jackson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jackson.

Following the presentation ceremonies, the two dens presented attractive skits designed to entertain parents and other visitors present for the monthly pack meeting. Both dramatizations were keyed to the subject of the stars, which has been emphasized in Scout programs of the past month. Den One, led by Mrs. Leon Kelly, gave "The Sun and Its Journeys." Den Two, led by Mrs. Howard Watkins, entitled their show "Stars and Planets Forever." Roy Moore was master of ceremonies of the latter show, modeled on a radio quiz program. Robert Trogden served as quiz expert.

Next month a dinner is planned for the February pack meeting, which attracts parents, and Scout officials as well as Cub Scouts. The boys meet weekly at the homes of the den mothers, but go to the Community Center for the monthly pack meetings.

During the business meeting two pure bred pigs were given to two lucky Grange members. A pig chain was started in the Grange about a year ago as a Community Service project. One hundred persons were reported as having signed for a proposed telephone line in this community.

Sandhills AA Group To Meet

The Sandhills Intergroup Association of Alcoholics Anonymous, comprised of groups from Sanford, Dunn, Fayetteville, Hamlet, Whiteville, Lumberton, Clinton, Wadesboro, Southern Pines and Laurinburg, will meet Sunday night at the Hotel Prince Charles in Fayetteville.

The meeting will start at 8:30 p. m. and will be preceded by a buffet supper. A prominent Raleigh businessman and a well-known radio announcer, both recovered alcoholics, will be the speakers.

Alcoholics Anonymous is an informal fellowship of men and women who cannot control their drinking and who have made their lives manageable and found a "new way of life" through the group therapy found among other alcoholics.

Among its members are carpenters, plumbers, painters, farmers, hotel men, lawyers, doctors, and ministers. One of the most outstanding speakers is a minister who lost his church and ended on "Skid Row" and who, through AA, recovered and is now pastor of a large Southern church.

There are no dues, AA sponsors no political causes, solicits no funds, accepts no grants of money or property, and takes part in no controversial subjects. It is not a reform movement.

The AA group in Dunn will be happy to arrange transportation for any alcoholic in the Dunn area who would like to attend this meeting in Fayetteville Sunday night.

Graham Will

With generals in the audience, he did not hesitate to talk about the West Point cribbing scandals. He held the sin "that exists in every man" responsible.

Graham had had good as well as bad to say for Washington. While criticizing dishonest politicians, he praised the present Congress as the "greatest we've had in a generation because it has exposed crime."

Button Leads

(Continued from page one) night on January 29th. In addition to the Walter Tucker breaking in, they are alleged to have entered the Green Heights Grill a second time.

On January 30, Bailey, alone again, is said to have confessed to two more break-ins, at the Harnett Furniture Company and again at the Green Heights Grill.

State Bureau of Investigation agents had been working with the Sheriff on the cases, and were closing in on the suspects, when the incriminating button was found at the Tucker place.

All seven have been arrested on breaking and entering warrants and a hearing on the cases is set for February 19 in Harnett Recorder's Court.

Markets

For the week: Broilers and fryers mostly steady. Heavy hens steady to one cent higher. Eggs steady.

HOGS

RALEIGH (AP) — Hog markets: Mt. Olive, Goldsboro, Smithfield, Dunn, Wilson, Kinston, Rocky Mount, Lumberton, Fayetteville, Marion, Florence: Steady at 18.00 for good and choice 160-240 lb. barrows and sows.

Costumes

(Continued from page one) production were planned and supervised by Anne Edwards, a graduate student at the University of North Carolina. She is demonstrating, in her present position of master electrician, that an appealing young actress can also be a competent technician. Her lighting arrangement, which seeks to duplicate the brilliant hues seen in a mountain sky, is proving successful.

With a tour of "Spring For Sure." The Carolina Players are attempting what many had thought impossible. But given the skill and determination of such artists as Lynn Gault, Irene Smart, and Anne Edwards, they have prepared a musical comedy production which is certain to live in the memory of each member of the audience.

Dunn Soldier

He spent 45 days at home and returned to Germany, where he and Margot (her friends over here know her as Margaret) were married on September 16, 1948. They got to the United States just in time for Christmas, spent 11 months at Fort McLean and then left for Korea.

So, you see, they've had comparatively very little time together. Mrs. Bass, who's very popular and well known to the many people who frequent Johnson's Restaurant, likes America and likes Dunn fine. She likes Dunn better, of course, when her husband is here. Right now, they aren't worrying about anything. They're on that second honeymoon.
