Revenue Change Is Announced Today By Snyder

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Treasury John W. Snyder announced today that the Internal Revenue collectors' offices in New York and Chicago will be replaced next month as the first step in the reorganization of the tax service.

A non-political district commissioner will take charge of all federal tax operations in each of these two cities. In New York there are three politically-appointed collectors now in command, three deputy district commissioners also will be named. The Chicago commissioner will have one deputy.

Snyder made the announcement at a joint news conference with Internal Revenue Commissioner John B. Dunlap, who will be the only political appointee in the federal tax service after the reform becomes fully effective.

He said the new district commissioners and deputies for New York and Chicago have not yet been selected, but that in any event they will have to qualify for the jobs under civil service regulations.

NO CHANGES NOW
None of the 64 collectors now directing tax operations throughout the country will be fired outright or removed from their jobs until the new district commissioners and deputies are ready to take over. Some of the present collectors may be moved into the new posts if they qualify.

Snyder and Dunlap said they are holding off the cleanup until next month to make sure there is no disruption of the big job of collecting 1951 income taxes and mailing out refunds to some 30,000,000 taxpayers who overpaid last year.

The Senate handed Snyder and Dunlap a big new broom to clean house in the scandal-ridden tax service late yesterday when it approved a presidential plan for reorganizing the Internal Revenue Bureau and ridding it of political patronage.

Teachers Hear

As an example of public relations at its worst he related an incident of a teacher coming to a pupils' home and blurring out in the presence of that pupil "Jane is a disturbing influence at school and I wish you would do something about it."

A pamphlet distributed at another school relating what the teachers were costing and comparing this with what the teachers were returning to the community, he cited as an illustration of public relations at its best.

Teachers in different schools picking faults with schools other than the one in which they teach he cited as another instance of the worst in public relations.

He told of one school which put on a spelling match between the adults of a civic club and sixth grade pupils. At its conclusion, he said, there were four of the sixth graders left standing. "This," he declared, "is a fine example of public relations at its best."

"We have in our hands the greatest privilege possessed by the parents," he declared, "and in our public relations we must not overlook the self motif." This he explained was the interest of parents in self through the child.

URGES MORE INTEREST
He counseled the teachers to show more interest in the child's activities out of school. "Do you ever inquire of the child what jobs he or she does out of school?" he inquired. "Do you ever drop by to see them play basketball? Do you call on your pupils or phone them or do you only contact them in case they are in trouble? Is your report card a hazard to public relations?"

"It's your job to see the schools and if you do not do this you fail the profession and the children," Dr. Abrams declared. "If as it should be the cause of education is so close to our hearts, we can all work together to do better public relations."

The meeting opened with the invocation delivered by Dr. George Guthrie, president of the Dunn Ministerial Association. The group and special guests were welcomed by President, Miss Rachel Clifford, President A. B. Gibson of the N. C. S. A. extended the greetings of the state body.

"And now," he continued, "I see where the Navy has requested an appropriation of 180 million dollars each year for ten years to develop a Navy plane equal to that of the Air Force."

The speaker questioned why the Navy and Air Force couldn't use the same type of aircraft, already developed, without more millions being spent.

Mayor Tally further reminded the civic group that a dollar today buys only 33 cents worth.

He advocated that Congress set its own military staff of advisors who would be accountable to Congress only and not to other military brass to help weed out waste and inefficiencies. He pointed out that Congress' present machinery does not permit such scrutiny.

Mayor Tally, reminding that the whole world looks to America for everything. He said the exertion of moral integrity would have a great influence—as great as money—on the rest of the world.

citizens on a cheaper project to begin with and then let them decide the argument could then be advanced that the work would have to be completed at any cost.

This has been the case in construction of several school projects in the county.

WANT TO KNOW FINAL COST
Contractors say it would be economical to give citizens the total and absolute final cost to begin with and then let them decide whether or not the money should be used for that purpose.

As for giving citizens a cheaper tax bill, those behind the project argue that taxes won't be cut regardless of anything else—that if the tax burden isn't kept for a courthouse that some other department will be demanding the money.

County School Superintendent Glenn Proffitt has estimated that the county needs two million dollars for school buildings.

Construction of a courthouse is likely to be an issue in the coming campaign.

Dunn's City Board Holds Special Meet

In a special meeting Wednesday afternoon the Town Board disposed of several problems that have resulted in lengthy debate at regular meetings of the town body recently. Present were City Manager O. O. Manning, Mayor Ralph Hanna and commissioners L. I. Coats, J. V. Bass, R. G. Tart and E. A. Bracey.

The question of enforcing the parking meter law on Wednesday afternoon was decided in favor of enforcement until after Easter when most of the Dunn stores will be closing on Wednesday afternoon.

Motion by Mr. Tart and seconded by Mr. Bass that the Workmen's Compensation Insurance coverage be placed with Barbour-Byerly Insurance Agency, with the understanding that the Town pay an initial premium of approximately $500.00 and that the coverage be placed on a permanent basis after July 1, 1952. Motion carried.

NO COMPROMISE
The matter of a compromise in the suit of Alma Moore, vs. Town of Dunn was brought up for discussion, and upon a voice vote it was agreed that the Town would not enter into any compromise before the trial came up for trial.

The matter of water and sewer service for Lettner project in western Dunn was brought up for further discussion, and after some discussion on the matter Mr. L. B. Busbee was called in on the matter. After Mr. Pope came into the conversation and during the discussion Mr. Pope agreed to pay

The sum of $2,000.00 provided the sewer line is run down West Pearl street, rather than being turned back into a manhole at Divine Street and South Watauga Avenue, and Mr. O. T. Latimer, agrees to pay an additional $500.00.

The City Manager recommended that the sewer service be run from a point at the intersection of Sue St. and Joy St., eastward along W. Pearl Street to a manhole located about half the distance between the run of Juniper Branch and South General Lee Avenue, which is the same as agreed upon by Mr. Pope in order that he agree to pay the $2,000.00.

Motion by Mr. Coats and seconded by Mr. Bass that the foregoing recommendation be accepted. Motion carried.

PROPOSES FIGURE
Mr. Louis Godwin made a proposal to furnish the machinery and labor and install the sewer line of 10" terra cotta pipe to be furnished by the Town for the sum of $2,706.25 provided the distance from the designated points does not aggregate more than 2,580 feet.

Motion by Mr. Coats and seconded by Mr. Bass that if after Mr. Godwin tapes the distance and if he agrees to do the job for $2,706.25 that he is authorized to begin work on the sewer line, otherwise that the matter be brought back to the Board Monday night, March 17, 1952. Motion carried.

The North, General Lee Avenue question of Water and sewer service was brought up, and it was found that the sewer service could come in from a manhole on North Orange Avenue and would save considerable distance, therefore Mr. Manning was instructed to bring in figures on the costs of materials for this project and have them ready for submission on Monday night, March 17, 1952.
