Tornadoes Rip Three Towns To End Winter

By UNITED PRESS
One of the worst blizzards of the winter halted rail and highway travel over the Sierra Nevada range today while rains lashed the Midwest in the wake of a series of tornadoes as winter made its last official curtain call.

Southern Pacific Railroad said it was forced to suspend temporarily freight and passenger service over Donner Summit in the Sierra Nevada mountains and highway crews struggled against the mounting snows to reach an isolated resort area.

The storms caused four deaths in the Far West.

MIDWEST HIT
A storm center gathering strength in the Midwest last night unleashed tornadoes in the Mississippi Valley.

A twister ripped a quarter-mile path through Farmington, Mo., injuring one woman and tearing the roofs off several houses.

Another tornado damaged 25 to 30 buildings in Kane, Ill., 85 miles to the north.

The Southwest, meanwhile, made preparations for possible emergency flood conditions as record snow piled up in the New Mexico and Southern Colorado mountains.

The late winter snows, coming on winter's last official day, dumped 300 inches or about 25 feet of snow in the Donner Summit region of the Sierra Nevada mountains.

Judge Praises Improvements At Courthouse

Superior Court Judge William T. Hatch of Raleigh yesterday gave the lie to the fact that men ignore housekeeping.

Presiding over a term of Harnett Superior Court in Lillington, Judge Hatch told the grand jury: "Two years ago, gentlemen, when I came here to hold court, this courtroom was in a deplorable condition. When I reclaimed officials about it, I found five previous grand jury reports relating to courthouse improvements had been ignored."

"This time when I came, I noticed quite a difference. The courtroom looks much better. I compliment those in charge of the building. Keep up the good work."

Pick-up also was hospitalized. Both were able yesterday to testify, although only the boy is still in the hospital.

Patrolman R. B. Leonard, who investigated the accident, was the state's sole witness. He testified that on arrival at the scene of the wreck he found McLean in an intoxicated condition and that a half gallon jar of liquor, partly consumed, was found in the pick-up.

Following Leonard's testimony McLean, who had first entered a plea of not guilty to the manslaughter charge, tendered a plea of nolo contendere.

The patrolman drew a diagram of the accident on the floor of the courtroom. He explained that the Johnson car, approaching on 210 from the direction of Angler was going South and had the right of way in the intersection. He said fire marks showed the Johnson car was far into the intersection when hit, and was a few feet to the South of the center. McLean, driving on 421 was approaching the crossroads from the direction of Buie's Creek and apparently hit the car head-on. The large stop signs are posted clearly on 421.

McLean, who was jailed in lieu of a $10,000 bond following the coroner, inquest also was indicted for breaking and entering Carl O'Quinn's store at Manners February 6. He tendered a guilty plea to this charge also and was sentenced to 18 to 36 months in state prison to run concurrently with the manslaughter sentence.

Patrol officers said they believed the prison sentence meted out to McLean was the first prison sentence to be given any defendant tried on manslaughter charges in several years in Harnett County although there were 17 fatalities in 1951, 12 in 1949 and 14 in 1948 and already in 1953 the county has had seven highway deaths.

Adjustment of court, however, and the case was continued until the next term of court.

Court was adjourned for the term in tribute to the late County Judge Floyd Taylor, who died Monday night.

THIEF CASES HEARD — Two Angler youths charged with breaking and entering Woodall's Store at Angler and with larceny of merchandise, were given suspended sentences.

throughout the day.

The vice squad began working on the case about three weeks ago when the parents of a Bronx high school student told police lead films had been shown to pupils at a secret prevue in the building.

During the raids plainclothesmen confiscated more than 500 obscene movies, thousands of objectionable comic books and numerous pornographic devices.

Detectives said movies were rented at high fees to individuals or private groups who, in turn, charged high "admission" prices.

Some of the private apartments were used as storerooms for the films and indecent photographs peddled by the ring, the district attorney's office said.

Driver Is Given Suspended Term

Jonas Granick, employee of a New York importing firm, yesterday in Harnett Superior Court entered a plea of no contest to manslaughter charges arising out of an automobile accident on February 17 in the town of Dunn which cost the life of Granick's friend, Howard Becken, also of New York.

"This man has suffered enough," said Attorney J. R. Young, Granick's counsel, who introduced an array of letters from co-workers and associates testifying to Granick's good character. The court was told parents of the dead man have no wish to prosecute.

Judge William T. Hatch sentenced Granick to one to three years in state prison, a sentence suspended on condition Granick remain a law abiding citizen for five years, not drive a car for a year, and pay a fine of $100 and costs.

Granick was the driver of a 1951 Dodge sedan which collided with a 1951 Ford truck trailer around 3 a. m. at the intersection of West Broad Street and Ellis Avenue in Dunn. Becker, who was riding in the front seat with Granick, was thrown out on the pavement at the hospital, the officer said.

Officers of the association, in addition to Mrs. Andrews, are: Mrs. L. M. Woolweaver, Manners, assistant supt.; Mrs. Harvey M. O'Quinn, Manners, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Ernest P. Russell of Dunn, community missions chairman, Miss Lillian Draughon of Dunn, stewardship chairman; Mrs. G. Van Stephens of Angler, mission study chairman; Mrs. James Taylor of Fuquay literature chairman; Mrs. A. B. Barefoot, Angler, White Cross chairman, Earl Holloman of Fuquay, Royal Ambassador Counselor; Mrs. L. B. Smith of Fuquay, Margaret Fund chairman, and Mrs. Forrest Maxwell of Erwin, Training Union chairman.

Theme of the meeting will be "The Power Of Jesus' Name."

WITNESSES HEARD
A coroner's jury on February 26 cleared truck driver, William J. Reichart, York, Pa., of fault in the accident since testimony of officers showed the truck, travelling south, had the green light in its favor. Granick was ordered held for the Grand Jury which early yesterday returned a true bill against him.

First witness offered by the state was Officer K. M. Fall of Dunn. However, since Fall made his investigation several hours after the accident occurred, Judge Hatch ordered court recessed until Officer Arnon Johnson, first officer on the scene after the crash, could come to court.

Johnson gave practically the same testimony as he offered earlier at the coroner's hearing. He said when he arrived Granick was walking around hysterical and was too confused to give a clear account of what happened. Later, questioned at the hospital, the officer said Granick told him he did not see the truck until it was right on him, that he failed to see the stop lights which are on the corners and were hidden by the truck, that it was misty and he did not see the curve.

Granick took the stand and told the court that travellers were taking turns driving and that he had switched with Becker at the wheel only a few minutes before the accident happened.

Federal ATU agents this morning tore up a 400-gallon whiskey still near McLamb's Crossroads, and the operators had finished the run and left the scene just before arrival of the officers.

The officers said the big submarine-type still had just finished a run. It was located near the Beulah Church, a short distance from McLamb's Crossroads, between Dunn and Peacock's Crossroads.

The officers poured out approximately 1,000 gallons of mash and 10 gallons of whiskey.

MCLAMB ARRESTED
In another raid conducted a few days ago, but just revealed this morning, the Federal agents arrested Robert Felton (Jake) McLamb, 25-year-old Erwin youth, at a whiskey still.

They said they found the 50-gallon whiskey still in one of McLamb's tobacco barns in full operation. Three barrels of beer were found.

McLamb was brought before Mrs. George Arthur Jackson, local United States Commissioner, and bound over to the next term of Federal Court in Raleigh.

Wake County ABC officers assisted in the raid.

Temporary improvements to school buildings and equipment, especially if safety problems arise, may prove quite expensive in the long run. If we want good school plants, we must pay for them."

The grand jury also recommended a new coat of paint for the jail and the living quarters of the jail.

Judge Hatch and Solicitor Jack Hooks were complimented by the grand jury for "the splendid manner in which they are conducting this court."

port from "several million old-line Democrats who have not fully approved of the magnitude of the administration's spending program, and have not voted in recent years."

ANSWERING CRITICS
He added that he was aware of the argument that they would lose support of minority groups considered important in national elections but said he believed that argument was "greatly exaggerated."

"I can think of no reason why I should lose any considerable segment of any group," he said.

"I think I have the best chance of any candidate at this time to win the nomination," Russell said.

"I believe I have more support now than any other Democrat."

In other political developments: 1. McKinney wired California Truman leaders to take the president's name off the state's June 3 primary ballot. The move left Sen. Earl Kefauver (D-Tenn) as the only Democratic candidate in California.

2. In Mississippi, the state Democratic Executive Committee unanimously endorsed Russell.

3. Republican backers of both Sen. Robert A. Taft and Gen. Eisenhower claimed victory in election of North Carolina's 26 GOP delegates. Eisenhower forces said they got 10 delegates, Taft 10 and that six were uncommitted. The Taft camp claimed 18, with six for Eisenhower and two uncommitted.

4. The White House said last night that Mr. Truman has not changed his position on leaving Eisenhower in Europe until the general asks to be relieved.

McKinney

failure of resolving the Korean situation satisfactorily.

"Does that mean if there is peace in Korea, he won't run again?" he was asked.

"If there is peace achieved in Korea, I would think he would consider it a job well done."

McKinney also told reporters if the President does not choose to run, he will not attempt to dictate his successor.

WOULDN'T DICTATE
"If he chooses not to run, it will be an open convention," said the party chairman. "I don't profess to be a kingmaker and I'm not going to be. Neither is the President."

He had words of praise for Sen. Richard B. Russell D-Ga., and Sen. Estes Kefauver D-Tenn., both candidates for the Democratic nomination, but said he and the President had not discussed personalities and as far as he is concerned, he plans a policy of strict neutrality. Mr. Truman bows out.

McKinney pressed the charges for his reasons for believing that a Korean settlement might be reached.

"Is there anything new to engender hope?" he was asked.

"No," he replied, "but everybody seems to think that this thing cannot be dragged out very much longer."

In recent days reports from Korea have indicated an atmosphere of restrained optimism around the truce headquarters. Yesterday Secretary of State Dean Acheson said he is confident a truce will be worked out.

As to Mr. Truman's personal plans, McKinney said:

"We generally agreed that his decision would be made in ample time so that if he does not choose to run, there would be sufficient time in advance of the convention for the various candidates to get on the ball."

He is more concerned at the present time with the Korean situation and the welfare of the country. I gathered he had not given too much thought to his candidacy."

ALL GOOD MEN
McKinney was asked what he thought of Russell, Kefauver and Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois.
