Truman Says

As for Eisenhower's military assignment, Mr. Truman said that in his book he thought he was doing a very able job.

He said Eisenhower could report to the secretary of defense at any time he feels it necessary and could report in person if he so desired. This was in response to queries about how Eisenhower would go about relinquishing his NATO command.

NO OPEN CONVENTION

The President also:

1. Said he had never seen a truly open political convention and that the 1952 Democratic convention certainly would not open if he decides to run again.

2. Was told that McKinney hoped for some definite word from him by May 15, and answered bluntly that he would set his own date.

3. And Newbold Morris will remain as head of the investigation of corruption-in-government although the Senate Judiciary Committee refused to give him suppena powers. The President said he still thought Morris needed the powers to do a proper job.

4. Said he has not received a request from a House subcommittee for permission to look at the income tax returns of Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath. He said he would decide this case after receiving the request.

NO COMMENT

WILLIE SUTTON AND CO-DEFENDANT GO TO TRIAL

Judge Commends Members Of Jury

Petit jurors came in for some kind words from Judge William T. Hatch at the closing of the March criminal term of Harnett Superior court.

"Ladies and gentlemen, the court wishes to thank you personally for serving on the jury," Judge Hatch said. "And I expect the experience was beneficial to you. I venture to say you learned something you did not know before this service. Few of you asked to be excused.

"Too often criticism is heard of the slowness of our court machinery," the judge added, "and it usually comes from the very persons who when summoned beg to be excused. Unless you are willing," he said, "to come into court and see for yourselves, you should keep quiet. Remember the courts are your courts; you get exactly the kind of law enforcement you demand."

MONKEYS ARE LIKE THAT

DELAND, Fla. (AP) — It's tough to be outside a monkey cage by a monkey, but that's what happened to a group of men here. Every time "rescuers" started climbing a tree after the elusive monk, which had escaped from a circus, the animal just jumped to another tree and grinned at his pursuers.
