Koon, princibal of Anderson Creek and host for the meeting, officiated at the drawing. Mrs. Hal Smith, wife of the Coats principal, drew the grand prize given to the lady with the birthday nearest to the date of the banquet. She received a 12-cup al Raließh business concern. BUROKT SPEAKS Citing the need to "examine ourselves and our work" Burkot listed some of the most frequent criticisms leveled at public educa-tion. The Campbell teacher, who noted that he is in the field of private education, quoted as typical of the comments which reach him are such remarks as: "Public edu-cation is the result of crackpots and theorists who consider all students of equal abilities"; "There is no religion in the school"; "Public education is socialistic, removing all care of the child from his family"; "Modrem Education does not teach "Modern Education does not teach the three R's as effectively as the little red house;" "Schools are under the evil domination of schools of education."

Answering each in turn. Burkot contended that his teaching ex-perience would not substantiate the charges and argued that changes perience would not substantiate the charges and argued that changes in methods and techinques is essential in a fast changing world. "But." he said. "We need to know what other people are saying about us and do better." The calling for better planning-furkot emphasized that teachers burkot explain the same say and function of the same say and the same same say and the same same same same same trans our vision will take us." "I think," Burkot said, "that too many teachers postone taking root in a community because they are exrecting to look for greener pas-tures. Remember it takes a whole lifetime to make a sizeable con-tribution to our communities." "The best way to learn things in the school business." Burkot said, "is to wisit other schools and see how they are doing the same job. This exchange of in-formation is something vitally needed in public education."

New Ford Mileage Maker SIX Thriftiest in its Field!

al Stueli

Again this year . . . as in the past two years . . . Ford was first in gas economy over all other cars in its price class in the Mobilgas Economy Run. In this coughest test, a stock model Ford Six equipped with Overdrive (optional at extra cost) averaged 53;855 ton-miles per gallon and 25.463 actual miles per gallon.

gallon and 25.405 actual miles per gallon. This was a very special triumph for Ford's All-New Mileage Maker high-compression Six. For now, with its new design providing 101-horsepower and free-turning overhead valves, Ford is definitely pound-for-pound the most economical low-priced car to run! Yes... ord's thrift was clearly proved by the 1.415-mile grind from Los Angeles to Sun Valley. And a very important factor contributing to this victory is Ford's Automatic Power Pilot which squeezes the last ounce of power out of every drop of gas.

*The AAA Contest Boord determines the winner by a "ton-mile per gallon" formula to innure equal chance for all cars in each class regardless of size and weight. Ton-miles per gallon equals the car weight (including passengers) in tons, multi-plied by number of miles travelled, divided by number of gallons consemed.
