Board Considers Other Problems

Let's get on with some of the town's business," suggested Mayor Ralph Hanna to the council after the hour and a half interlude provided by Oliver O. Manning, with his recital of achievements, illustrated by projection slides.

None of the three items on the regular agenda had been touched on until that time, although several matters, the Mayor termed too pressing to wait, had been heard and a decision rendered.

Prior to the Manning lecture, the board had decided to make a counter offer to Erwin Mills of 16 cents per thousand gal. for water, when Commissioner R. G. Tart and City Attorney I. R. Williams reported that Manager E. H. Best had told them he thought 15 cents a fair price. City Manager Oliver O. Manning pointed out the costs of manufacturing were 15.9 cents.

Commissioners L. L. Coats, J. V. Bass and Mayor Hanna, reported on the progress in reference to the Dunn Armory. The state is willing to take over the building and make the necessary repairs, they reported. The non-military use of the structure could be continued, but would be determined by the National Guard Command-er.

TO MAKE SURVEY
Major General John H. Manning, the Adjutant General, will be in Dunn soon with Army engineers, to make a survey and see what the needs of the Armory are, before a definite decision is requested from the city fathers with regard to the state taking over.

Mayor Hanna pointed out that current needed repairs would cost $7,500 to start and City Clerk Charles Storey reported that the revenue from the building was but $2,500 yearly.

Attorney Max McLeod, representing the Dunn Ice and Fuel Company, appeared directly after the board resumed regular work, with the requests that the town advertise the property, now leased by that company for five year lease. The company, he said, would guarantee to start the bidding at $30 monthly. It was granted, subject to City Attorney Williams clearing the legal details.

Attorney Williams recommended the acceptance of 12 feet of land owned by R. L. Bass, bordering along the northwest edge of the swimming pool and on which the walkway overlaps about six feet. The board agreed and Commissioner Bass remarked, "We should also send him a letter expressing our profound thanks."

AUDITING CONTRACT
The contract for auditing the accounts of the town were awarded to Thurman G. Ennis and Company for $750, subject to the terms of the 1950-51 minutes, which call for a quarterly audit.

The board agreed to install a two inch water line from West Broad up the old Coats road to take care of the property of C. M. Blackburn, subject to his paying $68, plus the tapping

Over Two Million Put On Tax Books

Tax Supervisor Berles Johnson today reported that around two and a half million dollars in tax valuations have been added to the tax books in Harnett County.

Total valuations have moved from approximately forty-seven and a half million to forty-nine million dollars. New construction and increase in personal property book-ed for taxes accounted for the majority of increases.

WILL HELP BUDGET
Johnson's report brought smiles to the faces of the county commissioners on Monday as they recognized that the increased valuation will give them a slight leeway in the budget. Some of the commissioners voiced the thought that the increased valuation provided the tax rate stays at $1.30 would bring in around $15,000 additional revenue.

But Auditor H. D. Carson Jr., was quick to warn "that it takes a lot of increase in valuation to be reflected in tax returns. Two and a half million dollars sounds high," he said, "but the percent of taxes it will produce will not noticeably alter the budget demands."

However, all were in agreement that the alertness of Tax Supervisor Johnson will certainly provide the county with unexpected "pocket change" and is a true gauge of the healthy economic condition of Harnett County.

ment was to collect a total of $578,307.62. With July or the start of a new county fiscal year just around the corner that leaves around 10.03 percent or $68,019.27 yet on the tax books.

"It would be mighty fine if we could say we had 90 percent of the 1951 levy collected, but we are just a little short of that," Ray said. Last year at the same month the tax office had 88.46 percent of the 1950 taxes in hand, and Ray noted that this year's percentages of 89.97 percent collected is still a 1.51 percent better record than it was last May.

During May $5,011.75 in current and $1,550.95 in delinquent taxes were collected, accounting for a total of $6,562.70. Revenues from other sources such as the general county fund, school fund, and federal and state assistance programs totaled $57,687.77. In all, his office handled a total of $64,250.47 during the month. Collections have been deposited with the First Citizens Bank and Trust Co., Dunn.

thing about the fight to make a navigable stream out of the Cape Fear. "Everybody has tried to fight the river," he said. "Nobody has succeeded for long."

The river was the highway to the sea. Before the days of steamboats it was navigated principally by flatboats propelled upstream by 8 poles in the hands of slaves. As early as 1790 people started to try to tame the river. The Civil War brought such efforts to an end, and the coming of the Atlantic Coast Line in 1884 ended permanently all such efforts.

"But," prophesied Fowler, "the river will be tamed yet, not for navigation, but for water power. Before this can come about, engineers must solve the problem of silt, which now will fill a dam and render it useless in 14 years."

fee, a total of $123. He will be re-funded $40 when one new consumer taps the line and the remaining $83 when a second consumer does.

These matters, plus the time spent on the mass meeting dominated by Manning, took considerable time, and it was after midnight before the weary members of the board were able to go home.

Two Accidents Are Reported

Two accidents but none involving personal injury, were investigated Monday night by the Dunn Police Department.

Investigating a report that someone had run into the porch of the home of Willie James Lucas, officers found that a 1938 Buick, driven by James Leak, had knocked over a porch post. Leak said the knob on his steering wheel had slipped as he turned the corner, and agreed to pay for the damage.

At 7:15 Monday night, officers went to the intersection of Fayetteville and Granville, where they found that a 1941 Chevrolet ton and one-half truck, driven by Rufus Howard and owned by G. F. Pope, had been hit in the right side by a 1939 Plymouth, driven by Maish Van Cagle.

The Plymouth had skidded 20 feet before striking the truck, and its damage was estimated at $250. The truck was damaged to the extent of about $20.

he will know the people are behind him."

"I assume," said Mr. Slaughter, "that through the press and in other ways members of the city council will find out that the public does not support their action in firing the city manager without cause or reason."

Mr. Slaughter pointed out that citizens who attended the mass meeting here Monday night and heard Mr. Manning's accomplishments outlined and saw actual photographs of some of them feel that the city manager has been thoroughly vindicated of any reason or charge that his services have not been satisfactory.

JACKSON NO LONGER ISSUE
There was an indication today that now that the firing of Chief Jackson has been backed up by the board and disposed of that another mass meeting will be demanded by friends of Mr. Manning so that issue alone can be thrashed out between citizens and the board.

Mr. Manning has stated that he opposes such hearings and is willing to abide by the board's decision.

"What happens to me as an individual is not important," said Mr. Manning. "I'm just interested in building a better community."

Mayor Ralph Hanna said yesterday that if Manning doesn't resign the office will be declared vacant on the 15th and an acting city manager named on that date, or the following day since the 15th falls on Sunday.
