Record Forum

TO THE EDITOR:
WHY I AND OTHERS ARE IN THE DOG HOUSE

Truth is the only thing that we don't have to sweat to stick to — unless men make you sweat because you do. If you were not interested in my opinion — who told you? When Oliver O. Manning inspired us with his manhood, and furnished evidence that GOOD GOVERNMENT was not only possible, but could be close at hand, I suggested an endorsement of his stand and helped start it with the petition. I made it clear to some at the start that I was a "country boy" and couldn't wage a political battle. To avoid political entanglements and interference has not been pleasant.

Many people wanted exertion of political pressure — not moral — on the Board. I believed a majority of Dunn's citizens wanted the man, and many wanted one who could "say their piece" — I obliged. But as I struggled to keep clear of your rights many, almost all, kept clear of me.

For instance:
Some actually thought that the issue was a test of whether we were to continue City Manager Form of Government. "I don't like it so I'll fight it by letting someone else sign an endorsement — this is a good chance to defeat it." We are not good sports! We should learn that to carry campaigns through a tenure of office is to harass, hamper and prevent elected officials from working what the winners on election day had, as a majority mandate of the people, a right to try. Good sportsmanship would say, "O. K., let's try yours — we'll help. If it does what you say, fine."

Some thought it a battle between ex-chief Jackson and soon to be ex-City Manager Manning. As one woman said to my teeth, "we're gonna beat you." who's fighting? "We Jackson supporters are going to lick you." See what I mean? May I say here that any man that wouldn't stick by his friend is a heel. Let me say also that friendship is not the rule of good government — BUSINESS IS! Accumulate evidence showing your friend's competence, efficiency and honesty, and I'll help you fight for him. I ain't got no better sense.

I must tell you frankly that I didn't relish fighting so many "confused opinions" to stick to my desire to help you make Dunn the source of "FAVORABLE Publicity." I am glad now I did not let you down.

Wanna know sumpin'? I have had visitors from many cities who were anxious to know if Dunn could "set an example" back to freedom. You see they were conscious that they were in the same kind of muddle.

They didn't have a Hoover Adams to remind them that "sore spots" are but indication of poison in the system resulting from wrong use of the head. Aspirins NEVER yet has cleaned a system — doesn't furnish much relief either, Eh?

"Since I am the stink stirrer (I must have put it there to stir too). To clear the minds I have confused, I am going to continue to state the case as I take my "rap" for the sake of those who asked me to help them, and for you who needed it focused even if you were unwilling. I owe that duty and it is one debt I can pay — NOW.

I am a funny guy. Simple ideas too. I did think I was a part of Dunn — U. S. A. — The World. I entered to defend a man. I did it gladly. If what I believe about man's dignity, value, meaning fails, I must find a THING that will believe in me as I in IT — justifying both our faiths.

I once heard of a lawyer who defended a dog. Remember? But no record was made of the dog's reply. Oh, I suppose he was grateful. Dix Hill has people who can show gratitude and would ever follow you around. They wouldn't know any better — they and the dog don't have "opinions".

I AM NOT MAD AT ANYBODY Nor am I going to fight anyone I'll fight for you.

If you're still interested to get the straight of why I "stuck my nose in your business" follow The Daily Record each day. I will try to go through by the middle of next week.

If you want "tar and feathers", I'll help you find some. Doggone! ain't it all right to like somebody and want to let them know why you make such a "mess" of things? Respectfully Yours,

B. O. Slaughter, the guy whc fizzled.

Frances Atkins Entertains Guests At House Party
Miss Frances Louise Atkins has returned from Windy Hill beach on the South Carolina coast where she was hostess at a house party for nine of her classmates from Mt. Mary's School and Junior College.

Miss Atkins recently spent a week as the houseguest of Miss Alice Bost in Hickory and went from there to the beach where she was joined by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Atkins, who had engaged the R. G. Powell summer home for the week.

Their guests included: Misses Evelyn Menzies and Ann Patrick of Hickory, Kathryn Morrison and Jean Graves of Gastonia, Caroline Robinson and "Timmy" Simmons of Columbia, S. C., Pearl Smith of Shelby and Sally Hope of Honea Path, S. C.

left with the men and Romero followed them to her hotel.

Grimacing as he told his story, Romero said he waited for the men to leave her room and he walked in.

"I walk into room and she was sitting on bed almost undressed," he said in broken English. "She enraged," he said, but Romero didn't explain the reason for Mrs. Thompson's anger.

CLAIMS ATTACK
"I say hello Irene, how are you and she look me over from my feet to my head and grab a pen and come at me," Romero said.

He told police he "put up my hands to stop her and the pen went into my hand. Bout that time I be mad and don't understand myself."

Romero said he twisted her arm and "somehow the pen get stuck in her breast."

She was found in a penetrating hole in her breast that police said could have been made with a pen.

Romero said Mrs. Thompson then grabbed an electric iron cord and lashed him with it. Romero lunged at her and they fell to the floor.

He said they struggled on the floor and the cord became entwined around her neck.
"I pull it tight," Romero said.

Dunn's Frozen
official weather observer for the town. His thermometer is a standard Weather Bureau gauge in a latticed box which records high and low temperatures automatically for a 24-hour period.

East Tennessee counted five deaths since Sunday attributed to the heat. Two were from prostration, three from drowning.

TWO DIE FROM HEAT
Two have died from the heat at Fort Jackson, S. C., which logged a high of 103 yesterday. Pvt. Harold Kaufman, Cleveland, O., died on the rifle range, and Pvt. James A. Tate, Lexington, N. C., died of sunstroke last week.

Although no all-time highs were being set for individual days, the Weather Bureau said above-average predictions for today would set an average equalling that of June 1943, highest on record.

In Gaffney, S. C., two fugitives from a North Carolina prison were caught when they got out of their stolen car to cool their feet. They were found wading barefoot in a creek.

DUNN IN THE NEWS
In Dunn, N. C., thieves moved the 500-pound safe of a frozen food locker into the freezer room before they cracked it and stole $400. (This item was broadcast this morning by the National Broadcasting Company.)

"The interesting thing about this heat wave," said a weather forecaster, "is that the temperatures are very close to the record for so early in the summer, but very few records are actually being broken."

"Yesterday had more places with 100 or higher than any previous day of the month in the Southeast. Highs of 100 were fairly numerous up into Kentucky and Virginia."
