Harnett Woman Kills Husband

Mrs. Zona Arnold Weaver, 38-year-old Harnett farm wife, was freed under $1,000 bond today after killing her husband in a row over another woman.

The tall, brown-haired woman told a corner's jury Sunday morning between tears that she pumped "three or four" bullets into the body of Willie Weaver during a fust and fight that started Saturday night when he brought another woman to their home.

The slaying occurred at their farm home, located about two miles south of Lillington. They occupied one of two apartments in the structure which served as the old county home.

Mrs. Weaver told the jury impaneled by Coroner Grover C. Henderson of Dunn that she shot her husband several times and then assisted him back into the bedroom and laid him on the bed to die. Death came almost instantly, she said.

STILL LOVES HIM "But I still love him," the woman insisted to the jurors during her dramatic testimony.

The other woman, Inez Hough, about 40, of Coats, sat quietly as her alleged rival in love related how she killed her 40-year-old farmer husband.

She told the jurors that Mrs. Weaver assaulted her when Weaver took her to their home late Saturday night. She said that he and a neighbor, Silas Lanier, had picked her up at her home, and that they went "for a friendly ride."

The woman also denied on cross-examination that she made a practice of going out with strange men.

Mrs. Weaver testified that the trouble all started last night when her husband drove up to the house with the Hough woman. She said she went outside, pulled the Hough woman out of the car and started beating on her.

A man by the name of Gray Lee, a neighbor, separated them and then took the Hough woman home.

Mrs. Weaver said she and her husband fussed and argued for a while and then went to bed. She said she took his .22 calibre pistol and hid it in the drawer of a kitchen cabinet for fear he might try to kill her.

She said that they resumed the argument this morning and that her husband started beating her and forced her from the living room back into the kitchen. She said that when he started at her with a metal cigarette stand, she took out the pistol and fired.

The woman said she kept warning her husband not to come any closer at her with the cigarette stand.

One bullet pierced his left arm, one lodged in his leg and the third struck him in the throat. Coroner Henderson said he found blood on the cigarette stand.

Mrs. Weaver said she helped her husband back into the bedroom and put him on the bed and he died almost instantly.

J. D. Lanier, who occupies an adjoining apartment, said he heard

Huge Whiskey Distillery Is Captured Near Coats

Eight ATU men from the Cumberland County ABC office and two Harnett County officers took part in an all-night vigil that netted them one still operator, 30 gallons of illegal whiskey, 2400 gallons of mash and one automobile.

The still, which consisted of six-1000-gallon submarine type units was located about two mile east of Coats in a densely wooded section. It had been run Saturday, and the officers took up posts around the plant that night, waiting for the operators to return.

About five o'clock Sunday morning, a 1936 Ford, driven by a man identified as Leamon Oleo Tanner of Route 2 Dunn, rolled up, and the driver proceeded to load on 30

Dunn Man Shot At Skate Rink

Officers are seeking Milton Roberts of oats as the suspect in a shooting last night at a he Dunn-erwin skating rink, on the highway half way between here and Erwin. Shells from a .22 calibre gun, found in Robert's car by Deputy Sheriff B. F. Sturgill, link the suspect to the motiveless shooting. Two of the shots struck John David Lee, route 3, Dunn, 23 years old, one in the arm and the other grazing his chest.

According to witnesses, the shots were fired into a crowd in front of the rink. There had been an argument with the suspect and no one could advance a reason for the shooting.

Deputy Sturgill took out a warrant for the suspect before Solicitor J. Shephard Bryan this morning, charging assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill and

Stevenson-Kerr Ticket Boosted For Democrats

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Democratic sources today reported increasing sentiment among party "regulars" for a Stevenson-Kerr ticket.

Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois would be the Democratic presidential nominee on such a ticket, with Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla) as his running mate.

Stevenson said several weeks ago that he "could not" accept the presidential nomination. But he has been getting less and less emphatic about it lately, and a large number of professional politicians here now take it for granted that he is "available."

Kerr is an active candidate for the presidential nomination, and predicted in Salt Lake City yesterday that he will win it on the fifth or sixth ballot. But many party leaders believe he would be receptive to the vice presidential nomination.

RUSSELL WANTS TOP POST Talk of a Stevenson-Russell ticket which was popular in Democratic circles a few weeks ago, is now waning. Close associates of Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga) are convinced that Russell means just what he says about wanting the presidential nomination or nothing.

As a "border state" senator, who has voted with Southern Democrats on civil rights legislation, Kerr would be acceptable to most of Russell's Deep South backers, and would help to give the ticket the "regional balance" which is considered vital to hold the South in line this year.

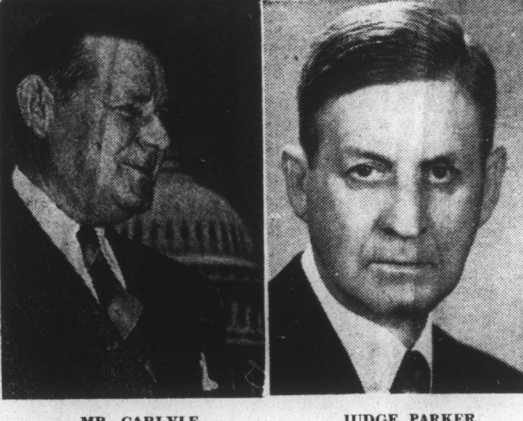

KEFAUVER NOT INTERESTED Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), now leading all other Democratic presidential candidates in pledged delegates, is not, often mentioned as a possible Stevenson rival, made for two reasons. He has said emphatically that he isn't interested in the vice presidency; and the same party regulars who are backing Stevenson are strongly anti-Kefauver.

Vice President Alben W. Barkley has made it clear that he is not seeking another term in his present job, although he would accept the presidential nomination if it should come his way.

With three weeks to go before the Democratic convention gets underway in Chicago, the party's numerous presidential candidates were bearing down on their appeals for delegates and their claims of victory.

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS The main developments: 1. Russell returned from a long swing through Western states with the optimistic pronouncement that he "really made hay out there." The Georgia senator said he picked

Carlyle Wins Third Term In Congress

Congressman F. Ertel Carlyle of Lumberton won his third two-year term Saturday by delivering a crushing defeat to his young opponent, Mayor Joe Tally of Fayetteville.

So quick and so decisive was Congressman Carlyle's victory that Mr. Tally conceded before nine o'clock Saturday night and telephoned his congratulations to Mr. Carlyle.

The latest tabulation of the district's vote gave Mr. Carlyle 20,918 ballots to 15,057 for Tally a lead of more than 5,000 votes.

Congressman Carlyle, who led by little over 1,000 votes in the first primary and carried only two counties, made a strong and impressive comeback.

In the first primary, he was unable to campaign because of the serious illness of his wife and for a week of the second campaign he was confined to the hospital with a foot ailment.

CARRIES FIVE COUNTIES On Saturday, Congressman Carlyle carried every county in the district except Harnett and New Hanover. Harnett, which traditionally votes against winning district and State officials, gave Mr. Tally a vote of 2315 to 1637, a margin of 678, while the margin in New Hanover was only 244. Mr. Tally received his largest majority in Harnett.

In both primaries, Mr. Tally was defeated in his own county of Cumberland.

Mr. Carlyle made good his promise to defeat Tally by an even greater majority in Cumberland in the second primary than in the first. His margin was less than 500 in the first, but Saturday Cumberland gave Carlyle a margin of 1494 votes.

By their vote Saturday, the people of the Seventh District gave a hearty endorsement to Congressman Carlyle's record and rejected Mr. Tally's campaign issue of "Nothing Representation."

Mr. Tally had strong support in Harnett and made an intensive campaign here. Because of his wife's illness, Mr. Carlyle was able to make only two visits here.

In the first primary, Mr. Carlyle

Harnett Vote Was Unusually Light Saturday

County Judge M. O. Lee of Lillington defeated Billy Taylor, young Buie's Creek lawyer, for a four-year term as county recorder Saturday in the only county-wide race of the second primary.

Harnett's vote Saturday was considerably smaller than in the first primary. In the first primary, 4,000 votes were cast while less than 4,000 voted on Saturday. The intense heat kept many away from the polls.

In the State and district races, Harnett gave Judge R. Hunt Parker a vote of 2,594 for Associate Supreme Court Justice against only 599 for Judge William Bobbitt of Charlotte.

HARNETT FOR TALLY Mayor Joe Tally of Fayetteville again carried Harnett over Congressman F. Ertel Carlyle of Lumberton, who was renominated by the district by a majority of more than 5,000 votes.

Harnett gave Tally 2,315 votes and Carlyle 1,637. Harnett was one of only two counties in the district to give Tally a majority and his majority in New Hanover was only about 200. Harnett also voted against Wm. B. Umstead.

The county has a tradition of voting against winning state candidates.

Judge Lee defeated Taylor by a vote of 1816 to 1502, with all 21 precincts reported. Judge Lee carried all but 6 of the county's 21 precincts, with the vote in some of the precincts.

Judge Lee, prominent Lillington attorney, was appointed to the bench in March by the county board of commissioners following the death of County Judge Floyd H. Taylor, who had served for 22 years.

Judge Lee's opponent was the youngest son of the late Judge.

HAS FINE RECORD

Harnett's new judge served from one year as vice recorder and for 11 years as county solicitor before rising to the bench. For four years, he was Harnett Democratic Chairman and has held various other positions in the county.

H. E. Lassiter, Jr., young Duke township farmer, was elected county commissioner in District II over Coy Lucas by the slim margin of 32 votes. Lassiter received 528 votes and Lucas got 496 votes. Lassiter had led by 121 in the first primary.

Lassiter will represent the district township of Duke and Grove townships on the county board.

MANNING RENOMINATED

In the one township race Saturday, Constable Eli Manning of Stewart's Creek defeated Geraldine Allen by a vote of 129 to 77. Three others were eliminated in the first primary.

Lassiter was unable to attend because of illness and Thomas begged to be excused in order to attend a wedding but the other special guests were present.

The group enjoyed bathing and chatting together, followed by a supper of fried chicken, potato salad, lettuce, tomatoes, pickles, rolls, cookies and iced tea.

Those present in addition to the special guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Barefoot, Portsmouth, Va., Mrs. Kelly Barefoot, Columbia, S. C., Joe Lyneberg, Baltimore, Md. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Parker and son, Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Strickland and son, Larry, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ralph and children Mr. and Mrs. J. Thomas West and children, Mr. and Mrs. Cleburn Daniels and children, Mr. and Mrs. John Colville and son, Larry and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lee and son, David.

Everyone enjoyed the occasion especially the swimming at the cool lake.

Funeral services will be held here Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock for Oscar T. Wilson, 73, pioneer Dunn resident and former Chief of Police. Mr. Wilson, one of the town's best known residents, died Sunday morning at 10:45 o'clock in Good Hope Hospital at Erwin. He had been retired for several years because of poor health. He suffered a heart attack on Saturday night.

The services will be held at the home on East Cumberland Street. The Rev. Ernest P. Russell, pastor of the First Baptist Church, and the Rev. A. A. America, pastor of Glad Tidings Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

OLD-TIME RESIDENT Mr. Wilson was a native of Person County, son of the late John D. and Indiana Roseman Wilson. He had lived in Dunn for more than 40 years and for 35 years before retiring he held a position with the General Utility Company, local cotton concern.

He was one of the town's first police chiefs.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Beulah West Wilson, four sons, Cleon T. and O. T. Wilson, both of Dunn; Howard S. of Wilmington. (Continued on Page Two)

Nebraska Governor Opens Conference

HOUSTON, Tex.—Gov. Val Peterson of Nebraska opened the 44th annual National Governors' Conference today with a blast at the "ineptness" of the national administration and a warning against "running to Washington for handouts."

Peterson is chairman of the conference. His talk was the first major address as the chief executives of 46 states settled down to the business of the three-day meetings. Though the business meetings began today, politics was still the main topic on everyone's mind.

In the widely split Republican camp, politics was at its highest pitch.

LIKE SUPPORTERS BUSY Several supporters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower admittedly carried out "missionary" meetings trying to swing delegates to the national GOP convention to their candidate.

On the Democratic side, the way apparently was cleared for "truce meetings" between Northern and Southern factions after Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas, a leader of the present Dixie members, and Gov. Paul S. Dever of Massachusetts, the keynote for the national convention sent out "peace feelers."

Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado said he had been doing "missionary work for Eisenhower for a long time and I will continue to do so." Similar sentiments were expressed by Peterson, Gov. Frederick Payne of Maine, Walter J. Kohler, Jr. of Wisconsin, and Alfred Driscoll of New Jersey, among others.
