Mr. Nichols Shocked Vee's Pix In Bathtub

CHICAGO (P) — I got the shock of my life when I called on the lonely folks at the temporary Democratic headquarters here.

I was chatting with pretty Dorothy Vredenburg, secretary for the Democratic national committee, when I came down with an uncontrollable thirst. "Where can a man get a cold drink of water?" I asked her. "In the bathroom," Dorothy said. "There is an ice-water tap." When the door opened, who met me but a bigger-than-life likeness of the Hon. Alben W. Barkley, Vice President of the United States—sitting in the bathtub. I looked him in the eye, and he looked right back.

NO OTHER PLACE "We had no other place to store the Vee's picture," Dorothy hastily explained. The picture and other gear will be moved from the 13th floor of the Conrad Hilton Hotel to permanent headquarters on the 8th when the Republicans get their conventions done and move out. The Democratic convention will get underway here on July 21. Aside from the presence of the salty old vice president on cardboard, the temporary quarters are pretty much like a tomb, all tucked away on an odd floor in the midst of the GOP delegates. Everybody looked a little lonesome.

SPYING ON ENEMY I didn't really go in to see Dorothy, although I'm glad I did and enjoyed the twang of her Alabama accent. I wanted to see her boss, Neal Roach, Democratic convention manager, but it turned he was out at the convention hall, spying on the enemy. "We are just looking things over," Dorothy said. "To see if we can learn something." The Democrats have Ken Fry in charge of radio, and Leonard Reinsch, in charge of television, on the job. They monitor all of the radio and television casts to see if the Republicans make any blunders.

"So far they have put on a pretty good show," Dorothy admitted, "but if they pull any boners we'll profit by it. Not the programs themselves, but how they are put on by the speakers and the delegates themselves." Dorothy and the rest don't have any superstitions about being on the 13th floor. "It's only temporary, anyway," she said.

Man Is Acquitted On Immorality Charges

RAMSGATE, England (P) — A jury freed William Williams of charges he climbed into bed with a 21-year-old blonde mother and impersonated her husband.

Williams, 24, pleaded not guilty and insisted Mrs. Jane Rivers knew who it was all the time. She had told the court she was greatly embarrassed when she discovered the man with whom she made love was not her husband. The jury needed only 20 minutes to accept Williams' story after Judge Sir Geoffrey Streatfield called the whole performance "disgraceful and sordid" and said "if this was a court of morals you would not have the slightest difficulty in convicting him." The specific charge against Williams was that he had "carnal knowledge of Mrs. Rivers ... without her consent by impersonating her husband."

PREVIOUS AFFAIR Williams told the court he had gone with Mrs. Rivers several times before her marriage and had made love to her. In addition, he said, he had kissed her several times since her marriage. He said he had gone to a wedding reception with Rivers and went back to the Rivers home later to fetch his bicycle. Rivers was taking home a girl named Dottie, he said. "I went into the bedroom, sat down and kissed her on the cheek," he said. "She turned into my arms and I got into bed with her." In response to questioning by the judge, Williams said the Rivers marriage was "on the rocks," that he was certain Mrs. Rivers knew his voice and that she often said she hated her husband.

The Lioba helps feed the fleet. Her primary job is to distribute fresh meat and vegetables to ships and bases in the Atlantic. By providing logistic support to ships underway, the Lioba plays an important role in keeping the fleet supplied on station, thereby eliminating the necessity of ships withdrawing to home ports for replenishment.

(Continued From Page One) out the State Department and fire diplomats who helped to engineer the present plight. They will wage peace and win it. They will support collective security abroad, but will limit economic and military aid to what we can afford. They will give Asia equal priority with Europe, and won't overlook the Americas either.

CIVIL RIGHTS The GOP condemns bigotry and denounces Democratic "duplicitous and unbecoming" civil rights promises. It believes states should carry the main responsibility on civil rights, with the federal government filling the gaps. The party pledges federal action against lynching, poll taxes, and segregation in the national capital. It will enact "legislation to further just and adequate treatment in the area of discriminatory employment practices." This won't apply where states end such practices on their own.

CORRUPTION GOP will "end corruption" out "crooks and grafters" from government restore honest government. The present administration's "record of fraud, bribery graft, favoritism has ... shocked and sickened the people."

CENSORSHIP The party won't infringe on people's right to know what their government is doing, either by "censorship or gag order." PRICE AND WAGE CONTROLS Democrats have used controls to bolster their own power, not to control inflation. Republicans will end "injurious" price and wage controls, and halt "senseless use" of other restrictions on business. The GOP will fight inflation by encouraging full production. "Further inflation must be and can be prevented."

RENT CONTROL AND HOUSING Rent controls will be ended except where expanding defense production has produced a "critical" housing shortage. "With local co-operation we shall aid slum clearance."

TAXATION The GOP asks for balanced budget, reduced debt, economy in government, a cut in taxes. Taxes will be collected impartially and without political interference. AGRICULTURE The administration has sought to destroy farmers' freedom through a "partisan" farm program. The GOP wants to help the farmer, not socialize him. The party pledges a flexible support program aimed at "fair parity prices for all farm products in the market place." It favors commodity loans on non-perishables and locally controlled marketing agreements on perishables and locally controlled marketing agreements on perishables. It opposes crop limitations.

NATIONAL DEFENSE Our arms program is "disgracefully lagging." Russia may not wait. So GOP will develop with "utmost speed" an air, land and sea force "of high caliber." It is distinguished on paper plan, able to deter "completely adequate" air power will be built as fast as possible.

COMMUNISM The administration has appeased Communism at home and abroad; Reds have infiltrated the government. Lives and dollars have been lost, as has the secret of the atomic bomb. There are no Communists in the GOP. A Republican president will overhaul loyalty programs and hire only persons of unquestioned loyalty." SMALL BUSINESS For 20 years the Democrats have praised free enterprise while sabotaging it. The GOP will halt harassment and needless regulation of business. It will fight monopolists as an unfair trade practice.

FARM COOPS AND REA Republicans support bona fide farmer-owners and farmer-operated cooperatives. It urges further development of rural electrification with federal assistance where private industry can't meet the need at fair rates. LABOR The GOP favors retention of the Taft-Hartley law, with such amendments as experience proves desirable. The party condemns President Truman's seizure of plants to force settlement of labor disputes.

HEALTH The party opposes federal compulsory health insurance; it will work for other methods of assuring national health. EDUCATION Responsibility for public schooling must remain with local communities and states. NATURAL RESOURCES The party advocates a "full and orderly program for the development and conservation" of natural resources. It favors reasonable depletion allowances and other moves to encourage exploration and supports state ownership of tidelands.

PUBLIC WORKS AND WATER The party supports "economically justifiable" public works; opposes federal undermining of state control of water use; opposes "federal socialistic valley authorities."

Taft Aides

(Continued From Page One) Fighting to dispel gloom among his supporters, he huddled with about 40 of his state leaders in a strategy meeting. Ingalls said he understands a group of Midwestern and Rocky Mountain delegation chairmen have met or are planning to meet to consider what should be done in view of Dewey's influence over the Eisenhower strategy. Ingalls attributed Taft's defeat on Georgia to Dewey's "machine" but said such tactics would have an anti-Eisenhower effect on delegates.

Harlow said he "glanced" at the pictures, "not looking closely," and would judge that about 100 of the women shown in various stages of undress were Daytona Beach residents, "some of them in the families of city officials." Some showed groups of the unsuspecting women, while others showed single poses. "It is a great understatement to say that some of the women's fathers and husbands are highly upset and indignant over these pictures," Harlow said. He said he is holding the pictures in his office in case of any further action. Young said the women, and their families, may be glad to know all the picture making was a "bum job." For this reason, Young said he thought the matter so "trivial" that he did nothing when he first learned of it.

(Continued From Page One) duction can be made." Republican policy-makers anticipated no serious difficulty in winning approval of the platform by the full convention. But a watered-down civil rights plank, with no specific provision for a Fair Employment Practices Commission, drew rumbles of discontent from some Negro delegates. They hinted they might try to make a floor fight for a stronger plank. The platform, approved in a 6 1-2 hour secret session of the GOP resolutions committee yesterday, also contains the following key points: FOR FARM SUPPORTS 1. "More efficient and frequent" mail delivery. 2. A farm program aimed at full parity prices for all farm products in the market place. In other words, high government supports for farm prices. The administration's Brannan Plan was roundly condemned. 3. State ownership of the tidelands, rich in oil. 4. Retention of the Taft-Hartley labor act with "such amendments as time and experience show to be desirable and which further protect the rights of labor, management and the public." 5. Opposition to "all powerful federal socialistic valley authorities," to undermine state control over water use. AGAINST SOCIALISM 6. Opposition to federal compulsory health insurance "with its crushing cost, wasteful inefficiency ... and debased standards of medical care." 7. Expanded social security to cover "those justly entitled to it but ... now excluded," and "a through study of universal pay-as-you-go pension plans." 8. No censorship or "gag order" on letting the public know "what their government is doing" — a slap at President Truman's information security order. 9. Government reorganization as recommended by the Hoover Commission. 10. "An end to corruption, to oust the crooks and grafters ... and to restore honest government to the people." 11. "Overhaul loyalty and security programs" to keep Communists out of government. 12. "Immediate" statehood for pro-Republican Hawaii, statehood for pro-Democratic Alaska, "under an equitable enabling act," and "eventual statehood" for Puerto Rico, "Self-government and national suffrage" for the District of Columbia. The defense plank was carpentered to please both Eisenhower who favors "balanced" land, sea and air forces, and Taft, who wanted even more emphasis on "air superiority." It warned that Russia may strike before the "disgracefully lagging" program is in high gear, and promised to develop U. S. preparedness "with utmost speed" and force in being, as distinguished from paper plans. The civil rights plank called for federal legislation to end lynching and poll taxes and to "further just and equitable treatment in the area of discriminatory employment practices." NEGROES CRITICAL Its failure to be more specific about FEPC was criticized by some Negro delegates, who regarded the plank as weaker than the party's 1948 stand. At the same time, Virginia delegate Lester S. Parsons, filed a minority report on the platform Parsons said the civil rights plank "left the gate wide open" for compulsory FEPC which he opposes. "EVADED AND FLOUTED" The platform blistered the Democratic administration for having "evaded" and "flouted" basic duties and "so undermined the foundations of our republic as to threaten its existence." It said the Democrats have worked "unceasingly" toward "socialism," have "burdened" the nation with "unnecessary and crushing taxation," and have tolerated "corruption in high places." It also accused Mr. Truman of having "plunged us into war in
