

Scenes Of The Republican Convention

DELEGATE TELLS OF TEXAS BATTLE

MRS. ALBERT NEW, only woman on the disputed Texas delegation for Eisenhower, is shown in Chicago as she prepared to tell the Republican Credentials Committee that Ike's supporters are not "Johnny-come-lately Republicans." She said she was barred from a committee meeting in Galveston in 1950 when her faction threatened to outnumber those present in a rival political group. (International Soundphoto)

YOUNG REPUBLICANS HEAR TAFT

SEN. ROBERT A. TAFT talks to a crowd of young Republicans who marched into the lobby of Chicago's Hotel Conrad Hilton carrying placards demanding the nomination of their candidate. More than a thousand supporters staged the "We Want Taft" rally. (International)

SENATOR TAFT CLAIMS 510 CONVENTION DELEGATES

AT HIS CHICAGO HEADQUARTERS, Sen. Robert A. Taft holds aloft a batch of telegrams he said he had received from 510 delegates pledging to support him for the Republican Presidential nomination. The Ohio Senator also said that 27 other delegates had sent word that their telegrams are ready or are on the way. (International)

TAFT'S SON GIVES POP A HAND

ARRIVING IN CHICAGO to be beside his father during the GOP Convention battle, Lloyd B. Taft is greeted by his father, Sen. Robert A. Taft, who is seeking the Presidential nomination. (International)

DEWEY TO 'RUN ERRANDS' FOR IKE

GOVERNOR Thomas E. Dewey (right) of New York tells reporters in Chicago that he has come to the Windy City to "run errands" for the Eisenhower campaign. Irked by reports that several members of his "solid" pro-Eisenhower group have publicly asserted they are not committed to Ike's support, Dewey is rallying his Empire State forces for a stormy caucus on Sunday night. (International Soundphoto)

THE WARRENS ARRIVE IN CHICAGO

CALIFORNIA'S FAVORITE SON, Gov. Earl Warren, his wife, and their three daughters, smile happily as they arrive in Union Station, Chicago. On the train with the Governor were the state's 70 delegates to the Republican National Convention. (International Soundphoto)

To Nominate Ike

GOV. Theodore McKeldin MARYLAND'S Gov. Theodore McKeldin, who has been named to make the nomination speech for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, is pictured in Chicago as he addressed members of his state's delegation. (International)

MRS. IKE VISITS THE CONVENTION

IN A SURPRISE VISIT to the Republican convention in Chicago, Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower, wife of the GOP Presidential aspirant, poses with Wisconsin delegates pledged to Gov. Earl Warren of California. They are (l. to r.): Richard Rice, John Muhich and Bernhard Gettelman. (International)

ILLINOIS DELEGATES IN CAUCUS

C. WAYLAND BROOKS, unanimously elected GOP national committeeman at a caucus in Chicago, is pictured with other Illinois delegates to the Republican Convention. Standing (l. to r.) are: Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, Brooks, and William B. Stratton, nominee for governor. Seated are Mrs. Wesley Dixon (left), new national committeewoman and Mrs. Winifred Henry, Resolutions Committee. (International)

EISENHOWER CONFERS WITH STASSEN

GEN. DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER and Harold E. Stassen (left), both candidates for the GOP Presidential nomination, talk things over in Chicago. However, before Stassen went to meet Eisenhower, he said he would not take part in any coalition to block Sen. Robert A. Taft from obtaining the Presidential nomination. (International Soundphoto)

IKE GETS ROUSING WELCOME

STANDING BEHIND General Dwight Eisenhower and his wife, Mamie, as they arrive in Chicago, are some of the 5,000 persons who greeted him with a noisy "We Like Ike" welcome. At right is Eisenhower's campaign manager, Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge. (International Soundphoto)

BACK IKE ON VOTING OF DELEGATES

SHORTLY AFTER the key Pennsylvania delegation caucused in Chicago, Gov. John Fine (right) answers a question put to him by Sen. Edward Martin (left) while Sen. James Duff listens. The delegation voted 57 to 11 to support the position taken by backers of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower that the convention rules should be revised to prevent delegates, whose seating is in dispute, from voting on any issues until they are formally given that right. (International Soundphoto)

'HIKE FOR IKE' WAS QUITE A FEAT

RESTING HIS WEARY FEET, Abraham Nathanson tells Chicago newsmen that his sole purpose in walking from Brooklyn, N. Y., to the GOP National Convention was to "boost Ike." The loyal supporter of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower spent 33 days on his long hike. (International)

Convention Cookes

Alistair Cooke (l.), British author and commentator, newcomer to CBS Radio, is heard in lively quarter-hour observations, "One Man's Convention," and Dwight Cooke, distinguished moderator of CBS Radio's "You and the World," provides colorful word pictures of personalities and issues each weekday evening from the Republican and Democratic Conventions.

'BUBBLE' GATHERS NEWS

The famed CBS Radio "Bubble," transparent plastic-domed mobile broadcasting unit that has been a feature of the network's news coverage of past conventions, used for remote program pickups outside the International Amphitheatre during the Chicago political conventions.