City Council Delays Action On New Budget

Although the meeting of the Dunn City Council Friday night was called to discuss the budget, presented by City Clerk Charles Storey, every topic except the one scheduled was taken up, ranging from water to the selection of a new City Manager.

A. B. Uzzle of Hickory was picked as the new city manager.

As one result of the meeting, however, City Clerk Storey was instructed to accept no further requests for city water and sewage facilities from the persons outside the present corporate limits of the town of Dunn.

Mayor Ralph Hanna touched off this move by pointing out that many residents of the areas bordering Dunn were receiving water, sewage, police and fire protection, without contributing to the maintenance of these services by paying town taxes.

"If they wish these advantages," Mayor Hanna declared, "they should be willing to come into the town." City limits have already been extended to include the new Lattimer addition.

NO DISCRIMINATION

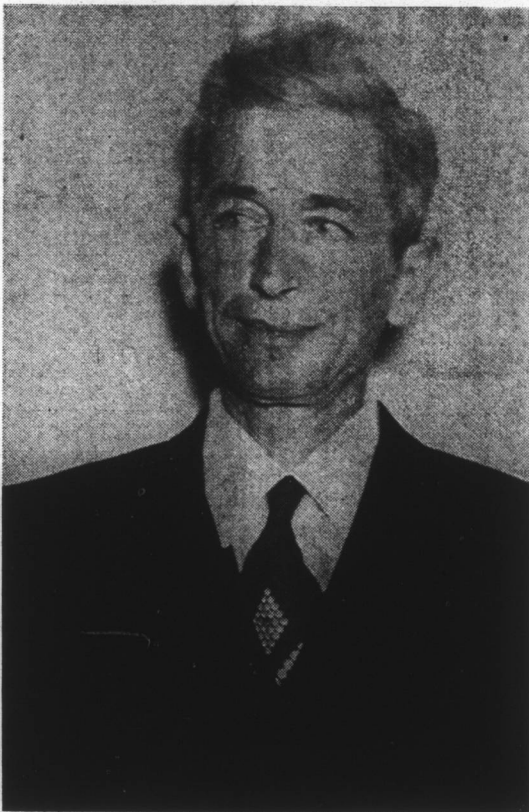

The first proposal was to deny these privileges to bordering areas for a distance of a thousand feet beyond the present corporate limits, but Mayor Hanna pointed out that it would be unfair to discriminate between these persons and others, farther down the town line. "We couldn't very well turn them down," he declared, "and then tie in people living in the Black River section, for example."

The board adopted a motion made by Commissioner J. V. Bass, instructing the City Clerk to accept no further applications, without first obtaining the consent of the board.

ERWIN RATE RAISED

Although Mr. E. H. Sost, Manager of the Erwin Mills at Erwin, presented a good case in favor of supplying water to Erwin at a rate lower than the 16 cents per thousand approved by the board, the board held to this rate.

Mr. Sost pointed out that the figure of 15.9 cents, worked out by former City Manager Tommy Hobbs as the cost of manufacturing the water, included the costs of clerical work and maintenance of the Dunn water system. Under these (Continued On Page two)

A. B. UZZLE, JR.

Uzzle Is Named As Dunn City Manager

The appointment of A. B. Uzzle, Jr., of Hickory as Dunn's new city manager was announced here today by Mayor Ralph E. Hanna.

Mr. Uzzle for the past three years has been serving as Superintendent of Public Works at Hickory and is resigning that job to come to Dunn.

Mayor Hanna said that Mr. Uzzle was interviewed for the $6,000-a-year job at a special meeting of the city council on Saturday night, July 19th and his appointment was made official at a public meeting of the council on Friday night.

The new city manager is stepping into one of the most controversial positions in the town. During the past three years the town has had three different city managers. Oliver O. Manning was fired as city manager, effective July 15th.

City Commissioner L. L. Coats, who fought a hard but losing battle to retain Manning, says he was fired for political reasons and without good cause. Mayor Hanna said today that (Continued On Page Two)

Cotton Ginners Plan Meetings

Cotton ginners of the two Carolinas will hold district meetings in key cities of the two states during August, it was announced here today by Myres W. Tighman of Dunn, president of the Carolinas Ginners Association, Inc.

There will be three of these meetings in North Carolina and three in South Carolina and all cotton ginners have been sent urgent invitations to attend.

Clifford H. Hardy of Dunn, executive secretary of the association, will attend all of the meetings and discuss plans for the future growth and development of the association. (Continued On Page 2)

Springfield Is Preparing Big Welcome

CHICAGO, (P)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson prepared to return to his Governor's Mansion at Springfield today after learning President Truman and Vice President Alben Barkley will stump the country for him in the coming presidential campaign.

Stevenson's train left Chicago at 9:25 a. m. EST and will stop briefly at the Democratic nominee's home town of Bloomington, Ill., about 11:45 a. m. after a brief rear platform speech there the train will push on to Springfield and is expected to arrive about 1 p. m.

A non-partisan celebration and homecoming awaited Stevenson in the capital city. The streets of Springfield were festooned with bunting and welcoming signs a few hours after the radio blared the news of his nomination.

A HECTIC WEEK

The Illinois governor spent a hectic weekend in his fashionable "hideout" on Chicago's North Side. A steady stream of Democratic party dignitaries called on him to chat and lay plans before grabbing trains out of town. The politicians and the governor, were genuinely weary after the marathon sessions of the Democratic convention that nominated the reluctant Stevenson.

Democratic National Chairman Frank E. McKinney emerged from a meeting with Stevenson yesterday and announced the battle plan for the fall campaign against GOP nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower called for a "four-edged sword instead of a two-edged sword."

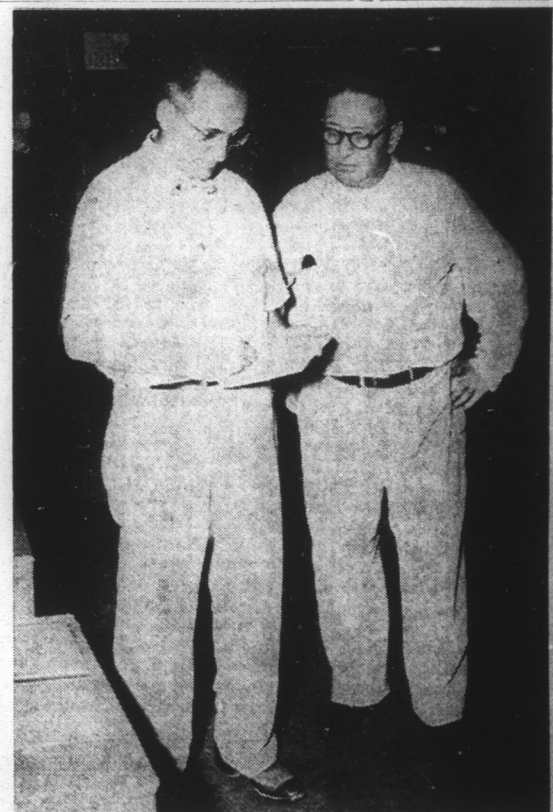

McKinney explained that Mr. Truman and Barkley would bring their political experience, and campaign rhetoric, to bear against the Republicans along with Stevenson and his vice presidential running mate, Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama.

TO 'FULLEST EXTENT'

The President and Barkley will campaign "to the fullest extent," McKinney said.

The national chairman, who Stevenson named to continue in his post, said the Democrats have decided a "sharp, hard-hitting" campaign not to last more than two months, will insure their White House in November.

Thus the campaign will not begin until around Sept. 1. It has long been understood that Mr. Truman wanted a chance to campaign with the nominee this fall and felt that the convention (Continued on page two)

FIRM CHANGES HAND — J. Herman Leder, left, and Sam Fleishman, right, are pictured here this morning as they discussed completion of the sale of B. Fleishman and Sons to Leder Brothers, Inc. Fleishman's Store Is Sold To Leders

B. Fleishman and Sons, Inc., one of the oldest and largest mercantile firms in this section has been sold to Leder Brothers, Inc., and the Dunn firm was closed today as preparations were underway for reopening of the new store.

Joint announcement of the change was made this morning by J. Harry Will and Sam Fleishman and Herman Leder, president of Leder Brothers.

Fleishman's was founded here more than 50 years ago by the late B. Fleishman, one of the pioneer merchants of eastern Carolina and one of the most beloved men in the history of the town.

Since his retirement and later his death, the firm has been operated here by the three sons, all of whom are prominent and popular residents of the town.

BEING AIR CONDITIONED

The store will be closed until further notice for the purpose of inventory, replenishing of the large stock and for air-conditioning. Mr. Leder said this morning that the large store will be air-conditioned immediately.

Here today with J. Herman Leder, president of the company, were: Morris Leder, vice-president; J. Paul Hatley, secretary-treasurer, and A. E. Heafner, advertising manager of the company.

Leder Brothers is one of Eastern Carolina's largest and best-known mercantile establishments. The Dunn store will be the 13th for the company. Other stores are located at White (Continued On Page Five)

Sen Brien McMahon Dies In Georgetown

WASHINGTON (P)—Sen. Brien McMahon, father of American atomic energy legislation and until a few days ago a presidential candidate, died today at Georgetown Hospital.

The 48-year-old Connecticut Democrat "passed away quietly" with out coming out of the coma into which he lapsed several days ago. He died at 10:10 a. m. EST. His physician Dr. Phillip A. Caulfield, said the cause was cancer of the lung which spread to the senator's back and pelvis.

McMahon, chairman of the joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee and proponent of atomic disarmament, had been hospitalized for four weeks with what was described as a "sarcoillid condition." Dr. Caulfield said only his youth and vigor kept him alive as long as this.

FAMILY WITH HIM All of the senator's family was with him when he died—his wife Rosemary, his mother, Mrs. William H. McMahon, two sisters, Mrs. (Continued On Page two)

Church Calls New Minister

Officials of the Lillington Presbyterian Church today announced that Dr. David A. Huffines has accepted the call to assume the pastorate of the Lillington Presbyterian Church.

In a recent congregational meeting, Lillington Presbyterians voted one hundred percent to extend the call to Doctor Huffines, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Huffines of Olivia. During the weekend the minister notified the church of his acceptance.

The Lillington church has been without a minister since the resignation last October of the Rev. T. A. Gulton who accepted new work of Belk Memorial Church in Anderson, S. C.

Doctor Huffines who recently won his doctorate at Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va., has been preaching recently at a church in the Mecklenberg Presbytery. Doctor and Mrs. Huffines, who is a native of Greensboro, plan to move to the Lillington area shortly.

The new minister will preach at the church on the second Sunday morning in August.

Church members who served on the pulpit committee were H. T. Atkins, chairman, E. C. Gastineau, Nell Kelly, Mrs. J. N. Fuquay, and Mrs. S. G. Howell.

Rieve Asserts Bolt To AFL Has Ended

The head of the huge, far-flung CIO Textile Workers Union of America told cheering union leaders here Saturday afternoon that the bolt of TWUA members to the AFL is over and that "those who made the mistake of bolting have now sobered up and are returning to the CIO."

Emil Rieve of New York, president of the TWUA, which has nearly a half million members, addressed CIO leaders, local union committees and stewards of the Erwin Mills chain from Erwin, Durham and Cooleemee at a conference held at Johnson's Restaurant in Dunn.

Approximately 150 leaders were present for the meeting.

Some groups of the CIO bolted about six weeks ago after Rieve defeated George Baldanzi in the race for the union presidency. Lewis Conn, CIO director in North Car-

Mississippi Demos Will Bolt To Ike

BILOXI, Miss. (P)—Some Mississippi Democrats are planning today to bolt the party and as "independents" to support Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, it was reliably reported to United Press.

A slate of independent electors pledged to Eisenhower and affiliated neither with the Republican nor the Democratic national parties will be placed on the general election ballot, it was reported.

This unimpeachable source said the move is backed by men who were prominent in the States' Rights bolt of 1948. They dominate the organization whose delegation was seated at the national convention just ended.

Party officials meantime are postponing the scheduled date to reconvene the Democratic state convention to gain time to study the outcome of the national convention before naming their slate of presidential electors, he said.

The officials had recessed, instead of adjourning, the convention last June 26 to enable them to use the electoral slate as a tool for bolting the party if they were not satisfied with the national nominee or platform.
