Lasater Reunion Held Sunday On Erwin, Route 1

On Sunday July 27, the children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren and one great, great grandchild of the late Virginia Steadman and William Gilbert Lasater gathered at the home of their youngest son, Eugene H. Lasater of Route 1, Erwin. There were 83 present for a sumptuous dinner served from a long table in the back yard.

The family is scattered over various parts of the United States but every year the last Sunday in July they meet for the annual family reunion.

This year they came from Aiken, S. C., Jacksonville, Fla., and Statesville, Hickory, Raleigh, Sanford, Laurinburg, Broadway, Lillington, Olivia, Bunnlevel and Erwin, North Carolina.

During the afternoon the younger generation enjoyed a softball game, while the older ones enjoyed "sitting and reminiscing with each other."

Just before leaving watermelons were cut and enjoyed by all.

Next year the reunion will be held with Mrs. Mildred L. McKay at her country home "Raven Rock" near Lillington.

New Paris Fashions Are More Practical

PARIS. (AP)—Sixty-five of Paris top fashion designers swept into the fall collections today with the 1952-53 silhouette emphasizing femininity and practicality.

Jacques Fath led the field in unveiling the secrets of his workroom before socialites and fashion correspondents from all over the world packed into his green and white salon.

He sat the pace with a warm simplicity bound to be popular with women of all ages and sizes.

Jacques Heim and Castillo of Lanvin will complete the first hectic days showings. Castillo, promoter of last season's soft materials, says his colliers allow for comfort and action.

Skirts overall are expected to end up a bit longer than last seasons' 14 inches. And the bust? wait and see.

SURPRISES FROM DIOR

Before the end of the showings "old master" Christian Dior will doubtless spring a few surprises, as will Hubert de Givenchy, new young star who sparked the spring collections.

Fath, more feminine than last spring, achieves his new look by elongating skirts, widening shoulders and using new softer cloths. Colorwise he favors "castor," a cafe-au-lait brown, for daytime. Varied shades of red are injected to liven the monotonous.

Fath's hats, small and head-enveloping, require high collar lines. A severe simplicity is broken only occasionally by a rakish swoop of feathers.

Heim promises suits and ensembles to take madame from dawn to dusk in everything from rough wools to stiffened laces. The day-long wearability is a concession to American tastes and the U. S. buyers fresh from Italian showings.
