WALNEY, Eng. (P)—Joan Hornby, her sight restored after being blind for 17 1/2 of her 18 years, found the world a frightening place today. "The first horse I saw terrified me," she confessed. "And aren't houses big! Doctors believe the shock of a boiling hot bath into which Joan stepped during a visit to her sister's home here last week restored her sight.

WASHINGTON, (P)—Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall plans to resign by Sept. 1 and may discuss the matter with President Truman tomorrow, informed sources said today.

WASHINGTON, (P)—Economic Stabilizer Roger L. Putnam said today the nation has "an excellent Wage Stabilization Board . . . but not an excellent law to start off the new wage program.

SEOUL, Korea, (P)—United Nations jet planes, flying protective cover for fighter-bombers attacking targets across North Korea, shot down four Communist Mig-15 jets and damaged six others today for their biggest toll of enemy planes in a month.

WACO, Tex. (P)—Investigators checked a theory today that an unidentified automobile caused the worst bus accident in history, a flaming catastrophe that killed at least 28 persons.

CAIRO, Egypt, (P)—The Wafd party, Egypt's largest purged 12 members of Parliament from its ranks today in a cleanup campaign.

SEOUL, Korea, (P)—The United Nations announced today it has warned North Korea civilians to clear out of 78 towns marked for attack by its warplanes.

WASHINGTON, (P)—The FBI today added Leonard Joseph "Bad Eye" Zalutsky, a half-blind convicted murderer with a weird sense of humor, to its list of "ten most wanted" criminals.

MIAMI, (P)—A private C-46 cargo plane crippled by jammed controls crashed and exploded at Miami International Airport late last night, instantly killing the four persons aboard.

PANMUNJOM, Korea, (P)—The United Nations called the Communists' bluff today. Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison, chief Allied truce delegate, asked the Reds to let Allied war prisoners in North Korean camps receive parcels of food, medicine and clothing.

CHICAGO, (P)—Sigmund Fabisiak, Polish Consul General here, revealed today that he has resigned from his post and appealed to the U. S. State Department for asylum in this country.

PANMUNJOM, (P)—Korean truce talks came to a temporary full stop after the United Nations challenged the Reds to prove they are sincere about the Geneva convention.

ST. LOUIS, (P)—A heavy turnout of voters, including the state's No. 1 citizen, President Truman, went to the polls under fair skies today in Missouri's primary election. Contestants for the Democratic Senate nomination were State Atty. Gen. J. E. Taylor, the President's favorite, and Stuart Symington, Baltimore-born industrialist who entered politics on the local level after seven years in top Washington posts.

WASHINGTON, (P)—The State Department rejected today as "sheer nonsense" official Soviet charges that this government banned publication of the USSR Information Bulletin in this country to prevent "truthful information about the Soviet Union."

Chicago Rackateer Slain By Mobsters

CHICAGO — (P) — Theodore Teddy Roe, king of Chicago's policy racket, apparently was slain by syndicate mobsters who wanted to take over his rich gambling empire and, incidentally, gain revenge for a gunman Roe killed last year, police said today.

Roe was shot down in the gutter in front of his home last night by assassins who lay in ambush behind a billboard and riddled him with slugs from sawed off shot-guns.

Police said the Capone syndicate has looked with longing for many years upon the annual "take" made by the 54-year old millionaire Negro.

Thousands of Negroes in Chicago's South Side tossed nickles, dimes and dollars to Roe every day in hopes that his wheels would return them a big payoff that seldom came.

KIDNAP FAILED
In June of 1951, three men tried to kidnap Roe as he drove his automobile down South Park Way.

Roe drew a pistol and in the ensuing gunfight one man was slain. He was Leonard Fat Lenny Caliano, a minor syndicate hoodlum who, police believed, had been assigned the job of getting rid of Roe so the bigtime mobsters could move into the policy racket.

Homicide detectives said today the syndicate apparently took vengeance for Caliano last night and cleared the way for the criminal heirs of Al Scarface Capone to take over policy gambling.

Police is the only king of bigtime gambling still thriving in Chicago since the Kefauver Senate Crime investigation and the institution of the federal gambling stamp law.

ARMORY QUESTION

Commissioner L. L. Coats reported on the results of his conference with Major General John H. Manning with reference to the taking over of the Armory property on a long term lease by the National Guard.

Some of the questions Coats had been directed to ask by the board had been answered, he said and others would be answered by letter. The General had promised to check on the insurance problem.

The Highway Patrol and License Examiner's office space can be worked out all right, Coats was told, and he was assured that the contract with the Board of Education could be extended if needed. However, no janitor service would be provided and the school would be required to clean up after using the premises.

General Manning suggested a conference with the board and the board set a tentative date for this meeting for August 25, and instructed Commissioner Coats to get in touch with the General and attempt to arrange for the meeting.

General Manning revealed that some new equipment, but told the commissioners that it would not require additional space and that he felt the four stalls now in use by the town could be left available. "The Guard Commander will cooperate with the community," Coats quipped the General as saying.

City Clerk Charles Storey presented the board with its first item of the resolution adopted which bars the tapping of water and sewage facilities for those outside the corporate limits.

REQUEST TURNED DOWN

A request for a meter had been received from L. C. Dupree, whose home is about a mile from Dunn on the Newton Grove Highway. The Clerk had turned down his request and the board affirmed this decision.

Dupree had pleaded that jury duty had made it impossible for him to make application before the resolution was passed but the board felt that making one exception would nullify the resolution by encouraging others.

It was pointed out, however, that this ruling does not apply to the town as already committed to supply the water at the wholesale rate of 17 1/2 cents. When the bond issue on this project goes through, the town will supply the water.

A request has been received for information relative to the size of the site of the old water tank by Clerk Storey from a prospective purchaser. The Clerk told the information to check the records at Lillington.

Attorney Max McLeod asked the board what, if anything, had been done with regard to rezoning the Evander Strickland property from residential to business. He was informed that the request must be advertised and the public hearing held, before any action could be taken by the board.

Mayor Ralph Hanna presided and the full board Commissioners L. L. Coats, B. A. Bracey, R. G. Tart and J. V. Bass were present.

A group of Negro leaders headed by Bishop D. Ward Nichols of the first district of the African Methodist Episcopal Church of New York, came here to discuss civil rights problems with Eisenhower.

AGAINST FEPC

The GOP nominee refused to put himself on record as favoring a compulsory federal Fair Employment Practices Commission. He had taken that same position prior to his presidential nomination.

Despite this fact, Nichols and the group said they were "convinced that the election of General Eisenhower in November will greatly advance civil rights progress in America."

"We found General Eisenhower to be a sincere and honest man, with deep convictions on the quality of every American citizen," Nichols said. "He stated that he would be a 'soldier, fighting in the ranks of civil progress' and we have every reason to believe him."

Nichols said Eisenhower told the group of Negro leaders that "discriminatory practices" in Washington were "disgraceful" and that, if elected, he would take immediate steps to end them.

Services Today For Lillington Man

Needham Vann, 56, of Lillington, Route 1, died Monday at 2 p. m. after a heart attack. Funeral services were held today at 3:30 p. m. at Neils Creek Baptist Church near the home, conducted by the pastor, the Rev. G. Goff Turner, assisted by the Rev. Charles B. Howard of Buies Creek. Burial was in Harnett Memorial Cemetery at Lillington. The body lay in state an hour before the service. Surviving are his wife, the former Miss Betty Mae Guy of Angier; five daughters, Mrs. Clyde Adams of Angier, Route 2, Mrs. Reed Johnson of Lillington Route 1, Mrs. Wilton Fish of Angier, Route 1, and Miss Betty Jean Vann of the home; three sons, William R. Billy Shaw, and Percy Frank Vann all of the home.

Road Petitions Approved By Harnett Board

County commissioners, starting a new fiscal year, yesterday were faced with road requests but had no roads to give.

Chairman L. A. Tart told petitioners that so far Harnett had not received its allocation of mileage from the state highway and public works commission, but that it was expected shortly. Last month Tart had said he expected the allotment by the first Monday in August.

Meantime commissions filed for consideration four petitions for road improvements and one demand for a new road.

Requests for all surface or black top treatment came from the following:

1. 3.7 mile of road in Anderson Creek township running from Layton Road to Pendergraph road;

2. 3 miles, Anderson Creek township, running from wire road near Reeves Bridge to Lucas Store.

3. 3/4 of a mile of road, Lillington township in Shawtown extending from Baptist Moore store to the Ft. Bragg road.

4. 3.1 mile in Anderson Creek township running from NC 210 Southeast to Blaylock's store.

The request for 1 1/2 miles of new road was made by Black River township residents. It would run from Angier to Fish's Cross Roads.

Most of the morning was consumed with the drawing of four jury lists of 36 members each. They will serve courts starting either September 1, 15 and 29. The list will be exclusive of jurors called for August who were excused last week by Judge Sharp after promising they would serve in September.

Two Taken At Liquor Outfit

Two residents of Godwin Route 1 today were facing trial in U. S. District Court following their arrest in a raid on a whiskey still in Black River Township, near Dunn, by Federal ATU officers and Cumberland County ABC officers.

Two stills were captured, two men were arrested and 18 gallons of whiskey and 250 gallons of mash were confiscated in the raid.

Arrested were Clayton Godwin, 34, and Colin Norris, 26, both of Godwin, Route 1. They were arraigned before Mrs. Mallie Adams Jackson, local United States Commissioner, on charges of violating the liquor laws.

Godwin, a three time violator, was released under $1,000 bond, and Norris' bond was set at $750.

One still, a 200-gallon unit, was in operation at the time of the raid, officers said.

Participating in the raid with ATU agents and Deputies C. A. Dees, and E. J. Horne and Constable Albert Jackson of Sampson County.

Richards Joins S. C. Leaders Backing Ticket

LANCASTER, S. C. (P) — Rep. James F. Richards of the Fifth Congressional District today joined the growing list of South Carolina political leaders who favor the state Democratic party sticking with the national party nominees in the November election.

Richards urged the endorsement of Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois for president by the state Democratic convention which convenes in Columbia tomorrow. "Such endorsement could in no way be considered as abandonment of this state's Democratic principles," Richards said.

Richards joins Sen. Burnet R. Maybank, Sen. Olin D. Johnston, Rep. Joseph R. Bryson, State Treasurer Jeff Bates, and others who have urged endorsement of the national ticket.

Erwin School To Be Named For Gentry

The new Erwin Negro school will be named the Gentry School in honor of the late B. P. Gentry of Lillington who served as Superintendent of Harnett County Schools from 1915 to 1941.

And the man who served the county schools for nearly thirty years could scarcely ask for a more suitable memorial. It truly sprang from the heart.

Patrons of the school were given a list of six or eight names of prominent Harnett County citizens from which to select a

At the same board meeting members voted to buy one 150 foot lot west of Dunn High School in the first of a long range plan to assure the school sufficient ground for school activities. The lot was bought from Dr. C. L. Corbett.

The board also issued an order that number and length of Harnett school days must conform to the request of the state department of public instruction. No school may have over 20 half-day terms.

S. G. Thomas presided at the meeting held at the education building in Lillington. Others attending were Bob Baggett, W. E. Nichols, A. C. Barefoot, and W. E. Skinner and Superintendent Proffit.

N. C. Bank Robber Flees From Guard

GREENVILLE, S. C. (P)—Greenville police today were on the lookout for a sippy North Carolina safe cracker who escaped Sunday from a speeding train between Greenville, Ga., and Greenville.

North Carolina fugitive officer C. L. Miller said James Wilson made his getaway from the train between 3 and 5 a. m. Sunday while Miller was returning the wily fugitive from Dallas, Texas, where he was arrested several days ago.

Wilson had slipped off his handcuffs and fled from a train in Birmingham, Ala., nearly two years ago.

HANDCUFFED AND CHAINED
Because of the previous escape, Miller said he handcuffed the 32-year-old prisoner's hands together, put a chain around his legs, then tucked him in an upper berth in the train compartment they shared.

When he awoke, Miller said he tugged at the chain, but Wilson was gone.

Wilson, a Beckley, W. Va., carpenter, drew a seven to ten year sentence in 1949 on a charge of safe robbery and possession of burglary tools.

In Raleigh, Miller said that Wilson has slim, snakelike wrists without prominent wrist bones, as on Wilson, Miller said, it's like tying a noose on an eel.

"He just wiggles out," Miller said.

Wilson, alias Glenn S. Orren, was sentenced to from seven to 10 years for breaking and entering, safe robbery and possessing burglary tools in Fayetteville.

He escaped from the Orange County prison camp in August, 1950. He was picked up in Texas and Miller went after him. They got as far as Birmingham, Ala. The next thing Miller knew Wilson was gone.

HAD CADILLAC, GIRL, MONEY
When Texas federal authorities found him at Dallas last week, Wilson had a big Cadillac, a girl friend and $2,600.

Enroute to North Carolina, Miller said he took no chances. At Memphis between trains, Wilson was locked up in jail.

From Memphis they went to Atlanta, with Miller keeping a close eye on his prisoner. He tucked Wilson, well-chained, into an upper berth in a sleeping compartment. At Gainesville, Ga., Wilson was sleeping.

"I said to myself, well, boy, I've got you," Miller related.

Somewhere near Greenville, Miller tugged at the chain.

"When I pulled that chain down, I said 'oh, my.'"

Miller said he believes Wilson got a key in the Memphis jail. "How he got out of that lead chain, I'll never know."

The handcuffs, he said, were no problem for Wilson. But anyway, the fugitive took them with him.

Union Deposits Big Dues Check

A check for $5,749, representing dues collected by the Erwin Mills Company, was deposited Monday to the account of the Textile Workers Union of America's Local Union 250, in the Dunn First-Citizens Bank.

Hardy Johnson, vice-president of the Local, deposited the check, which represents dues collected by the company for the Union. It is the first such check that has been forwarded to the TWUA-CIO since a group of Erwin workers left the CIO in an attempt to change to UTW-AFL.

A Union spokesman declared that the money collected in dues and deposited to the Local Union's account would be left intact during the period in which it is necessary to have an administrator for the Local.

Scott Hoyman, the administrator, said, "This check will rebuild the account of the Local, in spite of the money which the AFL group took in May."

"We can promise," he continued, "that this money will stay where it is supposed to remain, and will be used for the benefit of the members of Local Union 250, to whom it belongs."

Circle No. 1 of the Hood Memorial Christian Church served refreshments to the children at Bible School on Monday morning at 10:30. They held their meeting at 9:30 at the church.

Mrs. Bill Carroll presented the program using as her subject, the new study course book, "These Rights We Hold." This book will be studied by the group during the Fall.

Routine business matters were discussed.

Those present were Mrs. Bill Carroll, Mrs. Harry Phipps, Mrs. Houston Jernigan, Mrs. John Riley, Mrs. Wilson Stanley, and Mrs. Wilma Massengill.

Rain Starved

A department spokesman said "we can move pretty fast" if the President grants the request.

Meanwhile, forecasts of milk shortages and a report of mounting food prices were added to the picture of economic disruption in the drought-stricken South.

Farm leaders of 10 states were revising upward the estimate of $800,000,000 direct damage to crops by the drought.

Prices of fresh fruits and vegetables had skyrocketed during early stages of the drought, climbing 17.6 per cent in Atlanta and 14.7 per cent in Richmond, Va., it was revealed.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics added to this toll the report of drastic overall increases in retail food prices in two representative Southern cities as a result of two months of virtual rainlessness.

MILK SHORTAGE
Farm experts predicted a 45 per cent milk shortage in Georgia by the time schools open and Mississippi officials forecast an even more drastic and immediate drop in milk supplies unless they get early rains.

But the biggest problem was finding new sources of feed to save livestock losing weight from lack of pasturage or already being sold prematurely. Fall hogs were already on sale in Georgia.
