Weather Bureau Fears Storm May Hit Coast

MIAMI (AP) — The Miami Weather Bureau dispatched a Navy Hurricane hunter plane from Puerto Rico today to investigate a squally weather front in the Atlantic that may develop into the season's first big blow. The "easterly wave" is located about 500 miles east-northeast of Puerto Rico. Chief storm forecaster Grady Norton of Miami said winds are up to 35 miles per hour and squalls are pounding a wide area of the Atlantic. "It's one of those things we watch closely," Norton said. "It shows some signs of slight intensification. It has potentialities of becoming the season's first hurricane."

Pick Accused Of Deceiving Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators said today Lt. Gen Lewis A. Pick, chief of army engineers tried to deceive them about a multi-billion dollar U. S. air base construction "iasco" in French Morocco. The Senate Preparedness subcommittee, headed by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson D-Tex. demanded that Army Secretary Frank C. Pace Jr. take "appropriate action" against the three-star general and determine whether "disciplinary action" is warranted against any of the military officers involved in the North African air base construction program.

General Hits Corruption In Government

NEW YORK (AP) — Dwight D. Eisenhower said today the United States is in its greatest peril in history because Soviet Russia is "insatiable in its lust for conquest." The Republican presidential nominee, in an address prepared for delivery before the 34th annual American Legion convention, said "the fire of hope that flamed high in American hearts" at the end of World War II has disappeared "under the monstrous advance of Communist tyranny." "This tyranny is primitive in its brutality," Eisenhower said. "It is insatiable in its lust for conquest. It is committed to subversion and revolution and war until the continents are its slave camps and all humankind are its chattel." The GOP nominee said America must be militarily and productively strong, must cooperate more closely with other nations of the free world, and must serve notice on the Kremlin that it does not recognize "the slightest encroachment in Russia's position in Eastern Europe and Asia."

With Cold Finality

"...We must tell the Soviets with cold finality that never shall we rest content until the tidal wave of mud of aggressive communism has receded within its own borders," Eisenhower said. His sharp and outspoken criticism of the Soviets was made as the man who led Allied forces to victory in Western Europe in 1945 arrived here to start 60 days of hard campaigning before election day Nov. 4. His speech before his fellow Legionnaires was billed as "non-political," but as he himself said his every word is studied these days for "political implications."

Hits Corruption

While the speech was devoted mainly to the scathing verbal attack on the Soviet Union, the GOP nominee also took occasion to state his views on "assassins of character and promoters of witch hunts" corruption in government, equality of treatment for all, and the need for social and economic improvement. He said: "First, let us never tolerate in any area of our community life those criminal malefactors who by stealth or by subversion or by treacherous betrayal attempt to weaken and destroy the American constitutional system. "But, at the same time, let us forever hew sharply to the fundamental American principle that (Continued On Page Six)

Graham To Open Kashmir Talks

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — United Nations mediator Frank Graham of North Carolina, opens here today in his five-year-old fight between India and Pakistan over the Kashmir. The former Democratic senator hopes to bring about an agreement on the number of troops the two countries can keep on each side of a cease-fire line. If agreement on the terms can be reached it is hoped the two countries may be persuaded to withdraw their troops and set a plebiscite to determine which country is Kashmir area will join.

Festival Acclaimed Big Success

Stevenson To Hold Conferences Today

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson planned to meet with farm labor leaders today as his campaign headquarters watched anxiously for a possible repercussion from California to the governor's stand on tideland oil. Stevenson's appointment book listed Walter Reuther, president of the CIO United Auto Workers, and James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers Union. The Democratic presidential nominee was already threatened with serious trouble in Texas, with its 24 electoral votes, for his declaration Saturday against state ownership of the oil-bearing submerged coastal lands. Despite the breach between Stevenson and Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas, Democratic leaders in other Southern states generally followed a hand-off, or wait-and-see policy. OTHER STATES INVOLVED The tideland issue is also of great importance to California, which was in the Democratic column in the 1948 presidential election. The Texas uproar developed after (Continued on Page 8)

Harnett Negro Held On Slaying Charge

Charles Ferguson, 42-year-old Angier Negro, is being held in the Harnett County jail awaiting action by the grand jury at the September term of Superior Court in the slaying of Norman Gainey, 30, also of Angier. A jury impaneled by Harnett Coroner Grover C. Henderson ordered Ferguson held at an inquest conducted early Sunday morning. According to the evidence, Ferguson shot Gainey to death about midnight during a row at Ferguson's home, in which he operates a piccolo establishment. FIGHT REPORTED Ferguson told authorities and members of the coroner's jury that Gainey and his wife were at the Ferguson home fighting and that he ordered the couple away. He said he several times warned them to leave. When they refused, he said, he took a .22 pistol and fired three (Continued on page seven)

McMillen Resigns Position At WCKB

Jim McMillen, popular Dunn civic leader, has resigned his position as news director of Radio Station WCKB to devote his full time to his rapidly-growing and expanding M. and J. Service Company here. Mr. McMillen had been connected with WCKB for about a year and his program was regarded by many as the outstanding feature of the station. GREAT LOSS TO STATION His resignation came as a great loss to the station, but Mr. McMillen pointed out that his newly-organized company has expanded so rapidly that it now requires most of his time. M. and J. is an unusual business firm that renders any and every sort of legitimate service to its clients. For a nominal sum, citizens can get any service from baby-sitting to secretarial shopping and mailing service. Offices of M. and J. are located on the fourth floor of the First Citizens Bank Building. Mr. McMillen is active in civic (Continued on Page Two)

Repeated rains throughout the day cut down the size of the crowd Saturday but failed to dampen the enthusiasm, spirit or gaiety of Dunn's annual Town and Country Festival.

Several thousand people witnessed the opening parade Saturday morning held just before the rains started—and then took part in the varied other activities of the day—which included everything from husband-calling and hog calling contests to a mammoth fish fry, beauty pageant and dance.

Everybody, including Chamber of Commerce President Clarence McLamb, other city and chamber officials, Co-Chairmen Al Wullenwaber and Gene Smith, and all the visitors, acclaimed the day's events a big success.

BALLENTINE LAUDS AFFAIR L. Y. Ballentine of Raleigh, State Commissioner of Agriculture, was high in his praises of the day designed to pay tribute to the farmers and congratulated the town for staging such an event.

In the afternoon, Commissioner Ballentine crowned Miss Reba Hankins of Fayetteville as Dunn's "Queen of Cotton." Miss Hankins won the royal title in competition with 14 other lovely little ladies. Taking second places as Maid of Cotton were: Miss Anne O'Quinn of Lillington and Miss Evangeline Stewart of Coats.
