think there's probable cause for binding them over, but I doubt that there is sufficient evidence to convict them of intent to kill."
Hall and Stone appeared in court in full uniform and wearing their badge, with a pistol hung at their side, and flanked by four high-priced defense lawyers.
Defending them were Attorneys Everett L. Doffernyre, Neill McK. Salmon, City Attorney I. R. Williams and Glenn Hooper, Jr.
Representing the State as private prosecutors were: Duncan C. Wilson, State Senator J. Robert Young and Archie Taylor.
Appearance of the officers in badge and uniform and wearing a gun brought criticism from the State's attorneys and one of the defense attorneys said he'd never seen it happen before. Magistrate Adams said later that he had failed to see the guns and badges on the officers.
The officers sat unemotionally throughout most of the trial, even when Attorney Duncan C. Wilson made an impassioned plea against them.
"Because a man has not a gun and a badge," Wilson said, "that doesn't make him any different from anybody else... Give some "Even if he were the meanest man in the world, he doesn't deserve any such treatment as that given him by these two officers."

Lewis related that on the night of August 17th he spent an hour visiting Mr. and Mrs. Perry Rewis, went back home and then went out again and started to see a Mr. Haire on business. He said he ran into Stone, who was sitting in the police car and Stone asked him, "Where you going?" He said he told the officer and then the officer shot back at him an accusation that he was drunk.

"BEAT YOUR HEAD OFF"
Lewis said that when he tried to explain to the officer that he was not drunk, Stone said: "Yeah, well don't hand me that stuff. If I say you're drunk, you're drunk. I'll get out of here and beat your head off."

"He just went mad," recalled Lewis, expressing belief that Stone meant to kill him. He said the officer hit him and knocked him off balance. After a short struggle, he related, "the officers let him stand up."

"He seemed to realize," related Lewis, "that I was all right and not drunk." He said that about that time Hall rushed up from behind and struck Lewis.

He said he didn't say a word to Hall, that the officer just rushed up and slapped him hard as he could.

In the ensuing moments, the witness related, the two officers took turns in beating on him. He said they hit him so hard that he became dizzy.

Lewis said he was still on pass from the hospital.
"Are you willing to swear," asked Salmon, "that at the time they struck you if Mr. Hall and Mr. Stone had intentions to kill you?"

He said that was what he meant.

SAYS LEWIS NOT DRUNK
Next witness was Fywis, who swore that Lewis was in good condition and not intoxicated at the time he visited in his home, about a half hour before the alleged assault. The attorneys argued Lewis could not have gotten drunk in that length of time.

Most damaging witness offered was Mrs. Bertha Jackson, who was visiting at the home of Mrs. Cortez Lee at the time and saw the attack. She said she was first at the home when she heard Lewis protesting, "What do you want me for, I haven't done anything."
She said she saw Lewis trying to break away, with the officers hitting at him and knocked him down.

The woman swore that Hall had him down with his face in the dirt with his knee pushing against his neck and head. She said Stone was busy twisting his foot and leg at the time.

She quoted Hall as saying, "Can't you do nothing, Stone?" and that Hall then gave Lewis a hard blow with the blackjack and twisted his foot. Mrs. Jackson recalled that somebody told Hall, "You like to have killed him" and that Hall replied, "We ought to have killed him."

Mrs. Ralph Godwin, sister of Lewis, took the stand and corroborated Mrs. Jackson. She positively identified both Hall and Stone and swore that Hall choked her brother while Stone twisted his ankle.

"It looked like they were trying to beat him to death," said Mrs. Godwin.
She said she reminded Stone that her 22-year-old mother was lying inside the house critically ill and that Hall shot back, "Yeah I know it."

HANDCUFFED IN JAIL
Lewis had testified that the police threw him in jail with the handcuffs on, with his head in terrible pain, with blood running down his back and with his foot and ankle swollen big as a basket.

He said he repeatedly asked for medical aid, but police refused to summon a doctor. He said that he took his two hands, still handcuffed, and kept using toilet tissue to wipe off the blood as best he could.

Lewis said the police officers never did unclasp him, but that after about three hours Policeman Faison Pone passed a key to another prisoner in the jail so he could remove the handcuffs.

He said he was in jail for 12 hours, was released at 9 a. m. and then sent to the Veterans Hospital by Dr. Ralph Johnson.

Lewis said Sergeant Wood did

Hottest Summer Officially Over

By UNITED PRESS
A lingering cold front gained force and pushed as far South as Florida as the summer—one of the hottest in history—came to an official close.

Autumn began at 9:24 p. m. EST yesterday as the sun reached the autumnal equinox and passed the Equator on its journey southward.
A cold air mass that has covered most of the country east of the Rockies for eight days sweep further south, cooling off even the Deep South and the Gulf states.

The Canadian cool air was felt everywhere from the western slopes of the Rockies to the Atlantic Coast—except Southern Florida where pleasure-seekers could still get a tan in comfort.

Over most of the country the weather was crisp, and often cloudy. But it was not cold enough for a freeze or a hard frost.

The Northern Great Lakes region could expect high temperatures in the 50's and the Chicago area was not expected to become warmer than the middle 60's.

SUB-DISTRICT TO MEET

The Dunn Sub-District of Methodist Youth Fellowship will meet next Monday night, September 29 at 7:15 at Black's Chapel Methodist Church, located on highway 301, three miles south of Dunn. The Rev. S. G. Dodson Jr., counselor of the Dunn Sub-District, urges a large attendance at the meeting of Methodist young people.

show him the courtesy of sending him a mop bucket full of water. "But," reminded Attorney Wilson, "a bucketful of water won't help a broken leg."

The leg was broken, Lewis had testified, when they showed him in the police car, slammed the door on his leg and then pushed on it. In his argument, Senator Young told the court, "If they (Hall and Stone) didn't know better than to lock up a man wearing handcuffs, they're not fit to be an officer."

Wilson argued to the court that the two officers had brutally beaten Lewis, threw him in jail while he was "bleeding like a stuck hog" with his leg broken and handcuffed, and didn't show any concern over whether he lived or died.

"If they didn't have some feeling against him," argued the attorney, "did they have to use such force?"

Attorney Doffernyre offered to submit the case without argument. He said there was probable cause for assault with a deadly weapon but nothing else.
Magistrate Adams set the bond at $200 apiece, for their appearance at the November criminal term of Harnett Superior Court.

Five Injured In Accident

Five persons, including a five-week-old infant, were painfully injured Monday afternoon when a car traveling north hit a slick spot on the road and overturned, less than a mile south of Lillington on Highway 15-A.

Patrolman Paul Lucas said the car veered to the left of the highway, overturned twice and righted itself on its wheels. The baby riding in its mother's lap was thrown out of the automobile.

THOSE INJURED

The patrolman identified the injured as:

Anthony Gascis, driver of the 1950 Hudson; chest injuries and fractured ribs; Mrs. Dorothy Gascis, wife of the driver, a broken right ankle and cuts about the eyes and lips; Michale Anthony Gascis, the baby, who suffered head injuries; Sergeant M. P. McKnight, fractured jaw and facial bruises; and Gloria McKnight, his wife, fractured right leg and cuts on both legs.

All of the injured live in Fayetteville.

The sixth person in the car, Winston Spinlin, 23, was not injured. Lucas said no charges would be preferred since the accident appeared due to the weather and slick condition of the highway.

The injured were given emergency treatment at the Dunn Hospital and then transferred to Fort Bragg.

Dirksen Seeks Big Broom For Capitol Sweep

OSHKOSH, Wis., (P)—Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., told about 1,000 cheering Republicans that a GOP Congress would give Dwight D. Eisenhower a "big broom" and enable him "to sweep Washington clean."

Dirksen, who spoke here last night, did not mention Sen. Richard M. Nixon in his hour and 10 minute speech, but told reporters that he was waiting for all the facts before judging a dispute over an $18,235 expense fund given Nixon.

The Illinois senator blasted Democratic spending, taxation, "the debacle of peace and war," "the phoney issue of prosperity" and corruption.

Stolen Auto Found Burned

For a second time in the past few weeks an automobile, stolen in Dunn, has been found later burned. This car, a 1946 Chevrolet, was owned by R. A. Herring of Route 2, Dunn.

Herring reported to the Dunn Police Department at 8:30 last night that his car, which he had parked in the parking area at the Dunn Hospital, had disappeared while he was in the building.

At 9:00, the missing car was reported found by the State Highway Patrol on highway 242 north of highway 55. The machine had been burned.

A few weeks ago another car stolen from Harold Wilson was later found burned near Erwin.

Officers today were not only trying to trace the thief who stole the Herring car, but are working on a possible connection between the two cases.
