Thompson Co-Captain Sandlin Leads Guards

Stanton Military Academy opens an eight game schedule Friday, September 26, with Edwards Military Institute of Salem, N. C. This is one of four new teams S.M.A. faces this season.

Coach Eddie Bryant and his assistants, Al McCue and Jackie Null, begin the defense of Stanton's share of the military school title with more than usual optimism. Ten returning lettermen and a number of promising newcomers assure better depth than the Blue and Gold normally has. To date the only setback has been serious leg injury (first scrimmage) to Captain and three year letterman Sandy Spero, who started in the Junior School and grew up to become a fine lineman as the Academy has had, will be out for the season and will be sorely missed, both as player and leader. Harry Makeever and Billy Thompson have been named acting co-captains to take over for Spero.

Scrimmages with several outside teams have shown flashes of offensive power and solid defensive strength. Although there are at least two strong candidates for each position, the cadets will not employ an out-and-out playon system—it's better described as an interchangeable system. In the backfield, Billy Cranwell, Richlands, Va., has a slight edge over Ham Brown, Hinton, W. Va., at the helm of S.M.A.'s split-T. Right halfback is a battle between Billy Thompson and Bill Michaels, fullback between Roy Deola and Dave Buck, and the left halfback spot will see Danny Kotyra and Johnny Gardner alternating, Mike Kilvihan, Stanton, Mo., will be used at either halfback spot on both offense and defense.

SANDLIN'S SECOND YEAR

Harry Makeever, fullback 1951, has been switched to offensive end, but retains his spot as stellar line-backer on defense. Other ends used both ways will be Joe Black and Don Bourne, converted halfbacks. Tony Nasca and John Crooks, all lettermen from last season. Tackle play will be taken care of by Pat Burke, Jerry Kurek, and Lou Michaels, all 200 pounders plus. Mel Peeler, promising Stanton youngster, will see spot service until he gains experience. The guards are led by Jim Weaver and Red Sandlin, regulars last year, and newcomers Ronnie Latronica and Bill

He is married to the former Andrewetta Ballard, a native of Harnett County.

REVERSED TWICE — Two Superior Court Judges have held that Judge Strickland was wrong in refusing jury trials and have reversed his action.

Judge Strickland, however, continues to ignore this higher authority.

A number of attorneys have expressed belief that the law is clear and that the Supreme Court will not hear the case. Which means that, in the meantime, cases will pile up on the Dunn docket.

Judge Strickland verbally castigated Melvin Parker for his actions in keeping a 14-year-old girl out until two in the morning, and continuing to visit her home after her mother had told him to keep away.

He was charged with trespass on the premises of Mrs. Naomi Register who told the court that she had ordered him to stay away after he kept her daughter out until the early morning hours.

"I think you were doing your duty," he commented to Mrs. Register. "It would probably be a good thing if more mothers were concerned about the hour their daughters returned home after a date."

He sentenced the Parker youth to 30 days, suspended 12 months on payment of $25 and costs. During that time he is not to associate with Mrs. Register's daughter except with the consent and approval of her mother.

Whether it was toothache medicine or liquor that officers smelled on the breath of S. T. Harper, Negro, when they arrested him on charges of drunken driving.

NOT FOR TOOTHACHE — Harper produced a note from the dentist stating that he had extracted two teeth, and the defendant produced a bottle of toothache medicine. However, one of the arresting officers, E. J. Whaley, told the court, "It wasn't that stuff I smelled, it was liquor."

He was sentenced to 90 days, suspended 12 months on payment of $100 and costs, with the recommendation that his license be revoked. Appeal bond was set at $200.

Edwin Evander Horton was pleaded guilty to charges of driving with improper equipment on September 11, 1940. The warrant had been taken out by Highway Patrolman Joe Whitaker, but the defendant had not appeared and it took two years to get him on a capias.

"It would have been much cheaper if you had appeared then," Judge Strickland told him as he imposed a $25 and costs fine, with prayer for judgment continued.

Octavius Dawson was found guilty of assault after Lilly Jane Cook told the court that he broke in the door and came at her with a knife. She restrained him with a "smoothing iron" she said. He rooms at her home.

He was given 60 days, suspended 12 months on payment of $10 and costs and ordered to repair the broken door and not molest the woman.

The court was again troubled with defendants who failed to appear and answer charges. Capias were issued for John L. Pope, two warrants, charging drunk and disorderly; Robert Clarence Purdy, no operators license; Charles Blue, drunk and possession; Metro Gram, no operators license, careless and reckless driving and speeding.

Prayer for judgment was continued in the case of Eddie Boone, charged with speeding on payment of costs.

Rhodon Butler was adjudged not guilty on charges of no operators license.

Prayer for judgment was continued in the case of Steinmeyer.

Thompson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Thompson of Dunn and Sandlin is the son of Henry H. Sandlin of Dunn.

A newcomer to the Stanton squad this year is Bozie Tart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lee Tart, a halfback.

Writers Expect Adlai Victory

WASHINGTON (P) — A poll of 50 top political writers showed today that a majority expect Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson to be elected president.

Newsweek magazine took the poll of newsmen, most of them Washington correspondents. The magazine said all but two of the reporters submitted their replies before it was revealed that Sen. Richard M. Nixon, Republican vice presidential nominee, had received a $18,235 expense fund from wealthy California supporters.

The poll showed that 28 of the writers "guessed" Stevenson would win the election and 23 believed the voters would favor Republican nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Twenty-eight also predicted the Democrats would retain control of the House of Representatives. To control the Senate, 39 picked the Democrats, seven the Republicans, and four forecast a tie.

A majority of the writers emphasized that their answers were only guesses, not firm forecasts.

The 50 correspondents unanimously predicted the election of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York in two separate polls in 1948. Last June 30 they picked Sen. Robert A. Taft to edge Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination.

Local Jurist

ADMITTED BY ATTORNEY — Defense Attorney Neill McK. Salmon, in his argument, said that according to the evidence offered the officers were guilty of an unlawful assault. This charge was not contested, although it may be contested when the case reaches Superior Court.

A news story in Tuesday's edition of The Daily Record reported the facts correctly.

A check this morning showed that city officials still have taken no action on suspending the two officers charged with a felony.

Stevenson

(Continued from page one) standing was that as far as the Democrats were concerned, Stevenson would have the national stage to himself during September, stating his position on basic issues. October will be devoted to re-emphasis and rebuttal.

NO SURPRISE — The news from Wheeling, W. Va. last night that Eisenhower would keep Nixon as his running mate was not received here with any surprise.

There were some measurable differences of opinion among Stevenson's advisers as to the ultimate effect of Eisenhower's acceptance of Nixon's explanation of his finances, particularly as to the value of the Nixon incident as a campaign issue.

The Democratic nominee had as an overnight guest at the mansion Sen. Russell B. Long, (D-La.) another in a procession of Southern Democratic leaders being encouraged by the Stevenson campaign managers to visit with the Illinois governor.

Gov. Robert Kennon of Louisiana has said he will not support Stevenson's candidacy, due largely to the stand taken by the presidential nominee on the tidelands oil question.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (P) — Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson's former state purchasing agent estimated that "at least $100,000" in political contributions were collected from state suppliers in 1949-50.

William J. McKinney, who now operates a sales agency here, said "It was my understanding part of the money went to Stevenson and part to the Democratic Central Committee."

McKinney confirmed most of the details of a story written by two Scripps-Howard newspaper reporters from Chicago. There was no immediate comment from Stevenson.

McNair McDonald was given 90 days, suspended 12 months on payment of $100 and costs, with the recommendation that his license be revoked.

Sandy McNeill was given 30 days, suspended 12 months for assaulting Sam Williams with his fists, and fined $25 and costs.

Noah L. Westmoreland was terminated on charges of having no operators license.

The remaining cases in the docket, prosecuted by Solicitor J. Shepherd Bryan involved public drunkenness and the offenders escaped with suspended sentences and fines.

UNUSUAL SALE IS HELD HERE — One of the most unusual sales in the history of Dunn opened here this morning at the Wellons Mercantile Co. in Dunn. William S. Wellons, president of the company, recently purchased the stock of an entire jewelry store and is now holding a disposal sale here. A large crowd was on hand for the opening today. Left to right behind the counter are: Mr. Wellons, Mrs. Martha Sue Page, Ed West, and J. W. Wright. (Daily Record photo by T. M. Stewart).

Legless Man

(Continued From Page One) fitted with artificial legs and returned to the county home where he learned to use them. The bill amounting to around $300 was met with federal funds, the welfare officer said, on the assumption he would be willing to go to work.

Asked what she thought Bryant could do, she replied, "He was clerking in a country store when he lost his legs and could do some type of work like that again."

Miss Williams said her recommendation to dismiss Bryant was based on the report of two physicians, one at Duke Hospital and another at Highsmith Hospital. "They report, she said, "nothing organically wrong with Bryant and that he is able to work."

STARTED HIM DRINKING — Sherman's version of the events is that when Bryant received the letter from the welfare department informing him of his dismissal the man was so upset he drank rubbing alcohol kept in the rooms of the elderly women patients.

Then apparently morose over his forced departure, Sherman said Bryant lay down on the railroad track across the highway from the home where he was rescued by Sherman and returned to his quarters.

The neighbor said Bryant told him he attributed his dismissal to the fact that he once corrected the 14-year-old son of county home director John Mason after the boy used strong language toward some of the other elderly patients.

However, Miss Williams specifically and emphatically denied that any feeling between the Masons and Bryant prompted the recommendation to dismiss him.

RECOMMENDED HOSPITAL — Sherman said Bryant became ill and that the Masons called Dr. J. K. Williford to the home to treat him. Doctor Williford told The Record that at that time Bryant definitely was "unte-der the influence."

However, Doctor Williford said that on one visit he was not prepared to say the man was an alcoholic. However, he recommended immediate hospitalization.

Mr. and Mrs. Mason sent Bryant to Highsmith Hospital. That was in the mid-morning. Around noon the same day Chairman L. A. Tart of the county commissioners said he was notified by phone by Highsmith Hospital that Bryant was in the waiting room crawling around on his hands and knees and that he refused to put on his artificial legs and leave the hospital. Physicians at the hospital told Tart they saw nothing wrong with him and would not accept him as a patient.

Miss Williams, notified by Chairman Tart, said she gave instructions that when Bryant returned from the hospital for him not to return to the county home. At that time she said she gave Bryant a check for ten dollars and that he also had a ten dollar check for work he had performed for farmers.

"That's the last time I have seen him," she said.

Sherman said Summerville neighbors then gave Bryant a ride to the vicinity of his old home but could make no provision for him.

"So we brought him back to our community," retorted Sherman.

BACKING MISS WILLIAMS — Commissioner Worth Lee Byrd, representative of the commissioners on the board of public welfare said, "We have to back our welfare superintendent. It is impossible to investigate cases personally. Mr. Holloway and Mr. Ingram are on the county home committee, but Mr. Ingram was not at the meeting when the action was taken. We have so many bed ridden and ill patients we just can not take in persons not inclined to work or we would be swamped. Of course we may be wrong but we acted in good faith."

Now the question asked by the Summerville community spokesman is if Bryant can not find work, whose responsibility will be the neighbors or the county home?

ed not guilty on charges of having no operators license.

The remaining cases in the docket, prosecuted by Solicitor J. Shepherd Bryan involved public drunkenness and the offenders escaped with suspended sentences and fines.

Eisenhower

(Continued From Page One) "keep fighting" and promptly made good on it by hurling a new challenge at Democratic presidential nominee Adlai E. Stevenson to follow his example and make public "all the facts" about his own finances and fund for Illinois state employes.

Eisenhower, who delivers a major address tonight in Baltimore, returned to the campaign trail fairly glowing with pride in his political partner, and supremely confident that the whole affair would do his GOP "crusade" more good than harm in the long run.

SMITHFIELD VISITORS — Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Ferrell of Smithfield were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Capps Wednesday evening.
