Erwin Workers To Decide Union Issue Tomorrow

ICE CREAM AND CAKE FOR ALL REGISTRANTS — The refreshment tables were all set at Gardner's Dairy this afternoon for the big Registration Party which will begin at 5 o'clock and continue as long as necessary to get all citizens of Averasboro registered.

Leaders Of Both Unions Predict Victory At Polls

Tomorrow the workers in the mills in Erwin will once more go to the polls in order to decide, in a runoff election, which union, the UTW AFL or the TWUA-CIO, shall represent them as bargaining agent with the Erwin Mills.

This morning, leaders of both sides expressed confidence in a favorable outcome for their side in the voting tomorrow, as they prepared for a last minute barrage in favor of their position by press, radio and word of mouth.

Folling places will again be the same as they were for the previous election. Number 2 mill workers will vote in Number 2 dye-house. Workers in Number 5 mill will vote in Number 2 and 5 spool and warp department.

HOURS OF VOTING The polls will be open from 5:00 a. m. until 9:00 a. m. and from 2:30 p. m. until 5:00 p. m.

A new development was reported this morning by the CIO. James W. Bamford, southern director for the TWUA-CIO, issued a sworn statement in which he said that Howard Parker and Ted Thomas, Erwin UTW-AFL representatives, have during the past week been making deliberate attempts to get back with the CIO.

Scott Hoyman, CIO administrator at Erwin, this morning predicted that the CIO would win overwhelmingly in tomorrow's voting.

"We came out ahead of the AFL in the last election here and the feeling of many non-members of the union as reported to us is that they prefer to keep the same union which has served Erwin workers for the past 1 year.

"Their only objection to the CIO in the past was in the local leaders, who have now gone into the AFL," Hoyman said.

He said the fact that work loads in Durham were increased on the first working day under the AFL.

Grammer Takes Witness Stand BALTIMORE (AP) — G. Edward Grammer, accused of murdering his wife for the love of another woman, testified today that police mistreated him while investigating the case.

The balding defendant, a World War II counter-spy, was called as his own star witness in an attempt to prevent statements he made to police from being admitted into the trial record.

Grammer, in a matter-of-fact voice, said he gave the statements to authorities only because of "the

Bootlegger Gets Small Fine, Avoids Prison In Dunn Court

James Massey accepted responsibility for the liquor found at the home of him and his wife, Essie, in City Court this morning, but under the judgement rendered by Judge H. Paul Strickland, any further liquor found on his premises, will be definitely his responsibility.

His wife, Essie Massey, had appeared in court before on liquor charges, and the search warrant under which the officers searched the place was directed against her.

The officers found the liquor in an ingeniously contrived trap under the floor and when Massey claimed the contraband as his, he too was arrested.

SOURCE UNKNOWN Policeman K. M. Fall told the court that Massey claimed the liquor and the defendant told the court it had been delivered to him at the premises by "a man in a black Ford."

Defense attorney D. C. Wilson asked the judge to only make him responsible for any liquor found on the premises that Massey himself owned, but the judge replied, "I think that the defendant's wife will go along with him in order to keep him off the roads. He'd better buy bottled in bond."

He gave Massey 90 days, suspended three years, on payment of $100 and costs, on condition that he does not have in his possession or on his premises, any illegal liquor, and permits officers of the law to search his premises, with or without a search warrant.

A&P Celebrating Its 93rd Birthday

Another milestone was reached today by the nation's oldest food distributor, the A&P Tea Company, with an anniversary celebration featuring a "special food value" for each of the firm's 93 years of existence.

"To further demonstrate our faithful adherence to A&P's 93-year-old policy of giving more food for your money," said a Company official, "we are celebrating this occasion by offering an unusual array of outstanding values.

P. M. Bealer, Jr., of Charlotte, N. C., vice-president in charge of A&P operations in this area, said that the anniversary festival will continue through October 25.

Both Unions Issue Final Statements

Reports from all departments of the three shifts at the Erwin Mill were showing that there was a big shift of sentiment to the AFL in the election which will be held on tomorrow at Erwin.

Tom West business manager of UTW-AFL at Erwin said "We have been making a check of what is going on in each department, and we find a large number of the workers who voted CIO in the first election because they thought Dur-

West Takes Over Insurance Agency

R. A. West, well-known Dunn insurance man, has taken over the Dunn agency of Farm Bureau Mutual Insurance, it was announced today.

Mr. West has assumed full management of the Dunn office following the resignation of John Snipes, who dropped out of the organization to go into business for himself.

Offices of Farm Bureau Mutual are located in the Dunn FCX Building on North Clinton Avenue.

Young, alert and aggressive, and thoroughly sold, himself, on the value of the services offered by the company he represents, West, who has been with Farm Bureau Mutual for the past three years, is well suited for this type of sales work.

He handles the insurance business through this office on a friend to friend basis, rather than salesman to customer, and is always willing to go out of his way to help in insurance problems or to expedite the settlement of claims.

HST Pins War Label On Ike

WITH TRUMAN (AP) — President Truman said today the election of Dwight D. Eisenhower might result in "the most disastrous war" in the world's history.

Taking his "give 'em hell" campaign into New England, Mr. Truman said both national prosperity and world peace "are wrapped up" in this year's election.

The President told a crowd of 1,500 to 2,000 at North Haven, Conn.:

"When you go to the polls on Nov. 4, you either keep this country in the right groove or you may send it into the most disastrous war in the history of the world."

TIDELANDS ISSUE In a Hartford speech, Mr. Truman charged that the Republican presidential candidate is "trying to auction off the oil-rich tidelands for votes.

Dodge Announces Price Reduction

DETROIT (AP) — The motor industry studied a surprise Dodge price cut today amid speculation it may have set off the first big automobile price battle since before World War II.

Dodge caused competitors to be aware Wednesday with an announcement that price tags on half its 10 new body styles for 1953, to be unveiled Oct. 23, will be reduced more than 5 per cent on one model.

It will be the first time in more than seven years that a major auto maker has introduced a completely restyled car and chopped prices at the same time.

Harnett Teachers Hold First Session

R. J. Denny, new president of the Harnett County Unit of the North Carolina Education Association at the first county-wide teachers meeting on Tuesday night at Lillington, called on his co-workers to learn more about their own professional organization and know each other.

The president welcomed teachers new to Harnett County for the first time and pointed out that many other instructors, while not new to the county, this year are serving in posts new to them. He urged experienced teachers to offer newcomers co-operation in all fields of work.

Announcement was made of three meetings which will engage the attention of teachers this fall and in meeting of the North Central Division of the NCEA on November 7 in Raleigh, highlighted by an address by Dr. Andy Holt of the University of Tennessee; the next county unit meeting on February 18 in Lillington when the teachers-sponsored legislative program will

Ike Is Accused Of Using Expediency

EN ROUTE WITH STEVENSON (AP) — Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson accused Dwight D. Eisenhower today of making political expediency "too much of a habit."

And he said the Republicans were talking out of both sides of their mouths in campaign speeches.

The Democratic presidential nominee said the GOP knew it could not win the election on the Republican record so "it has to be swept under the carpet for a while."

Stevenson turned to Sen. Richard M. Nixon, Republican vice presidential candidate long enough to accuse the California senator of misrepresenting his Congressional voting record to convince western voters the Republicans were power and conservation conscious.

TRAVELS SAME PATH In a bid for California's 32 important electoral votes, Stevenson retraced the path taken a week ago by Dwight D. Eisenhower, his Republican rival.

The schedule included a motorcade through the city of San Francisco. (Continued On Page Four)

Ike Asserts Demos Would Spread War

NEW YORK (AP) — Dwight D. Eisenhower, feeling fine but fearing a Democratic victory in November might cause the Korean conflict to spread, wooed New Jersey voters today.

The Republican presidential candidate was slightly hoarse Wednesday night when he returned to his Morrisville Heights home from a tour that had taken him through Texas, Louisiana and Tennessee.

Eisenhower's two-day Jersey tour will be interrupted twice. He will speak tonight at the eighth annual Alfred E. Smith Memorial Foundation dinner here and on Friday at Wilmington, Del.

It was at Memphis Wednesday that Eisenhower voiced fears that a victory for the Democratic party on Nov. 4 might lead to a conflict even greater than Korea.

RIGHT TO BE WORRIED "We have a right to be deeply worried by the terrifying possibility that the same leadership that let us drift into the Korean war might bungle us into still greater conflict," he said.

"We have a right to be distrustful of a leadership which has allowed the godless Red tide of Communism to engulf hundreds of millions of people who once were our friends and allies.

Church To Hold Laymen's Event

The Hood Memorial Christian Church in Dunn will observe Laymen's Day on Sunday with a special program in charge of laymen of the church.

Bill Carroll, chairman of the church board, will preside over the morning services and Eugene Huggins will lead the choir.

SANDERS TO SPEAK The speaker for the service will be Professor D. W. Sanders of Raleigh, principal of the Hugh Morson High School. Mr. Sanders is an outstanding layman and a leader in his church.

Dr. George Cuthrell, pastor of the local church, today extended to the public a cordial invitation to hear Mr. Sanders and to take part in the service.

Currin Admitted To Harnett Bar

Harnett County has a new lawyer licensed to practice. He is Ernest Lucius Currin, Jr., son of E. L. Currin of Overhills, who was sworn in at the recent term of civil court. Currin who took his oath from Judge Susie Sharp was presented by Neil McKay Salmon.

Currin did not state what were his immediate plans about practicing law.

Students Held In Beating Principal's Son Go Free

Jerry Fouts, son of Boone Trail Principal C. L. Fouts was hit on the head by a group of boys who "ganged up" on Fouts as he got out of a car in the yard of the teacherage. The Fouts family reside in the teacherage located across the highway from the school.

The fight took place around 9:30 p. m. during a night program of the community fair was in progress in the auditorium. McNeill said he believed only his hasty arrival saved the Fouts boy from serious injury. He said Fouts had several large bumps on the back of his head and seemed dazed by the licks.

The constable said Fouts, who is a freshman at East Carolina College, told him he had just driven in from college for a week end at home when he was ordered to "get out and fight." With Fouts was his visitor, Bryce Coats, a college classmate. Coats was not hurt. (Continued On Page Two)
